DECREE READY TO END SITTING OF REICHSTAG

Von Hindenburg's Ousting With Entire Cabinet Urged at Start.

WOMAN COMMUNIST ASKS IMPEACHMENT

Hitler Aid Made Permanent Speaker; Dissolution in Von Papen's Hands.

Berlin, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The first session of the new Reichstag opened today with a Communist demand for the impeachment of President von Hindenburg and the entire cabinet, and closed under threat of imminent dissolution.

Frau Clara Zetkin, 75-year-old grandmother of the revolution, who occupied the speaker's chair by right of seniority when the session began, declared that the president and cabinet responsible to him had violated the constitution and deserved being ousted.

When she had completed her vitriolic indictment of the existing regime, the Reichstag selected as its permanent speaker, Hermann Wilhelm Goering, a National Socialist leader, who has been associated with Adolf Hitler ever since the beer celler putsch of 1923, and who was cited for valor as commander of the famous Von Richtofen flying squadron during the war. This is the first important office in the national government to be won by a Nazi.

Dissolution Decree Ready.

As the session was breaking up, the Associated Press learned authoritatively that President von Hindenburg has provided Chancellor Franz von Papen with a decree dissolving the Reichstag. The date on this decree has been left blank. It is up to the chancellor to decide when and if he shall use it.

This means that simply by promulgating the presidential decree Chancellor von Papen can forestall a vote of nonconfidence which would unseat him and his baronial cabinet.

Frau Zetkin's demand for the impeachment of the president was sweet revenge on her old adversary of World War days. During the war she waged a most bitter pacifist fight against the general staff and in 1915 she was indicted, but subsequently released.

The Reichstag session was held after President von Hindenburg, at Neudeck, East Prussia, had announced "complete accord" with the economic program and political plans of Chancellor von Papen's Junker government.

Confers With Von Papen.

After conferring with the chancellor, who visited his estate, the president decided to dissolve the Reichstag just as soon as it attempts to cross the plans of the cabinet.

It is most likely that Herr von Papen will tell the members of the Legislature next week that they must pack their trunks and go home unless—as is rumored in Reichstag lobbies—they decide to behave.

Herr Esser, a member of the Centrist party but a nominee of the Nazis, was elected first vice president of the Reichstag. Walther Graef, a Nationalist, and Hans Rauch, a member of the Bavarian People's party, were elected second and third vice presidents.

Labrador Reached By Flying Family

750-Mile Water Hop to Greenland Is Next for Hutchinsons.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—The flying Hutchinson family, en route from New York to England, landed in Labrador today, preparatory to starting the transatlantic stage of their journey via Greenland and Iceland.

The big plane, bearing Col. George Hutchinson, his wife, two daughters and a crew of four, reached Hopedale at 2:30 p. m., Eastern standard time, after a 400-mile flight from Anticosti Island, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The plane left Port Meunier at 9:05 a. m. (E. S. T.). Weather conditions were not particularly favorable.

The next stage of the voyage will be a 750-mile overwater flight to southern Greenland. The Danish government has indicated it might protest a landing in Greenland, but Col. Hutchinson said he would go ahead. The Danish protests were in connection with difficulties of providing for aviators and the high cost of possible rescue efforts.

Wife Begs Mollison To Drop Return Trip

AMY JOHNSON MOLLISON.

London, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—Amy Johnson Mollison, noted British woman flier, tonight sent a cablegram to her husband, Capt. James A. Mollison, imploring him to abandon his proposed return trip flight over the North Atlantic Ocean to London.

Mrs. Mollison sent her plea after she had received a message from a Nova Scotia physician urging her to intervene because of the "dangerous condition" of Mollison's nerves.

Mollison, first man to fly alone from Europe to America, is now at Sydney, Nova Scotia, where he landed yesterday after a hazardous flight through a thunderstorm. He is en route from New York to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, from where he will start the Atlantic flight—second gruelling test of nerves and courage within three weeks of difficult flying.

Mrs. Mollison's information came from Dr. F. O. Neale, of Sydney, who informed her:

"Your husband is my guest. As a medical man I strongly urge that he should not attempt the return trip until such time as he recovers complete control of his nerves.

"I think you should insist on this."

Mrs. Mollison immediately telephoned Dr. Neale and obtained details of her husband's condition. Then she talked to Mollison, entreating him to

ILLNESS OF WALKER MAY DELAY HEARING

Roosevelt's Procedure Not to Be Disclosed Until Resumption Friday.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—A threat of additional delay in Gov. Roosevelt's hearing of demands for the ouster of Mayor Walker, of New York, came today with word of the mayor's illness.

Mr. Roosevelt was informed Mayor Walker was in bed, suffering from nervous exhaustion and that whether the New York executive would ask for a second postponement of the hearing depended on his condition. The governor on Monday called the proceedings to a halt until Friday when he learned of the death of George Walker, the mayor's brother.

Linked with the uncertainty the possible postponement brought was the news that the governor's future procedure in the case would remain undisclosed until he again called the hearing to order at the scheduled hour on Friday.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated tonight that whether he accepted any or all of the supreme court's views on his conduct of the hearing of charges against Walker would remain a secret until that time.

The governor said he would have no official pronouncement of his attitude toward the opinion of Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley. His position, the governor said, would be revealed by his course of action when he resumed on Friday the hearing of Samuel Seabury's fifteen "conclusions" of why Walker should be removed from office.

John J. Curtin, the mayor's counsel, shortly after Justice Staley made public his opinion last night, said Walker and himself would plan nothing "until we know what the governor proposes to do with regard to the dictates laid down by the court."

Chicagoan Heads G.O.P. Organization Bureau

Chicago, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Republican national headquarters today announced appointment of Nathan William MacChesney, Chicago lawyer, as director of the national Hoover-Curtis organization bureau and committees.

MacChesney occupied the same position in the 1928 campaign and organized 10,000 clubs, headquarters said.

U. S. TRIP CANCELED BY COL. ROOSEVELT

Cables President He Thinks It Best Not to Leave Manila Duties.

Manila (Wednesday), Aug. 31 (A. P.).—Governor General Theodore Roosevelt announced today he had called off his proposed trip to the United States to participate in the Republican presidential campaign and cabled President Hoover stating he believed it best to remain at his post.

Gov. Roosevelt had planned to sail September 14. He is known to have brought pressure to bear on Republican chieftains to remain here because of important matters pending in the Philippines Legislature.

The Legislature now in session is struggling with a budget-balancing program and measures to reorganize the government.

Gov. Roosevelt announced his proposed trip August 22. Some criticism was later voiced by Americans residing in Manila, but Filipino leaders were uncritical, promising to try and have important legislation ready for Gov. Roosevelt's signature before he left.

City Close to Mukden Is Attacked by Bandits

Mukden (Wednesday), Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Five hundred bandits today attacked the City of Penhsihu, 55 kilometers west of here. They burned the market building and wounded ten peace preservation soldiers and one Japanese gendarme.

Japanese soldiers garrisoned in the city, cooperated with the peace preservation corps in repulsing the attack. In another attack, guerillas overturned four railway cars on the South Manchuria Railroad between Fenshuei and Tashan stations.

Clouds Peril New England Total Eclipse Study Today

Dozens of Scientists Guard Costly Equipment, Hope for Fair Weather and Resent Influx of Curious; Many Washingtonians Present; No Good View Here

Conway, N. H., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Scientists of half a dozen nations tonight slept in the shadows of their mounted equipment as they awaited tomorrow's total eclipse of the sun.

A few thousand visitors who, like the scientists, hoped for fair weather, also slumbered under the stars at the points of vantage they selected and intended to hold against the influx of thousands of other spectators expected tomorrow by rail and automobile.

More than 40 expeditions were spread along the path of totality from Quebec to the sea.

Throughout the day and night speculation was general concerning weather conditions. If the heavy, slowly drifting clouds which lazed their way across the sky today continued to obscure it tomorrow the rare spectacle of totality may be denied to many of the costly assembled groups.

On the other hand, scientists were agreed that should totality occur during one of the many clear spots between the floating cloud masses an excellent view of the corona, which is the piece de resistance of the whole show, might easily be obtained. It was generally conceded, however, that tomorrow's weather was any man's guess.

The eclipse starts here at 2:20½ seconds p. m., Eastern standard time, and totality will occur at 3:28:46, continuing until 3:30:23 seconds and the eclipse will end at 4:36:46.

REBELS GIVE UP, ENDING SEVERE QUITO UPRISING

CIVILIAN CASUALTIES REPORTED HEAVIEST

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Aug. 30 (A.P.). The four-day revolt for the right to name the President of Ecuador was declared by the government to have ended tonight with the rebels laying down their arms at Quito in full surrender.

Federal forces were expected to reenter the city tomorrow morning and reassume control after two days of sanguinary fighting in all branches of the service, resulting in the estimated deaths of 500 men on both sides and even heavier casualties among the wounded.

The rebel command was said to have unconditionally accepted the government's demands when they found they were waging a losing but stubborn battle for possession of the Bolivar barracks, key to the city, and on the insistent petitions of foreign diplomats.

"Dark Horse" Advanced.

Humberto Albornoz, a relatively unknown figure, was advanced as the most likely candidate for provisional president and as the best available compromise between President-elect Neptali Bonifaz, the cause of the rebellion, and Acting President Baquierzo Moreno, both of whom are believed to be in hiding.

Before the truce was reported reached, an American flag fluttered in the midst of bloodshed as federals and rebels battling for control of the City of Quito alternated bullets with olive branches.

Advices from the captial, official and unofficial, said that Carlos Freile Larrea, Conservative party leader, had emerged from the Bolivar barracks in an automobile bearing the Stars and Stripes, presumably on a truce mission, and had promptly been taken prisoner by the loyalists.

A few minutes before the defending insurgents had run up a white flag over the barracks, the key to the city, and had indicated a desire to cease firing, according to these advices. Both sides followed with a renewed bombardment and the gesture was wreathed in the smoke of battle.

Diplomatic Corps Active.

Muffled by the sound of shot and shell, the diplomatic corps, in which is American Minister William Dawson, was understood to be making vigorous representations to the opposing camps to end hostilities, pointing out that the civilian population was being caught between two fires.

Their apprehension was increased when the insurrectionists, virtually hemmed in by augmented loyalists, turned their artillery on the city without regard for the lives of noncombatants or the rescue work of the Red Cross, frantically ministering to the dead and dying.

U. S. Flier Involved.

The name of Dan Tobin, an American aviator, was brought into the affray when the government denied he was fighting in their behalf and said he merely had taken a consignment of planes to Latacunga.

Despite government pretensions that Quito had been reoccupied with the rout of the rebels, the movement has developed in four days from a minor uprising of part of the garrison to a serious attempt on the part of the Conservative party to install Neptali Bonifaz in the presidency.

Dispatches said the streets of Quito were littered with dead.

Parachuter Falls 1,500 Feet; Lives

Lands on Phone Wires After Becoming Entangled on Balloon's Trapeze.

Norristown, Pa., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Beaver Gross, Philadelphia parachute jumper, fell 1,500 feet tonight entangled on the trapeze of a leaning balloon and lived to tell hospital attendants about the experience. He landed atop a string of telephone wires, which, he said, undoubtedly saved his life.

Gross, appearing at a carnival here, was scheduled to make two leaps daily from his balloon. When he went up tonight, he said, the big bag started to leak just before he reached his "jumping height." He said he tried to jump, but could not release himself, and was carried earthward at an ever-increasing speed.

Searchers found him unconscious where he had fallen from the wires and took him to a hospital. Doctors said he was seriously injured.

G. O. P. PLANS FOR MINIMUM FANFARE IN '32

President Receives First Nation-Wide Report of Progress.

MANAGERS CONFER HERE ON CAMPAIGN

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Up-to-the-minute reports this week from regional managers in all sections of the country have confirmed the Republican high command in its determination to conduct the presidential campaign this year with a minimum of the traditional political fanfare and trumpetry. Basing their strategy on the conviction that the country still has a sour stomach from too much politics in the raw during the last session of Congress, the Republican managers are veering strongly to the idea that the highest wish of the electorate today is a minimum of political distraction.

With an eye to assisting the rapidly mending business confidence of the country, therefore, the G. O. P. strategists have tacitly embraced the amazing campaign doctrine of "the less fireworks the better."

First Nation-Wide Report.

With the November election now but ten weeks off, President Hoover received his first Nation-wide report on the progress of the campaign at the White House Monday night from ten of his closest political advisers. The gathering was not announced in advance and most of the participants from the Chicago and New York campaign headquarters were en route to their homes again before news of the first major council of strategy leaked out in Washington.

Invited to the White House by telephone, several of the New York headquarters managers did not arrive in the Capital until after 9 p. m. Monday. With the Chicago staff they left for New York again soon after midnight. So closely guarded were the plans for the conference that even some White House attaches were unaware it had been arranged until the participants began to arrive.

Confer in Private Study.

Among those who conferred with the President in his private study in the Executive Mansion were Secretaries Mills, Hurley and Hyde, Postmaster General Brown, National Chairman Sanders, Senator Felix J. Hebert, of Rhode Island, Eastern campaign manager, and Walter Newton, White House secretary. Henry J. Allen, publicity manager in the Chicago headquarters, and George Akerson, who fills the same role in the Eastern Seaboard campaign, also were participants. Joseph R. Nutt, of Cleveland, treasurer of the Republican national committee, and William H. Hill, Birmingham publisher who managed the Hoover campaign in New York State in 1928, completed the role of the "high command."

Gunners Seize $11,000 In Street of Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Two robbers, armed with a machine gun, took $11,000 from a Badger State bank messenger on a busy downtown street today. The messenger, Kenneth Miller, and a guard, Paul Rother, were held up after their automobile had been crowded to a curb by the robbers' car.

A machine gunner aimed his weapon at pedestrians and his companion, armed with a pistol, seized a bag in which Miller was taking currency and checks to another bank. The checks totaled about $31,000.

Cabinet of Bolivia Unable to Resign

La Paz, Bolivia, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—President Daniel Salamanca today declined to accept the resignation of the cabinet, tendered last night following differences over what were said to be minor matters, and the future complexion of the government was left in doubt.

Political quarters had expected to see a nonpartisan ministry formed to succeed the government of Enrique Hertzog and in any event it was said that President Salamanca counts on the support of all parties.

Bolivia is willing to accept the neutral commission proposal for a 60-day truce with Paraguay in the Gran Chaco, authoritative sources said, and would extend the armistice even longer so that the controversy could be settled once and for all with due regard for her interests.

Duncan Found Guilty; Is Given 3-Year Term

Motion for New Trial to Be Heard October 17; Bond Granted.

WILLIAM H. DUNCAN.

William H. Duncan, former Arlington County clerk, was found guilty of misuse of public funds last night by a jury in Arlington County Circuit Court. A sentence of three years in the State penitentiary was imposed.

The case went to the jury at 4:18 p. m. yesterday after the defense, in a surprise move, waived final argument. The verdict was brought in at 10:05 p. m.

A crowded courtroom greeted the veniremen when they filed in to present their finding to Judge Walter T. McCarthy. The room was hushed when the foreman, Henry P. Batch, pronounced the guilty verdict.

Duncan apparently was unmoved. His wife, who was sitting in the courtroom with friends, burst into tears. Duncan made no statement about the verdict or sentence.

Amos C. Crounse, head of defense counsel, immediately moved that the verdict be set aside and asked for an arrest of judgment and a new trial. Judge McCarthy announced he would hear the motion on October 17 and Duncan was released on bond of $5,000.

It was learned that the jurors reached their verdict on the third

GAS BOMB IS USED ON ROBBER'S VICTIM

A "customer" yesterday produced a toy rubber ball as he conversed with Mrs. H. H. Ruggles, wife of a dog fancier, who lives on Lee Highway, near Legato, Va., three miles west of Fairfax. Fumes from the rubber globule caused Mrs. Ruggles to swoon and when she recovered consciousness $120 in cash and a valuable diamond ring were gone from her home. Fairfax County police began an intensive search for the man, who, according to the housewife's story, used the most novel and modern methods to effect the robbery.

Mrs. Ruggles said the man, well-dressed, came to her door just after noon yesterday. He had alighted from a dilapidated auto, and inquired about the price of a small dog in the kennels conducted by the Ruggleses.

As she talked with the man, Mrs. Ruggles related, he fingered a small rubber ball. After a minute or two she began to feel dizzy. Then, she told police, she fell half-conscious to the floor.

The man brushed by her, said Mrs. Ruggles, and for a while she heard him moving around on the upper floor of her home. Then she went off into a state of unconsciousness. Awaking nearly two hours later, she gave the alarm to police and called her husband, who is employed in the Government Printing Office here.

The intruder had thoroughly ransacked the second floor of the dwelling, strewing clothes about and overturning furniture. Apparently the money and the ring were the only articles missing. Police expressed the opinion the man used a form of mild gas.

Rail Chiefs Discuss Wage Scale Reduction

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The question of railway wages and whether the railroads should seek to get a lower scale to become effective next year, was debated by members of the Eastern presidents' conference today, but its fate still hung in balance when the session ended.

The heads of Eastern railroad units met and sought to harmonize their own conflicting viewpoints with the desires of Western and Southeastern railroad executives. They appointed a committee of three to cooperate with the other groups.

SMITH TOPS BLEASE; RUN-OFF INDICATED

Senator Leading by 16,000; Dominick and Stevenson Apparent Losers.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—With three-fourths of the State's 1,446 precincts reported, Ellison D. Smith, veteran senator from South Carolina, tonight led three opponents for the Democratic nomination to the Senate by a wide margin, but the available returns indicated he would be forced into a run-off primary against Cole L. Blease, former senator.

Smith, rounding out 24 years of service, asked renomination upon his record, and pledged himself to adhere to the Democratic national platform, including the plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and modification of the Volstead act.

Blease, long an active figure and often a storm center of South Carolina politics, also pointed to his own record in asking support. He declared against a change in the dry laws until after the "White Democrats" of the State had spoken on the question by a referendum.

Outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment was the principal plank in Williams' platform. The extreme dry position was taken by Harris, who asserted he was opposed to any modification of the present laws.

Representatives Fred H. Dominick and W. F. Stevenson, veteran members of Congress, apparently were defeated for renomination on the face of incomplete unofficial returns.

In the Third District, Dominick was running second to John C. Taylor, of Anderson, who has a majority over two opponents, when 213 precincts of 3,121 precincts were reported.

The vote stood: Dominick, 8,528; D. A. G. Outs, Greenwood, 3,846; Taylor, 13,861.

In the Fifth District, John P. Rich-

Lone Robber of Bank Escapes With $1,000

Goldsborough, N. C., Aug. 30 (A.P.). An unmasked man walked into the bank of Pine Level, near here, this afternoon, asked for a drink of water and then flashed a pistol on the assistant cashier.

He scooped up $1,000 and escaped.

Scene of Christ's Miracle With Loaves Thought Found

Ruins of Church Believed Marking Spot Are Discovered at Tiberius by German Priest; Large Area of Mosaics Well Preserved.

Vatican City, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Church archeologists believe they have found at Tiberias, on the Sea of Galilee, the spot where Jesus multiplied five loaves and two fishes to feed a multitude.

According to tradition, a church was built at the scene of the miracle, and church ruins have been uncovered by a German priest, Father Evarist Andrea Mader, director of the German Oriental Institute at Jerusalem.

In an article to be published in the Illustrazione Vaticana, a Jesuit, Father Chrysologus Spelucci, announced the discovery corresponds to all known religious history. The scene, which is described in John in the Bible, is the edge of a mountain close to the sea.

Ruins of a basilica were found by Father Mader under 7 feet of clay. A large area of fine vividly colored mosaics was well preserved.

The ruins show the basilica, which has three names, was 170 feet long, with a 66-foot transept. Under the altar is a stone supposed to mark the spot of the miracle.

Mosaics in front of this stone depict serpents, sea birds, plants and lotus flowers, while behind the altar are shown loaves of bread and fishes beside a sort of basket, presumably referring to the baskets in which Christ told his disciples to gather the remains of the food after the multitude had been fed.

Father Mader still is in Jerusalem.

M'ADOO LEADS 6-SIDED RACE IN CALIFORNIA

Shortridge Is Fourth in Field of Five G. O. P. Candidates.

SHULER, DRY, AHEAD IN REPUBLICAN TEST

Tubbs, Dripping Wet, Holds Second Place in Senate Primary.

San Francisco, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—A pronounced lead for William G. McAdoo in the six-sided race for the Democratic senatorial nomination, and a Republican race in which Senator Samuel Shortridge was running fourth in a field of five for the same office was shown in first returns from the State primary election today.

McAdoo, who helped to turn the tide in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the Democratic national convention by suggesting a switch of California and Texas votes from John N. Garner to the New York Governor, had more votes than the other five combined in 178 complete and incomplete precints out of 10,581 in the State. He had 4,418. Twenty-five counties were represented.

Wardell Is Second.

Justus S. Wardell, Roosevelt supporter in the State presidential primary, was second with 2,055; the Rev. Robert P. Schuler, Los Angeles dry, third, with 1,204, and P. M. Abbott, who headed the Alfred E. Smith ticket in the May preference voting, fourth with 211. Annie Riley Hale, author and lecturer, trailed with 54.

Shuler, running also on the Republican ticket, had the lead in that race with 4,006 votes in 265 precincts, 184 of them incomplete.

Representative Joe Crail, Antisaloon League candidate for the senatorship, was third with 3,202 and State Senator Tallant Tubbs, a so-called dripping wet, was second with 3,609. Shortridge was fourth with 3,091 and Leo V. Youngworth, of Los Angeles, trailed with 869.

Los Angeles Returns.

In Alameda County Tubbs and Shortridge were running neck and neck. In Los Angeles County Shuler was leading in the Republican contest and McAdoo by more than 3 to 1 in the Democratic on the basis of first returns.

It was expected both Shuler and Crail would pile up a big vote in Los Angeles County, as both campaigned as drys. There is a big dry vote in the south. Likewise it was expected McAdoo would show great strength in the south, which gave the Garner delegation a heavy vote in the May presidential primary.

Shuler, who is registered as a member of the prohibition party, was unopposed for that party's nomination for U. S. senator, so was assured a place on the November ballot. Under California law a candidate may seek various party nominations.

RITCHIE SAYS STATE TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Confers With Nominee in Albany; Will Stump for Ticket.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30 (U.P.).—Maryland will be for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in November, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, one of his opponents for the Democratic presidential nomination at Chicago, declared tonight after a conference with him.

The Maryland executive was a dinner guest at the mansion. He discussed the national political situation with Gov. Roosevelt and gave him the promise that he stood ready to "go anywhere at any time" in the interests of the ticket.

Gov. Ritchie declared that there was an increasing sentiment, particularly in the Maryland rural counties, for Gov. Roosevelt.

"What do you think of the situation over the country?" the Maryland governor was asked.

"As regards to my own State, I can say that even in the Republican localities there is a distinct sign of a swing toward the Democratic ticket," he added.

Gov. Ritchie said he was asked to take an active speaking role in the campaign. "I expect to go as far West as Illinois and then to New England to stump for Roosevelt and Garner," he asserted.

Gov. Ritchie came to Albany from New York City, where he conferred with Roosevelt leaders at campaign headquarters.

He was to leave late tonight for Baltimore.

Two Sailors, Suspected In Holdup, Arrested

Two bluejackets attached to the U. S. S. Reina Mercedes at Annapolis, Md., were arrested by Ninth Precinct police last night on suspicion of holdup and robbery.

A few hours before their apprehension, James B. Dyer, of 1332 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, reported that two men dressed in sailor uniforms held him up at the point of a revolver and robbed him of $7 in cash and a ring valued at $5. The sailors, who said they are Raymond A. Ball, 24, and Curtis Luchenbaugh, 21, were arrested a short distance from the scene of the alleged robbery near Sears & Roebuck Co., 911 Bladensburg road.

2,500 Men of Vatican Exempted From Army

Vatican City, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The Pope's cloak of peace will exempt about 2,500 men from service in the Italian Army.

The Lateran treaty automatically exempted 600 citizens of Vatican City, and it provided that others might receive similar treatment. Now a mixed commission has drafted a list of 1,900 Italian citizens "indispensable" to the Vatican, and they will not have to serve. Among these are 250 Italians in the various papal armed forces.

Amended Protest Filed by Hoidale

(Associated Press.)

An amended petition contesting the 1930 election of Senator Schall (Republican), Minnesota, was filed yesterday with the Senate elections committee by Einar Holdale, his Democratic opponent.

The amended petition, filed in compliance with an order of the committee, charged that Schall and his campaign managers violated the Minnesota corrupt practices act, the Federal corrupt practices act, and the United States Criminal Code. Nine violations of the State corrupt practices act were charged.

The petition contended that Schall's statement of contributions and expenditures failed to itemize the contributions and the contributors and that he expended "large sums in excess of the amounts reported by him."

Free State Announces Sheep and Poultry Duty

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Duties on sheep and poultry imported into the Irish Free State, principally from northern Ireland, were announced by the government today as a further encouragement to home industry.

A duty of 11 shillings and three pence ($2.70) per head will be imposed on all sheep and three shillings (72 cents) on all poultry imported. Two-thirds of the full rate is applicable as a preferential rate in the British Empire and the United Kingdom.

Rogers Caldwell Starts Comeback With $1,000

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Rogers Caldwell, whose investment banking house of Caldwell & Co. collapsed in the fall of 1930, is starting a comeback at the same stand with $1,000 capital.

A corporation charter was issued late today to Rogers Caldwell & Co., authorizing it to engage in the investment banking and security business, with offices in the eight-story building that housed the once-powerful Caldwell & Co.

Brazilian Business Men Move Ahead for Truce

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Business leaders seeking permission to approach the Sao Paulist rebels with proposals for a truce today were accorded a conference with government officials for tomorrow.

The situation on the fronts was relatively unchanged with loyal troops continuing to thrust into the north. The Cruzeiro sector was swept with torrential rains and low temperatures, bringing illness to both sides.

Consul Describes Attack on Mukden

Two Japanese Are Killed as 1,000 Chinese Raid, Myers Reports.

(Associated Press.)

Japanese official reports, said a message to the State Department yesterday from Myrl S. Myers, American consul at Mukden, indicate that only two Japanese were killed and eight wounded in the Sunday night attack Chinese made on Mukden. The message said about 1,000 Chinese, armed with swords, rifles and machine guns, attacked the city from three directions.

The assault began on the south gate, where 500 men gained entrance shortly before midnight and were not driven out until five hours later. A second group of 200 raided the eastern air field and burned one hangar and about fifteen old planes. A third force of 300 raided the northern outskirts.

All three bands escaped under cover of darkness. Myers said Japanese officials consider it is not improbable that further attacks will be made, but that the defense forces of Mukden are adequate.

WETS CONCENTRATE ON CONGRESS RACES

United Repeal Council to Work on Nonpartisan Basis in Districts.

(Associated Press.)

The United Repeal Council announced yesterday it would devote itself to the congressional races in the impending campaign and work on a nonpartisan basis for election of prohibition repeal advocates.

Pierre S. du Pont, chairman, said this position of the council was reached at a meeting Monday night in New York City. The council includes representatives of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, the Crusaders, the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, the voluntary committee of lawyers and the American Hotel Association.

"The council expects to devote itself to activities in the senatorial and congressional races where the prohibition issue is definitely and directly joined," said Du Pont's announcement.

Nothing was said about the candidacies of President Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"It was agreed," said du Pont, "that the council, representing as it does a registered membership of approximately 3,000,000 active workers, should reiterate its stand for outright unconditional repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and restoration to each State of the power to control the liquor traffic within its own boundaries. * * *

"The council's position is entirely nonpartisan. It expects to support legislative candidates of each of the major parties. It is concerned solely with the one issue for which its organization was originally effected and it will not be diverted from that issue by extraneous subjects which have no part in its work.

"The position of the various senatorial and congressional candidates will be asked and the council assumes that each of them will be willing to give a frank statement as to his attitude on the important question of the unqualified repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Bonus Demand Untimely Protest by Peak Holds

(Associated Press.)

Col. W. L. Peak, a past national commander of the Army and Navy Union, yesterday telegraphed to the meeting of the union in Cleveland his opposition to what he called "the untimely demands for bonus payments."

"Empty vaults are poor targets for massed attack," he said.

(Associated Press.)

Rear Admiral William Carey Cole, inspector of naval petroleum reserves at Los Angeles and former commandant of the San Francisco naval district, will retire for age tomorrow after 47 years of service.

Cole served as commander of the scouting force with the rank of vice admiral in 1929 and 1930, then being appointed commandant of the San Francisco naval district. In June, 1932, he was made inspector of the petroleum reserves.

A native of Chicago, Admiral Cole was in command of the battleship Nevada during the World War, operating with the British fleet. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his work.

Clothing Is Needed By 8,000,000 People

(Associated Press.)

An appeal for 100,000 women to lend their aid in converting Government donated cotton into clothing for the needy was made last night by James L. Fieser, vice chairman of the Red Cross, in a radio address as given out by the National Broadcasting Co.

Fieser said a questionnaire to Red Cross chapters had disclosed that 8,000,000 persons need clothing. He said the help of women to aid in fashioning the 500,000 bales of cotton after it becomes cloth was imperative.

Information coming to the Red Cross, he said, was that the greatest immediate need is for children's clothing, then for shirts and undershirts for men and for women's dresses.

BALTIMORE ARMORY BLAZE INJURES 24

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 30.—Fifty fire companies fought a sweltering four-hour battle today before subduing a stubborn conflagration that enveloped the Fifth Regiment armory, causing approximately $300,000 damage. Twenty-four firemen were injured or overcome by smoke.

Throughout the fire, a heavy pall of smoke hung over the outside of the fortress-like structure and choked the huge interior where Woodrow Wilson was nominated for the Presidency by the Democratic convention in 1912.

The fire was discovered by a charwoman. Ten alarms were sounded during the battle against the flames and smoke. Firemen faced the added menace of gunfire as 10,000 rounds of ammunition stored in the building began exploding. None was wounded, however.

Barred windows and steel doors also handicapped the firefighters and when the ammunition began to go off they were recalled from the building. Later they re-entered the burning structure when National Guard officials assured them that the ammunition set off in such a way would not be effective at more than 30 feet.

Two-thirds of the damage was said to be the destruction of winter uniforms of the regiment, some summer equipment and many of the dress uniforms of the Dandy Fifth. The State of Maryland has $490,000 insurance on the building and contents.

The armory, built in 1901, was designed for resistance to an enemy and this factor put fire fighters under a heavy handicap. Much time was spent in battering in steel doors with pickaxes and crowbars.

At some points, the only apertures through which a stream of water could be played into the building were rifle-ports. This prevented the proper amount of water from being turned on the flames for expeditious extinction of the blaze.

No decision as to the origin of the fire had been arrived at by officials early tonight.

Mosquito Farm Making Success

(Associated Press.)

Caring for the pestiferous insects as if they were ailing babies, the Public Health Service is succeeding at Columbia, S. C., in raising mosquitoes needed for treatment of dread paresis.

Reversing traditional rough methods of mosquito handling, Government scientists, cooperating with authorities of the State Hospital for the Insane at Columbia, have made anopholes quadrimaculatus and anopholes punctipennis, two of the species which transmit malaria, respond to kind treatment.

Coolers, fans, humidifiers and ice boxes have been set up in the Columbia mosquito laboratory and the mortality among the young is so small that the majority of the insects used in experiments there are hand-reared. Health service officials regard the "farm" as a goodly stride forward in the treatment of paresis, otherwise known as softening of the brain.

Corn Borer Is Seen Spreading Rapidly

Pest May Add 500 Miles This Year Instead of 20, Department Says.

(Associated Press.)

Whereas during the last decade the quarantine had held the spread to a maximum of 20 miles annually, officials consider it certain that the pest will invade virgin corn crops this season with a spread of as much as 500 miles.

"It is axiomatic that the borer will have the opportunity to invade spots it has never touched before," S. A. Rohwer, of the plant quarantine and control administration, said yesterday. "How much this new infestation will mean we can not begin to determine until next year. And there will be places where we might not discover it for some time."

NEW RELIEF SESSION CALLED FOR SEPT. 15

Winter Aid Projects Will Be Coordinated; Recovery Drive Spurred.

(Associated Press.)

As committees buckled down to the task of carrying out the credit expansion and share work program of the recent Hoover conference, plans were announced for another President-called meeting here September 15 at which efforts will be made to coordinate all unemployment relief projects during the coming winter.

The Agriculture Department reported the farm commodity price index for August 15 was 2 points higher compared with July 15 and 7 points above the record low in June.

To aid cotton prices the Reconstruction Corporation has $50,000,000 ready to loan the Farm Board and affiliated cooperatives for use in keeping cotton accumulated since 1930 off the market until 1933.

Home Loan Bank Work.

Demands for purchase of capital stock in the twelve Federal Home Loan Banks were described as substantial by Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the system's supervisory board, who said subscription books in all districts would be opened before September 15 to assure opening of the institutions 30 days later.

A prominent Democrat, Newton D. Baker, has been named chairman of the formal organization which will be called the National Citizens Committee of the Welfare and Relief Mobilization of 1932.

Besides the President, Chairman Atlee Pomerene of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., who recently resigned as head of the President's committee on unemployment relief, will address the conference.

Rise in Farm Prices.

The Agriculture Department attributed the rise in farm prices to gains made by wheat, cotton, rye, cottonseed, corn, potatoes, butter, wool, eggs and milk between July 15 and August 15.

These increases were said to have more than offset the downward price trends for oats, barley, flaxseed, hay and apples, and a reaction in prices paid producers for meat animals after the advance from June to July.

The Home Loan Bank Board went ahead with the task of selecting eleven directors for each of the twelve banks. Fort and the four other board members have arranged to attend the fortieth annual convention of the United States Building and Loan League at French Lick, Ind., the latter part of the week.

Eight more States were listed by the board chairman as having agreed to the proposed 60-day moratorium on mortgage foreclosures by receivers of closed State banks. The States are Connecticut, Arkansas, Massachusetts, North Carolina, California, Vermont, South Carolina and New Jersey.

Power Regulation Test Case Reaches High Court

(Associated Press.)

A case which may determine the authority of the Federal Power Commission to pass on the cost of licensed hydroelectric power projects at completion, reached the Supreme Court yesterday from Pennsylvania.

The Clarion River Power Co. of Johnstown, Pa., asked the court to determine whether the commission has the right at this time to hold hearings to determine the value of the Piney project on the Clarion River.

Gen. MacArthur Leaves For Maneuvers Abroad

(Associated Press.)

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff, left yesterday for New York, where he was to sail on the Leviathan last night for Europe, where he will observe military training exercises and maneuvers in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Roumania and Turkey by invitation from those governments.

Gen. MacArthur expects to return to America in October. He was accompanied by his aid, Capt. T. J. Davis.

Army to Employ "Talkies" For Training of Officers

(Associated Press.)

The United States Army is going in for the "talkies."

The rookie of the future perhaps will learn squads right not only under the personal supervision of a sergeant or corporal, but also be permitted to see the elementary military movement executed with machine-like precision on the screen, to the accompaniment of staccato barks proceeding apparently from the rear of the picture.

Likewise budding artillerymen perhaps will be able to view batteries going into action, the positions and technique of gun crews commands and all other details. Already attention is being concentrated on instruction and training by motion pictures in the handling of 155-MM. howitzer batteries and antiaircraft batteries. Later it is expected it will be extended to all classes of Coast Artillery, and even to close-order drill.

In the beginning of the use of sound film, instruction is expected to be directed primarily to officers, but later it is believed the films will be used in the training of men as well.

Capt. Melvin E. Gillette, Signal Corps, U. S. A., has been relieved from duty with the Second Corps Area headquarters, Governors Island, and ordered to Hollywood for a course in photography and motion picture work. Ever since the World War the Army has had a photographic section, this branch reaching a high state of development during that conflict.

In addition to the aerial photographic service, conducted with automatic cameras from airplanes in order to map enemy terrain, there was with every division of the American Expeditionary Force a photographic unit consisting of a motion picture cameraman, a still cameraman and an assistant.

Thousands upon thousands of feet of still photographs and many feet of moving pictures were made of every phase of the activity of the American Expeditionary Force. The dominant idea was to obtain as nearly as possible a photographic record of the war. War Department authorities sought to preserve for scientists, historians, military strategists and others to posterity as much of the actual records of the war as was possible to retain.

The photographs were assembled in France at a pioneer plant in the photographic and motion picture industry. Here they were developed, printed, titled, indexed and cross-indexed, later to be shipped to the United States for filing in the archives of the War Department, after such current use as possible was made of them.

Among the personnel of the photographic division, Signal Corps, were some of the best-known photographers in the motion picture and "still" photographic world.

U. S. Seeking Way To Cut Fire Hazard

(Associated Press.)

Scientific search for measures to reduce the hazard of fire, which causes a total economic loss of more than $1,000,000,000 and a death toll of more than 6,000 yearly in the United States, is being conducted by the Bureau of Standards.

The menace of the discarded cigarette, cigar or match and the fire danger of photographic, X-ray and motion picture films have been given considerable study, the bureau formulation safety requirements along these lines. A series of tests has been completed on the protection required for household heating and cooking appliances to prevent ignition of adjacent walls, ceilings and floors.

The condition prompting research along fire-resistance lines is a high fire loss that for the United States has approximated $500,000,000 per year in property alone, says S. H. Ingberg, bureau specialist.

LOAN STRENGTHENS OUTLOOK IN COTTON

2,000,000 Bales May Be Held Off Market Until 1933 as Result, Is View.

(Associated Press.)

The prospect that some 2,000,000 bales of cotton—or more—might be held off the market until 1933, strengthened yesterday with the formal announcement by the Reconstruction Corporation that it had authorized loans of $50,000,000 to a Farm Board agency and an affiliated cooperative.

The board's Cotton Stabilization Corporation was advanced $15,000,000 and the American Cotton Cooperative Association $35,000,000.

The loans were described in an address on Monday night by Jesse H. Jones, of Houston, corporation director, as being authorized to enable the organizations to "hold their cotton until 1933."

There was, however, no word from the board during the day that it had changed its sales policy of disposing of 650,000 bales during the current cotton season, although it was indicated that Chairman James C. Stone would clarify its position tomorrow.

He may at the same time tell whether the cooperative association will hold its stock acquired during 1930 operations, although the board ordinarily takes the position that the cooperatives speak for themselves. The association held approximately 2,100,000 bales in May, although some of this may have been disposed of since.

The stabilization corporation held in May about 1,350,000 bales, 500,000 of which were subsequently given to the Red Cross by Congress.

The corporation's announcement of the loans said the security for the advances would be cotton now held by the association and stabilization corporation at the rate of $25 a bale. It was added that any word on the purpose of the loan and the policies of the cotton corporations should come from them.

At $25 a bale, the loan made to the stabilization corporation was on 600,000 bales and to the association on 1,400,000 bales.

High Court to Rule On Invention Right

(Associated Press.)

The Government wants the Supreme Court to give it title to all inventions made by Federal employes in the course of their regular work. Lower courts in three cases have ruled a patent belongs to the Government only when the employe was assigned specifically to make the invention. The Justice Department now has asked the highest court to review these cases.

"To permit Government employes to retain title to inventions made by them in connection with their work would often be unfair to the taxpayers, at whose cost the inventions are made," Solicitor General Thacher contends in his brief.

The principal case included in the review petition involves three important radio patents issued to Percival D. Lowell and Francis W. Dunmore while employed by the Bureau of Standards. District and circuit courts have held Lowell and Dunmore entitled to the patents.

New York R. F. C. Projects Pushed

(Associated Press.)

Senator Wagner, of New York, yesterday discussed with individual members of the Reconstruction Corporation a large group of projects proposed for New York State, including the Thirty-eighth street tunnel under North River, to cost approximately $75,000,000; the Tri-Borough Bridge, to cost $26,000,000; the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Hudson, N. Y., to cost $6,000,000, and two bridges at Niagara Falls, to cost approximately $6,000,000.

Slum clearance projects in New York City also were taken up, but Senator Wagner said no figures as to this cost were available. These would be carried out, he added, by limited dividend corporations regulated by the State. Wagner said he hoped 2,000,000 men soon could be put to work throughout the country as a result of corporation loans.

Gov. Roosevelt May Call Special Relief Session

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt was represented in a letter received here today from his personal counsel, M. Maldwin Fertig, as feeling it may be necessary to call a special session of the Legislature within a few months to consider unemployment relief.

FARM STRIKE TRUCE EASES IOWA CAPITAL

Edward A. O'Neil Declares Picketers Misguided by Radical Agitators.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—An armistice late today quieted this sector of the Farmers' Holiday Association's struggle for higher agricultural prices, but near Omaha, Nebr., and Sioux Falls, S. Dak., it flared out in renewed vigor.

Meanwhile, at Chicago, Edward A. O'Neil, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, one of the Big Three organizations of farmers of the country, in a statement charged the farm strike was "sponsored by a limited group of misguided farmers with whom have become associated radical agitators" and announced he had written letters to officials of 100 Iowa county bureaus of his organization urging them to take no part in the holiday movement.

Mayor Metcalfe, of Omaha, ordered city officials to break up a truck blockade established outside the city limits, and Sheriff McDonald swore in twenty deputies to push picket lines outside a 3-mile limit over which the city has jurisdiction.

Ten Highways Picketed.

Ten highways at Sioux Falls were picketed by farmers who hope to get, by preventing marketing of milk, an increase of 50 cents or $1.75 a hundredweight.

Sioux Falls milk distributors made deliveries from supplies on hand, but they expected this amount to be exhausted soon.

Dealers in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, fearing a similar move would affect them, agreed to raise the price of milk from $1.40 to $2 a hundredweight.

Peace supplanted near riots that marked the nonselling campaign here Monday. Sheriff's deputies and drivers conducted a major offensive against picketers during the morning. Practically all picketing on highways into the capital city ceased.

Sheriff Charles F. Keeling said he felt assured there would be no further disorders near here. But holiday leaders said they expected to remobolize with the aid of pickets from other parts of the State.

Hog Quotations Fall.

Receipts of agricultural products here were normal, prices steady to 5 cents lower on hogs. Other developments in the marketing holiday, which was called August 8 by the National Farmers Holiday Association, were:

Sheriff Davenport and County Attorney Prichard, of Woodbury County, investigated a fight in which eleven deputies were hurt near Cushing, Monday night.

P. T. Hagerman, of Omaha, was cut about the face when pickets near Council Bluffs, threw a lantern through his automobile windshield.

A group of farmers met in Council Bluffs and formulated a plan, subject to approval by the leader of the movement in nearby Harrison County, whereby finished cattle may be marketed.

Sheriff P. A. Lainson, of Pottawattamie County, and County Attorney Dickason presented to a grand jury in Council Bluffs data relating to picketing disorders near there as an indirect result of which one deputy was killed, another hurt and 61 men arrested.

District Judge Early Peters instructed the grand jury to investigate blockading of highways and to indict all persons guilty of law violations. Justice Jack Dewitt continued until October 3 cases of 43 pickets arrested in Council Bluffs last week for unlawful assembly.

Practically no produce or live stock entered Council Bluffs markets because of the blockades.

A temporary agreement was reached by milk distributors and producers in Clinton, Iowa, whereby the price of milk would be boosted 2 cents a gallon. Roads into Clinton were patroled by holiday sympathizers.

Dealers in Sioux City reported they received practically no poultry and eggs and that the embargo had no effect on produce prices. Hog prices in Sioux Falls dropped 10 to 25 cents.

Govs. White of Ohio, Olson of Minnesota, Turner of Iowa and Murray of Oklahoma have agreed to attend or send representatives to a conference at Sioux City September 9, which Gov. Green of South Dakota called. Their purpose will be to seek some marketing plan to raise farm prices. Fourteen governors were invited.

Action in Michigan.

Picketing of a large creamery near Waterloo was abandoned and farmers had no trouble marketing commodities. A temporary agreement affecting them and Fort Dodge dealers raised the milk price from $1.25 to $1.80 a hundredweight.

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—James N. McBride, member of the State Legislature, announced today that a movement looking toward the establishment of a "gentlemen's agreement" among all Michigan bean farmers to hold their 1932 crop for a price of $2.50 per hundredweight would be started at a meeting in Corunna, Mich., September 10.

The price to be sought, he said, is $1 more than beans now are bringing in the market.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Northern Washington County dairymen invaded Pittsburgh today to demand higher prices for milk and other dairy products.

They have been receiving an average of 11 cents a gallon for milk and seek an increase of at least 4 cents. They have also been paying for trucking of their produce.

145,000 in England Answer Strike Call

Picketing Widespread, but No Serious Disorders Have Occurred.

Manchester, England, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Labor union officials estimated tonight that 145,000 cotton weavers had answered the strike call in the Manchester textile district, and that so far as plant stoppage was concerned the walkout was about 95 per cent effective.

These leaders asserted some of the men still working will go on strike tomorrow, but operatives at Leigh voted tonight to return to work tomorow after only one day's absence. There have been no serious disturbances, although picketing has been widespread and there have been a few isolated demonstrations against strikebreakers.

Sixty police charged a crowd of about 2,000 strikers at Barnoldwick, who were taunting 2,000 workers leaving the mills. Thus far, there has been no indication of official intervention.

3 Marines Rescued In Nicaragua Wilds

(Associated Press.)

The Navy was advised yesterday that a rescue party seeking three marines forced down in Nicaragua in a storm had reached the trio and all were returning in boats to the town of Rama.

The three are Lieut. Clovis Coffman, San Antonio, Tex.; Gunnery Sergeant Scofield, Columbus, Ky., and Corpl. Townsend, Mechanicsville, N. Y.

The plane was separated from its patrol on August 21, and forced down on the Chilamata River. Food and supplies were dropped from planes while the overland rescue party was en route to them.

Policeman Hit by Auto While Writing Report

A policeman was injured last night as he stood beside a parked automobile taking a report of an accident near Nineteenth and M streets northwest. Private H. C. Johnson, attached to the Third Precinct, was treated at Emergency Hospital for lacerations to his leg, after being struck by the automobile of James A. Brown, colored, 20 years old, of 63 R street northwest.

Johnson was obtaining a report on a collision between a machine driven by Fred C. B. Banks, of 1228 Sixteenth street northwest, and one operated by William L. O'Bryan, of 2806 Thirteenth street northwest. As the policeman stood beside Banks' machine, Brown's car struck him. Brown was arrested and charged with reckless driving and having bad brakes on his car.

McCormick Estate May Be Worthless

Attorney Asserts Former Social Dictator's Riches Almost Vanished.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Did Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, social dictator of Chicago for 30 years and long known as the "world's richest woman," die practically penniless?

Attorneys and business associates familiar with the estate that once was valued at more than $40,000,000, said today it may have shrunk to such an extent that only enough remains to settle outstanding obligations. Under present real estate valuations, those familiar with the McCormick holdings said, the estate probably is worth very little.

"After it all is summed up, the estate may not be worth a cent," said former Judge Charles S. Cutting, who drew up Mrs. McCormick's will just three weeks before she died last Thursday.

"If financial conditions improve, the holdings may turn out to be worth a considerable sum. There is no one who could estimate accurately the value at present."

London Announces Stock Repayment

British Government Will Take Up Equivalent of Half Billion.

London, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Impending repayment of 4½ per cent stock totaling £158,222,376 was announced by the government today in the London Gazette. The amount is equivalent to $530,149,420.

The 4½ per cent war loan series 1925-45 and the 4½ per cent treasury bonds series 1932-34 will be repaid at par on December 1, with interest then due, in view of the success of the conversion of the 5 per cent war loan.

The treasury bonds total nearly £140,500,000 and they were issued in December, 1928, part being for cash and the remainder representing the conversion of 5 per cent war bonds. The 4½ per cent war loan totaling £12,800,000 is the outstanding balance of the £900,000,000 issued in June, 1915.

ANNAPOLIS RELENTS IN W., B. & A. DISPUTE

City Council Adopts Draft of Franchise Granting Under Rigid Rules.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 30.—The City Council, after considerable discussion last night, reopened the question of granting a franchise to the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric Railroad to continue operation of its trains through a certain section of the city, by adopting a draft of a proposed ordinance which will be submitted to the rail officials.

Previously the municipal authorities went on record as opposed to a renewal of a franchise on any grounds, when the original grant expired last July 1, but the company, which is now in receivership, obtained an extension of 60 days under an order of the Federal court at Baltimore. Last night's action was the result of a movement launched by business and civic associations.

The tentative ordinance embraces rigid restrictions, such as limiting operations strictly to trains connecting with the Clairborne-Annapolis ferries by way of the short line or Blade street terminal; abandonment of the West street terminus; providing a franchise tax that would bring to the city not less than $500 annually, together with payment of the franchise tax of the last two years, from which the company was exempted by an act of the last Legislature.

The railway company is bitterly opposed to abandoning the West street terminal tomorrow, which is the time limit under court order. The company would be given not over 60 working days to complete a spur of track at the Bladen street station under the proposed plan.

That the council, almost as a whole, still is strongly opposed to the railroads was indicated, but the new move was instituted in view of an apparent change of sentiment among many citizens who also were originally opposed, the chief reason being consideration of direct outlet to traffic over the ferries.

CORONA HOLDS CHIEF INTEREST IN ECLIPSE

Boston, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—A preview of what they expect to look for tomorrow afternoon was gathered from a score of scientists tonight.

First comes the mystery of the corona, a halo of pearly light which will flash out as the main show to the eyes of 10,000,000 spectators.

Astronomers think the corona is a stream of gases and hot particles, shooting outward from the sun's surface, at speeds of 1,000 miles or more a second.

But these streamers, millions of miles long, are particles in a different state than anything known on earth. They seem to be mixed up with electric storms, and with rays of ultraviolet and infrared.

Mass of Fine Spikes.

Why they give light and its peculiar nature will be studied by nearly every one of the scientific expeditions, whose count tonight was 46.

Some astronomers think that when they learn why this corona stands out around the sun like a mass of fine spikes, they will be able to solve the nature of comet's tail, likewise they think the corona may some day tell them why the nebulae are luminous.

There are suspicions that the corona contains very short-wave radiation, akin to X-rays. Some of the pale light is attributed to the glow of sunlight reflected from the flying particles, but still other light rays originate within the corona and their cause is mysterious.

"Bailey's beads," a crescent of "fire diamonds" rimming one edge of the sun just before and after the moon completely obscures it, are expected at tomorrow's eclipse to receive their final explanation.

Valleys of the Moon.

They are usually attributed to patches of the sun shining through mile-deep valleys on the edge of the moon, depressions formed by moon mountains more than 6,000 feet high. There have been other, more intricate explanations. The solution is the special task of two Polish astronomers, who have rigged a "slow motion" camera to catch hundreds of "shots" of the quickly disappearing beads.

The positions of the moon's valleys are well known to astronomers. The slow motion pictures are expected to show whether the beads appear exactly where the moon valleys lie. The Poles are Prof. T. Banachlecqicz, of Craco, and J. Witowski, of Posnan.

"Coronium" will show its queer green face again tomorrow in the spectroscopic lines of the astronomers' glass prisms. Coronium is something unknown in the corona, which gives a green light. It was thought to be a new chemical element unknown on earth. Recently the same green line was discovered in the Aurora Borealis. Now it is suspected to be oxygen mixed probably with some other well-known atoms, which emits a new kind of light.

"Flash Spectrum."

Chemists and physicists the world over would like to know more about the peculiar conditions which produce this coronium.

The "flash" spectrum is another brilliant eclipse display, visible unfortunately, only in astronomer spectroscopes. It is the light from the lowest layer of the sun's blazing atmosphere, estimated at about 1,000 miles deep. The astronomers who first saw it compared the sight to thousands of bursting rockets of all colors.

The planet Mercury, which even astronomers seldom see, will be visible during totality low in the western sky. Jupiter is expected to blaze out big as a lighthouse beam close to the sun.

Eclipse press agents have ballyhooed the bright star Spica, also visible close to the sun, as a good omen because for 2,000 years it has been called the "prosperity star."

Naval Plane Will Take Photographs of Eclipse

(Associated Press.)

Aerial photographs of the ground shadow of the eclipse will be made today by the Navy. A plane, piloted by Lieut. C. M. Huntington, flew from the naval air station yesterday to Concord, N. H., in the area of the total eclipse. Pictures will be made of the shadow and the eclipse itself.

W. M. Brown, associate astronomer of the Naval Observatory, who has specialized in photographic work, will be in the party, which will include six others.

Eclipse Photo Airplane Crashes; Two Are Hurt

Conway, N. H., Aug. 30 (U.P.).—The first casualty of the eclipse occurred here today when an airplane, hired by a news picture concern to carry pictures to Boston, crashed during an attempted landing on the high school athletic field.

Pilot Emory W. Decnis and Observer R. C. Bass, both of Barre, Vt., were injured. They were taken to the New Hampshire National Guard first aid station, where Dennis was treated for a broken nose and Bass for cuts and bruises.

One Death Attributed To Heat in Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—One death was attributed to the heat as the mercury reached a maximum of 94 today, just 2 degrees short of the record for the date set in 1925.

Oppressive humidity accompanied the high temperature and the weather man promised no relief, until tomorrow when a possibility of showers about the time of the eclipse was forecast.

onds of totality apparatus worth well in excess of $100,000 will be focused upon the corona and its attendant phenomena. Curiously enough to the layman, at least, many of the celebrated astronomical authorities who have traveled thousands of miles to witness the eclipse will not see it.

Curios Crowd Area.

The public, which has been rather slow in reaching the overflow proportions optimistically looked forward to by local business men, began to arrive in larger numbers today to the delight of merchants and the sorrow of the scientific parties.

One of few men here to "work" the eclipse who probably is prepared for more contingency short of absolute cloudiness than anyone else is Charles Bittinger, widely-known artist of Washington, D. C., anu Duxbury, Mass. Bittinger is going to paint the eclipse, a feat believed to have been accomplished only once before.

Today he put the final touches to no fewer than three tentative sketches he has made, each with a slightly different color arrangement.

He will work in the Franklin Institute's field and he hopes in the minute and a half of totality to be able to blend the pigments of his palette rapidly enough to reproduce the spectacle.

Good View Here Unlikely.

Although Dame Nature thousands of years ago decreed that Washingtonians should see 89 per cent of a total eclipse on August 31, 1932, at 3:35 p. m., it is highly probable that she will step in and interrupt the spectacle this afternoon by means of unfavorable weather, and that a fair percentage of the city's population stargazing to witness the phenomenon will be disappointed.

For, according to the Weather Bureau, "there is every indication that there will be cloudiness during the period of the eclipse." And should heavy cumulus clouds fill the sky, Mr. and Mrs. Government Worker who had planned to go on the roof to see the astronomical event might just as well stay at their desks and turn on the lights, for there will be little to see.

The partial eclipse is scheduled to start here at 2:24 p. m., reaching its maxumum degree of totality at 3:35 and ending at 4:41.

Should weather conditions be favorable, observers are cautioned to use smoked glasses or an overdeveloped photographic plate to protect their eyes while they watch the progress of the phenomenon.

Many Go to New England.

A large number of Washington scientists are members of parties encamped on the belt of totality in New England or have gone North to witness the event. Georgetown University, the Naval Observatory and the National Geographic Society all have sent groups into New England to study the corona.

An unusual angle on the eclipse developed yesterday when officials of Eastern Air Transport were confronted with a request from pilots on the line that they be paid for night flying during the period of partial darkness.

Several of the company's airplanes will be in the air at the time of totality and the pilots feel that they should receive the extra remuneration paid for piloting at night.

At the Zoo Dr. William M. Mann and his staff of assistants will observe carefully the actions of baboons, monkeys, chimpanzees and other animals. The several species of animals will be carefully watched to see if they become frightened at the phenomenon.

REPUBLICANS PLAN MINIMUM FANFARE

discuss details of the strategy conversations yesterday, beyond the general statement from Secretary Newton that "the general consensus of those present was that Mr. Hoover's campaign is going well for this stage of the game." Questioned as to the President's personal plans, Mr. Newton indicated his speeches would be few, and that no dates or places had yet been considered.

Comfortable Margin in 1928.

Determination to advance an intensive campaign for New York's 47 electoral votes has been a certainty of the Republican campaign for several weeks, but Monday's reports from that sector are understood not to have suggested any reason for extraordinary measures there. Party workers who assisted Mr. Hill in the New York campaign in 1928 recalled that the Republican national ticket carried the State by a comfortable margin over former Gov. Alfred E. Smith. In that campaign, Mr. Hoover made but one appearance in the State, and that in the last ten days of the campaign.

Although New York still is regarded as debatable territory, this week's reports from Massachusetts, the prize electoral package in the East outside of New York and Pennsylvania, indicate an encouraging development of Hoover sentiment there since the acceptance address.

Three Addresses in East.

As tentatively outlined Monday night, the President's campaign activities will be confined to perhaps three major addresses in the East and one or two in the Middle West. There has been no thought of an extended speaking tour to match the scheduled transcontinental swing of Gov. Franklin Roosevelt.

The Democratic standard bearer plans to leave Albany about mid-September on a tour which will take him up and down the Pacific Coast and back to New York early in October.

Hard upon Gov. Roosevelt's trail, Norman Thomas, the presidential candidate of the Socialist party, will leave New York on a speaking tour to the Pacific Coast about September 18.

delay or abandon the return flight. Apparently her urging was unsuccessful as she later sent a 200-word cable.

"Please give in," the message said. "Everyone strongly advises you to return by boat. I am so worried by reports on the state of your health. I beg you to give up your ideal for my sake."

Sydney, Nova Scotia, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Capt. J. A. Mollison, held up by bad weather on his flight back across the Atlantic to England, said today he did not expect to continue to Harbor Grace until tomorrow. He will remain here until the fog lifts.

$1,500,000 HELD TOP OF G.O.P. EXPENSES

National Committee Took In $6,500,000 in 1928; Drive Progresses.

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Republican campaign chiefs expect the cost of their 1932 ballot drive will be between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000, National Treasurer J. R. Nutt announced tonight.

Four years ago $6,500,000 was collected by the national committee, he said.

Of this sum, $331,000 remained at the end of the campaign; $3,179,000 was actually spent by the national organization, and the rest went into various States, or was used to finance senatorial and congressional contests.

The maximum estimate of $1,500,000 made by Treasurer Nutt is the identical figure the Democratic leaders have set as their likely top expenditure.

Several floors above the 40-room headquarters, Everett Sanders, national chairman, sat in his shirtsleeves in a private suite conferring with one State leader after another, and with Eastern campaign chiefs.

"Our campaign is well under way in the West and East," he said, "and is moving more rapidly than usual, probably because of the Democratic nominee's early acceptance speech.

"There seems to be more interest being manifested by the public in politics than is usual at this time."

Heart Attack Fatal To Rev. R. E. White

A sudden heart attack last night proved fatal to the Rev. Robert E. White, retired Baptist minister, as he sat on the front porch of his home, 3114 Eighteenth street northwest. The Rev. Mr. White suddenly collapsed while talking with members of his family. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Francis Machen, of 3206 Seventeenth street northwest.

A native of Petersburg, Va., the Rev. Mr. White retired from the ministry about eight years ago. His last parish was in Lexington, N. C. He had lived here since retirement, after 35 years of continuous service.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. M. L. White, five daughters, Mrs. R. B. Guest, of Flushing, Long Island; Marjorie, Constance and Eunice White and Mrs. R. B. Morgan, all of this city. He also leaves a son, Wallace E. White, of Canton, N. C.

Montgomery Gets Capital Aid as Water Supply Falls

Because of the unusual consumption conditions caused by the hot weather yesterday, the water pressure in high places in Montgomery County, Md., was considerably below normal, Chief Engineer Robert B. Morse, of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, said last night. Practically all the water used yesterday in the county, or about four-fifths, was Washington water turned in through the Chevy Chase hook-up with the Washington system, he said.

The exact amount of water taken into the county system from the Capital will not be known until today at noon when the meter is read, he said, but it is easily apparent that the consumption of water yesterday was far above normal.

Watering of lawns and gardens brought an extra tax upon the water supply, but the engineer's office realized that it was largely a temporary situation and no restrictive measures are planned as yet, Mr. Morse said.

Several complaints from the Montgomery Hills section that the water has been bad there have been reported to Mr. Morse, who said he could not explain the trouble unless it was because of the inferior quality of water received from the Washington system in the past two weeks, due to trouble in the local system. The employes of the Water Commission offices in the Tower Building, at Fourteenth and K streets northwest, have on several occasions in the last several weeks been unable to drink Washington water, he said.

A number of complaints had been received from this section, Mr. Morse said. Mrs. F. B. Fallon, Woodside, Md., told a reporter for The Post she had found worms in the water delivered at her home and another resident said the water tasted like gasoline and was dark brown and greasy on one day about a week ago. Many residents of this section have been complaining about the taste of the water. Mr. Morse said he personally had tasted the Burnt Mills water and that it was in the best of shape and that the taste probably was due to the Washington water.

Thieves Raid Major's Apartment.

Household articles valued at $18 were stolen in the last few days from an apartment at 2101 New Hampshire avenue northwest, it was reported yesterday by Maj. Harvey D. Murray. The thieves, he said, entered his apartment by using a duplicate key.

Government Removal From All Trades Urged if From Agriculture.

New Orleans, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—C. O. Moser, vice president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, voiced objection before the Shannon congressional committee today to any attempt to "remove the Government from the agricultural business while allowing it to continue in other business."

The committee is investigating Government competition with private business.

Witnesses representing the cotton industry have attacked the Farm Board-sponsored cooperative association as a harmful competitor and one witness today charged he had been slandered by a cooperative seeking to secure business.

"In considering the Farm Board operations," Mr. Moser said, "it should be done along with other major governmental activities authorized by Congress and recognized as national policies. It will be fair to consider the elimination of such boards and commissions as the Federal Reserve Board, the Tariff Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Trade Commission, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or the Immigration Commission, if we are to consider the elimination of the Federal Farm Board.

"We can not take the position that fair-minded friends of agriculture can not look with complacency upon the elimination of the Federal agency endeavoring to help agriculture, while they regard with propriety the continuation of the Government in business in other lines. In other words, is there justice or reason in an attempt to take the Government out of the business of agriculture while leaving the Government in business in other major economic undertakings?"

Prospector Is Carried On Shoulders to Knife

Quesnel, British Columbia, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Borne on the shoulders of police and friends over a rough 32-mile trail, Charlie Ross, 24, was brought to a waiting motor car on the Cottonwood House highway today and rushed to a hospital for an appendectomy.

The youthful Calgary prospector was stricken in the heavy bushlands and it took 17 hours of hard travel through a pouring rain to carry him to Cottonwood House, 21 miles east of here.

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court today by Gregory Ratoff, former New York theatrical producer and more recently a featured motion-picture player.

His liabilities were listed at $30,994 and assets at $10,976. He expressed willingness to turn over all his properties for the benefit of creditors.

Two Railroads Report Freight Traffic Increase; Plans Announced for Forming Railway Equipment Finance Group; Chevrolet Business Up.

(Associated Press.)

Developments in the business world, yesterday included:

Chicago.—Plans for organizing a railway equipment finance corporation were revealed just as two railroads reported increases in freight traffic. Chicago & North Western's freight business increased 4 per cent last week and the St. Louis-San Francisco increased 2 per cent. In the proposed finance corporation, a number of railway equipment manufacturers would cooperate with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make extensive purchases possible.

St. Louis.—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis noted "a decided improvement in sentiment in business circles, attributable to rising trends in prices of agricultural products, the upturn in security markets and further improvement in the general banking and credit situation." The bank's report covered the month of July.

Chicago.—A declaration that business is good for "up-and-coming" firms was made by John S. Plummer, manager of the Midwestern Branch of Intertype Corporation, makers of type-setting machines. Plummer said sales have been increased steadily over the last year in the 15 Midwest States covered by the Western Branch.

Detroit, Mich.—The Chevrolet Motor Co. announced dealer reports for the first 20 days of August—usually dullest month of the year in the motor industry—indicated business was much better than in July. Up to August 20 sales were 17,138 units, compared with 14,698 for the same period in July. Graham-Paige Motors announced its business also is improving.

Washington.—Increased operations of lumber mills, said to indicate a probable speeding up of building construction, was reported by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. Ninety-eight mills in the Southern Pine territory reported orders last week were 45 per cent above the same period in 1931.

Granite City, Ill.—The American Steel Co.'s plant, operating on a part-time basis for months, today called 300 men back to work full days. Increased orders was the reason.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Co., large producers of cotton yarns, will have a normal force of 2,800 persons back at work within a month, Thomas H. McKinney, vice president, said.

The company started a gradual program of putting men back at work last week as a result of improved conditions.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Aug. 30.—A more than seasonal increase in new orders for cotton goods at domestic mills was reported today in the weekly bulletin of the New York Cotton Exchange. New orders have exceeded weekly production for all American mills combined for seven weeks. Many mills now are stepping up their production schedules to cach up with the backlog.

"Domestic mills continued to sell goods in large volume during the last week, thus further strengthening their position on stocks and unfilled orders," the report says. "Sales of cloth were greatly in excess of current production, as has been the case in every week for nearly two months. The mill report for July showed sales 57 per cent above output in that month. The report for August should be likewise highly favorable.

"With stocks progressively reduced and unfilled orders built up to a higher level than in many months, many mills are being forced to increase operations, and the mills have secured a backlog of orders which assures a sharp increase in the activity of the industry in the next few weeks. Almost all the principal classes of mills have shared in the improvement. The improvement has been particularly encouraging because it has extended to industrial cloths, as well as to fabrics for apparel and household uses."

A 25 per cent sales increase in recent weeks was reported yesterday by F. W. Taylor, sales manager of the Washington Sales Organization of the Premier Vacuum Cleaner Co. Mr. Taylor with Manager A. D Kelso, and Salesmen O. T. Zimmerman, William Oates, J. T. Costello and Joseph Gilley will leave this morning for their factory office in Cleveland, Ohio, having won the trip by virtue of the successful sales campaign of the past six months.

1,743 LEAD IS HELD BY "MA" FERGUSON

Only 16 Counties of Texas Now Remain to Report Complete Figures.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Slowly but steadily increasing her lead in the Democratic gubernatorial contest, Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson early tonight held an advantage of 1,743 votes over Gov. R. S. Sterling.

On the latest tabulation of unofficial returns by the Texas election bureau, all of the State's 254 counties had been heard from and only 16 remained to report complete returns. Sterling was leading in nine of the incomplete counties and the woman former governor in seven.

Only once since she forged ahead last night did Mrs. Ferguson fail to make a gain on a tabulation, and then, on the first compilation today, her opponent's gain amounted to only 32 votes.

On the second tabulation her lead jumped to 1,297, the greatest she had held since the early counting, and this was increased to 1,466 and 1,743, respectively on the next compilations.

Election bureau officials estimated not more than 2,000 votes remained to be counted.

Both candidates remained in Austin today, each confident of victory when an official canvass is completed. County conventions for such purpose will be held Saturday and the State convention of the party will be held in Lubbock on September 12 to make the State-wide canvass.

Pictures of 2 Candidates Amuse Crowds in Albany

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30 (U.P.).—Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Herbert Clark Hoover stared at one another tonight in downtown Albany, but they did not appear unfriendly.

Fluttering in the breeze, stretched across Albany's principal loop street, hardly 100 yards apart, were huge campaign streamers bearing portraits of the rivals for the Presidency—a situation that has provoked no end of merriment.

Roosevelt, when he chooses to glance out of the windows of his executive office, invariably finds himself gazing upon his opponent's portrait. He has not commented. In fact, by coincidence, the shades have been drawn in his office of late.

Returning from one of his latest campaign jaunts, he passed directly under the Hoover banner in an automobile with the top down. He gazed at the portrait with a flushed face and glanced hurriedly away. A crowd which gathered to cheer him snickered. He did not look at his own.

Possible Clew Is Found To Missing Sea Fliers

London, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—A possible clew to the fate of the American airplane Green Mountain Boy, missing on a flight from Vermont to Norway, was reported today by the Automobile Association.

The association said one of their Welsh coast patrols, last Friday at 7:20 p. m., heard an airplane over the sea. The motor suddenly ceased, while the man who heard it was walking on the shore near Talybont. Visibility was poor and he could not see the plane, but the sound of the motor indicated it had stalled, he said. The Green Mountain Boy, which might have been off the coast about that hour, carried Clyde Allen Lee and John Bochkon.

ORANGE PRODUCTION IN NORTH SUCCEEDS

Russian Reveals Discovery Making Growth Possible at Genetics Session.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—An important discovery in plant breeding, practically equivalent to growing oranges and other warm-country fruits in northern regions, was announced today before the international congress of genetics.

The discovery will make possible crossing of northern and tropical fruits, and will open the way to creation of many new varieties, said Dr. N. I. Vavilloff, of Leningrad, Russia, who credited it to Dr. T. D. Lyssenko, of Odessa.

Inducing fermentation in seeds before planting them is the basis of Dr. Lyssenko's discovery. It makes possible shortening the period of growth, transforming winter varieties of plants into spring ones and late varieties into early. The fermentation is produced by "definite combination of darkness, temperature and humidity," Dr. Vavilloff said.

"This discovery," he continued, "enables us to utilize in our (north Russian) climate for breeding and genetic work tropical and subtropical varieties, which practically amounts to moving southern Florida northward."

HURRICANE PASSES; FLORIDA IS NORMAL

Little Damage Is Reported; Five Are Slightly Hurt During Storm.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Bright sunshine today restored normal conditions in the wake of the tropical disturbance which passed over the lower end of the Florida Peninsula last night without serious damage.

The storm crossed the sparsely settled Everglades area and presumably passed out into the Gulf of Mexico about noon today some distance south of Fort Myers, with its intensity greatly diminished.

With the passage of the storm from the east coast, merchants here removed barricades from their display windows and conditions returned to normal. Aside from a few broken windows, torn awnings and such, the storm did no damage here. Airway transportation to Havana and Nassau was resumed. Railroads maintained their schedules and no damage was reported to the overseas line that bridges numerous keys between here and Key West.

Communication Restored.

Some damage was done to wire communication lines in the lower western section of the State, but repairs are being made promptly. At some few points without communication highway travelers reported no signs of severe damage. For a while, Naples, south of Fort Myers, was without contact with other points, but later a message came through saying damage there was inconsequential.

Fort Myers this morning felt a wind of 30 miles an hour, but several hours later it had virtually subsided.

Five persons were treated at Miami hospitals for slight injuries attributed to the storm.

Two Rescued From Boat.

Edward Beechman and M. R. Hallock, of Miami, were rescued today by a Coast Guard cutter from a rowboat which was tossed about all night by a raging sea. They were returning to shore after anchoring a sail boat six miles off the Coconut Grove canal.

High tides were reported all along the lower east coast during the storm. The Clyde-Mallory liner Seminole, en route from Galveston, was delayed for some time in docking here due to rough water in the harbor.

The barometer registered 29.49 at 4 p. m. with indications that it was falling slightly. It has been raining here throughout the day.

Virgin Islands Vicinity Visited by New Storm

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Carlos Millas, director of the National Observatory, tonight announced that a tropical disturbance of unknown intensity was working its way west and northwest from the vicinity of the Virgin Islands.

The announcement more definitely placed the source of the storm near the lesser Antilles Islands and said it was advancing rapidly on the heels of yesterday's gale. Some difficulty was encountered in charting its progress.

Finish Fight Forecast In Illinois Mine War

Gillespie, Ill., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—A fight to the finish with no compromise was forecast tonight by leaders of the opposition to the reduced wage scale under which many tipples of the State are working.

Lack of Sunrise Expert Causes Loss of 'Battle'

Fort Riley, Kans., Aug. 30 (A.P.). And now for want of a sunrise expert a sham battle was lost.

"Red" and "blue" armies of the Kansas National Guard were to start battling at sunrise. The army occupying a certain hill first was to win.

Red forces consulted a newspaper and reports of two weather bureaus and found the sun rose at 5:36 a. m., 5:41 a. m. and 5:49 a. m. They split the difference and at 5:45 were ordered into action.

The Reds, reaching the hill, found the Blue army already occupying it, having decided sunrise was at 5:36.

The Blues won the battle.

DAVIS, ARRAIGNED, PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Bail Fixed at $1,000 and Trial on Sept. 19 on Lottery Charges.

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—James J. Davis, United States senator from Pennsylvania, waited his turn at the Federal Building today to plead not guilty to indictments charging him with conspiracy and distribution and sale of lottery tickets.

Theodore G. Miller, codefendant with Davis and executive in the Loyal Order of Moose, entered a similar plea. Bail of $1,000 was furnished for each, and the trial date was fixed tentatively for September 19.

Senator Davis and Miller were not in court when their cases were first called. When they came, a long list of petty cases were being taken up and they waited for some time until their turns came again.

"It can be speedily demonstrated that Senator Davis is entirely innocent of these charges," said a statement issued in his behalf later by his attorneys, Charles H. Tuttle, former United States attorney, and Charles J. Margiotti, of Pittsburgh.

Had No Part in Charity Balls.

They said further that "he had no part in the plan under which the charity balls were held and he neither took nor got a penny from the proceeds thereof."

"We are of the clear opinion," the statement continued, "that this plan, which in substance has also been used by a large number of the most honorable fraternal charitable and other societies in the country, is not violative of any Federal statute.

"The distinguished service of Senator Davis to the Loyal Order of Moose and to the country, in the founding and upbuilding of Mooseheart and in promoting the sense of fraternity among men, puts his character beyond the reach of suspicion and is itself a refutation of these charges."

As the senator left the courtroom, he was asked if he would say anything about the request of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, following his indictment, that he withdraw from the Senate race in Pennsylvania.

"No comment," he said.

Heads Moose Order.

The Davis and Miller pleas followed those of five other men and the Western Union Telegraph Co. last week in connection with the lottery case. Federal investigators charge that lotteries were conducted by fraternal organizations for charitable projects. Senator Davis is head of the Moose order.

Those who pleaded earlier were Conrad H. Mann, of Kansas City, Mo., head of the Fraternal Order of Eagles; Frank E. Herring, M. J. Revise, Bernard C. McGuire, of New York and Aurora, Ill., and Raymond Walsh.

McGuire and Walsh entered second pleas of not guilty today to indictments naming them with Davis and Miller. Their bail previously posted was allowed to stand for the additional charges.

While Senator Davis was waiting in the Federal building, he was served with a summons in a $25,000 damage suit brought by Morris Harmelin, whose attorney said his release from the Atlanta Penitentiary on a term for mail fraud was deferred fourteen months because Davis, then Secretary of Labor, certified he was an alien. The lawyer said Harmelin had proof of American citizenship.

MELLON AND MILLS VISIT WALL STREET

Both Say Personal Matters Account for Presence in Financial District.

New York, Aug 30 (A.P.).—Both Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, and Andrew W. Mellon, his predecessor in that office, were Wall street visitors today, a coincidence which caused excited conjecture in financial quarters, although both men explained their visits were of a personal nature.

Mr. Mellon, who will sail tomorrow to resume his duties as Ambassador to the Court of St. James, was interviewed while leaving the National City Bank. He spent an hour with Gordon Rentschler, president of National City, and Floyd Blair, vice president, who was an aid to Mellon when he was Secretary of the Treasury.

When questioned about his call at the National City, Mr. Mellon, who appeared to be in fine spirits, laughed and said, "I don't think I have any notes coming due," but then added, "there is not a thing significant about my visit downtown. It has been purely of a personal nature."

More Optimistic View.

Associates of Mr. Mellon have reported that he has taken a more optimistic view of the economic situation this summer, but he declined to discuss his views.

The appearance of both Mr. Mellon and Mr. Mills caused considerable comment, inasmuch as it followed so closely the visit to New York over the week-end of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, who was the guest of George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

Mr. Norman had left for Bar Harbor, Me., and Mr. Harrison for a brief trip West, before Mr. Mills and Mr. Mellon arrived, however.

"Personal Matters."

Mr. Mills appeared to be closing a busy day when reached at his private New York office, he said he had not seen Mr. Mellon in New York, and that he had been occupied chiefly with personal matters before leaving for Saratoga Springs tonight for a short vacation.

The Treasury Secertary added, however, that he had called briefly at the Federal Reserve Banks and lunched with two of its officials. He said they discussed, among other things, the Treasury financing on September 15.

At that time the Treasury will offer new securities to meet more than $700,000,000 in maturing certificates and to raise additional funds for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The total amount to be raised is placed at around $1,000,000,000.

BOTH PARTIES BACK DRY LAW IN KANSAS

Democrats Call State Policy "Traditional" and G.O.P. Echoes Curtis.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Declarations against prohibition repeal were written into the Democratic and Republican State platforms at the meetings of the Kansas party councils here today.

Gov. Harry H. Woodring, nominee for reelection and a supporter of the presidential candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, read the Democratic platform, which was adopted with this prohibition plank:

"We reaffirm our adherence to the traditional Kansas policy of prohibition. We will oppose all attempts to weaken this law and pledge the strict enforcement of this and all other laws."

The Republican prohibition plank echoed the stand of Vice President Charles Curtis, who voiced his opposition to repeal in his recent acceptance address here. It reads:

"The Republican party of Kansas adheres to its established policy of strict and impartial law enforcement and prohibition of the liquor traffic. We are opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

The Republicans indorsed the administration of President Hoover and Vice President Curtis.

In touching on agriculture the Republican platform recommended "any practicable legislation to help secure an American price for American agriculture." The Democratic plank demands "removal of the high tariff barriers which have destroyed the foreign markets for our agricultural products" and "an effective marketing policy providing for disposition of crop surpluses without depressing the domestic market to the world price level."

Frank Carlson, of Concordia, who directed the successful primary campaign of Alfred M. Landon for the gubernatorial nomination, was named chairman of the Republican State committee to succeed John Hamilton, of Topeka.

Wyoming G.O.P. Names Weston for Governor

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Harry R. Weston, of Jackson, State treasurer, won Wyoming's Republican gubernatorial nomination by a margin of 272 votes over A. M. Clark, acting governor, the State canvassing board announced today after completing its count of votes cast in the primary election August 16.

DUNCAN CONVICTED IN MISUSE OF FUNDS

poll. They also balloted three times in agreeing on the penalty.

Duncan faces two other indictments—one charging the felonious misuse of $4,450, and the other the felonious misuse of $66,761. These cases are scheduled for the October term of court. His bond on these charges is $5,000.

Apparently confused on certain points, the veniremen twice filed back into the crowded courtroom and asked for additional instructions from Judge McCarthy.

On the first occasion the foreman asked the judge whether a court order of April 2, 1932, should govern the jurors in reaching a verdict or whether they should be guided by the judge's final instruction.

The order, signed by Judge McCarthy, directed that Duncan deposit in the First National Bank of Alexandria the $7,815 he is accused of misusing. The instruction was that the law did not require Duncan to keep the money in any certain bank and that he should be acquitted if there was a reasonable doubt of his having the money.

Although it was the duty of Duncan to deposit the money, according to Judge McCarthy, the fact that he failed to do so did not in itself constitute a misappropriation. However, the judge said, if the jury believed there was an embezzlement the nonpayment of the money on the order should be considered with the other evidence.

The second time the jury asked the judge how much time Duncan was allowed on the order to deposit the money. He replied, "a reasonable time," and added that the jury was the sole judge of what was a reasonable time.

The defense closed its case dramatically. Attorneys Amos A. Crounse and Leo P. Harlow waived final argument. This action followed the final speech of Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas. It automatically eliminated rebuttal speech of the prosecution, which was to have been made by Collins Denny, jr., Assistant States Attorney General.

Harlow told newspaper men they did not argue because of the heat and that they thought the jury would appreciate that. Crounse had walked to the front of the courtroom, apparently ready to begin summing up the defense's case. Judge McCarthy granted a recess. When recess was over, Crounse said there would be no argument.

Douglas carefully went through the prosecution's testimony in his address, saying that State's testimony showed there were not sufficient funds in Duncan's bank account to cover a $7,815 payment made him by the State of Virginia.

U. S. FLEET MOVES CAUSE TOKYO QUIZ

Uchida Tells Diet Concentration in Pacific Is No Affair of Japan.

Tokyo, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The government was asked by a member of the Diet today whether Japan intended to do anything about the "concentration of the American Navy in the Pacific."

Baron Uchida, the foreign minister, replied that he saw no reason why Tokyo should request Washington to explain its fleet dispositions or should take any official notice of them.

The American fleet was one of several questions affecting foreign relations which were brought up in the Diet session. Another was the world-wide censure of Japan's course of action in Manchuria, which culminated in the establishment of the new state of Manchukuo.

"As for Manchukuo," Baron Uchida said, "Japan is confronted with an unprecedented opposition of world opinion, nevertheless we are determined to follow the course already fixed in the face of all opposition. The government is doing its utmost through our diplomats abroad to improve world feeling toward Japan, but thus far we can admit no optimism."

The baron assured another questioner that the government had no intention of turning over the Kwantung leased territory, which includes Dairen and Port Arthur, to Manchukuo after the new state had been formally recognized by Tokyo.

A member inquired whether the army would not use the "right of self-defense" in solving the problem of Jehol, the province just west of Manchuria. The war department has denied having any plans to invade Jehol.

The questioner was informed that in view of the international relations involved, the Japanese army has no intention of taking drastic action in Jehol in the near future, but Manchukuo might use its own forces to protect its own interests there.

In response to another query, the naval minister said the navy was considering the advisability of reestablishing the Port Arthur naval base to protect Japanese and Korean fisheries and also to prevent piracy. A secondary naval base was maintained at Port Arthur until 1924.

(Associated Press.)

Chinese officials at Nanking contend that petroleum has tempted Japanese armies into Manchuria and is attracting them into Jehol Province.

They say that explorations of oil deposits made by Russian engineers in the employ of the Chinese government have shown that Heilungkiang Province, the northwestern portion of Manchuria, has a rich oil belt which extends southward across Jehol Province and southwestward into Shansi Province.

VAST WORK OF THE R. F. C.

In his comprehensive broadcast review of the widespread distribution of financial relief by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Director Jesse H. Jones gave a stirring picture of that organization's vital work. He performed a valuable service in making known in such frank detail the methods and aims of the corporation, which has placed the resources of the Government behind the financial structure of the country.

Too often the residents of the Capital, in daily sight and hearing of all the operations of Government agencies, fail to appreciate the importance of giving the great national audience information regarding these operations. The influence of the R. F. C. has been felt in every State of the Union, and without question it has been the most powerful weapon conceivable in combatting depression stagnation and fear.

According to Mr. Jones the R. F. C. had approved, up to August 27, 7,400 loans, resulting in a total distribution of $1,336,000,000. This means that the corporation did a business of $7,500,000 a day from its inception on February 2. Of this amount $730,963,000 was loaned to 4,286 banks; $79,476,000 was advanced to 633 building and loan associations; and $241,000,000 to 49 railroads, besides loans to agricultural credit corporations, Federal land banks, etc. Of the bank loans 69.7 per cent have gone to towns of less than 5,000 population. These figures do not include more than 507,000 individual seed loans to farmers that have been made through the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. Jones says it is his firm belief that "by judicious handling of this vast amount of money and credit placed at the disposal of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—taken in connection with the rehabilitation program of both Government and private initiative—business can be got under way, employment started and an exceedingly tragic era ended."

NO VITAL TRADE CHANGES.

The first enthusiastic comments on the results of the British empire trade conference at Ottawa are giving way to calmer consideration of actual accomplishment. The Conservatives in England are, of course, extolling the trade agreements as of immense value to Britain, but the Labor party points to the danger of increased living costs as a consequence of diverting trade from reciprocal customers. George Lansbury, Labor leader in the House of Commons, contends that the Ottawa conference was a failure "because it failed to create new business and new industries." He argues that taking trade from one country and giving it to another will not solve economic problems. The Canadian negotiations had merely aimed to divert business from one channel to another. England will gain primarily to the extent that dominion purchases, particularly from the United States, can be switched to British products, but the prospect of offsetting loss of trade from countries thus prejudiced by the new arrangements is disturbing.

The original exaggerated estimates of vast trade readjustments are being scaled down very materially. The trade value to England of the tariff concessions wrested from Canada may not reach $20,000,000 annually, and as the trade gains from the other agreements are not extensive, the total new business that British factories may obtain will hardly amount to $40,000,000.

The Canadian Conservatives gain grace with the farming element through the concessions secured in Great Britain for wheat, fruit, dairy and other agricultural products. On the other hand, Canadian manufacturers look with apprehension at a competitive tariff. In the promised surrender of the system of arbitrary valuation of imports they suffer a distinct loss.

By omitting all mention of Russia in the Anglo-Canadian anti-dumping agreement its application to other nations is left open. Argentina has probably been as great an offender as the Soviet in dumping wheat. Meat concessions to Canada, Australia and South Africa also tread on the trade toes of Argentina. That great consumer of British goods may be expected to enforce retaliatory measures. What is gained by increased British sales to Canada if the United States takes over Britain's Argentine trade?

All the compromises tentatively agreed to at Ottawa have yet to be accepted by the various parliaments, and it is by no means certain that favorable action will ensue. Another feature of the conference agreements is that if ratified they virtually tie up the trade and tariff policies of the empire nations for five years, thus making British and dominion participation in the forthcoming international economic conference something of a farce. When the results of the Ottawa parley are finally evaluated it is quite clear that they will offer no serious blow to American export trade. Losses in one country will be compensated by gains in another.

KING COTTON SMILES.

Every one cent rise per pound in the price of cotton adds $100,000,000 to the wealth of the United States. When the present crop is harvested there will be approximately 20,000,000 bales in this country for sale. Since the low record of June the price of cotton has risen 4 cents, or $20 a bale. Therefore, it is not difficult to figure that in two months the cotton raisers and holders have been made $400,000,000 richer.

The sensational advance of cotton by nearly $3 a bale in the closing session of the market last week was the result of heavy buying which reflected the prospects of the shortest cotton crop in ten years. This week starts out with a continued rise in price and heavy purchases. Cotton appears determined to take the lead in the commodity advance and will hearten the South, as the rise in grain and live stock values has cheered the farmers of the central and western States.

These increases come at a time when they will distribute better prices among producers where they will do the most good. The new values added to farm prices by the increases registered in the last 60 days have already contributed much more than a billion dollars to prospective incomes, and there is reason to believe that further advances will be made before crops are harvested and ready for market.

IF NOT SALOONS, WHAT?

> It is suggested that unless saloons are restored the Federal Government must establish "dispensaries," and assume full responsibility for the sale of intoxicants of all kinds. If a man should buy whisky at one of these stores and get drunk, would it be possible for another branch of the same Government to arrest and fine him for it?

Many citizens are wondering how liquor will be dispensed if the States repeal the eighteenth amendment and legalize the liquor traffic with saloons barred. The Canadian system is suggested. The provinces provide for the sale of liquor in bottles by government stores. A limit is placed upon purchases by an individual, and he is not allowed to drink liquor on the premises. The liquor is supposed to be pure. Drunkenness is a misdemeanor.

If the States should decide to control the retail sale of liquor, as a means of preventing restoration of saloons, something resembling the Canadian system probably would be necessary. But in any event there would be no paradox in the official sale of liquor and the punishment of an individual for drunkenness. The use, and not the abuse, of liquor would be permitted by law.

THE FIREMEN'S PARADE.

Enthusiastic public support should be given the firemen's annual parade, which will roll up Pennsylvania avenue next Monday. The annual baseball game between the police and fire departments will be played the following Saturday, September 10, in the Washington American League baseball park, and every business man and home owner in the National Capital should be the purchaser of tickets. The game has been the one appeal made to the public annually by the two departments. Actuated by a generous and inspiring spirit the departments this year will turn the proceeds over to the District Commissioners, to be expended for the relief of unemployed bona fide residents of Washington. It is to be hoped that public patronage will be generous.

The firemen's parade had its inception in the enthusiasm of the firemen in advertising the annual baseball game. It began with a few firemen riding about the downtown streets, clanging the bells of one or two old hose wagons, and appealing to passersby to purchase baseball tickets. The parade attracted such favorable public notice that it grew with rapidity, under the approval of Fire Chief George S. Watson and the direct management of Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, parade marshal. It now attracts national notice. In the last parade there were fire companies from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and North Carolina. Thousands of visitors came to see it.

This year, for the first time, the police will participate in the parade. Civic and other organizations have participated in growing numbers. Growing annually in interest and novelty, Washington's firemen's parade is not only a unique spectacle, but is of value in stimulating the civic spirit of the National Capital.

"PEACE VETERANS."

The battle for the bonus has resulted in a book from the pen of a veteran. Roger Burlingame, First Lieutenant in the 308th Machine Gun Battalion of the A. E. F., who saw service in the Meuse-Argonne, is the author. His book will not appeal particularly to the members of the B. E. F. who were recently encamped in Washington, nor, indeed, to all the members of the American Legion, to whom it is more particularly addressed.

Mr. Burlingame speaks some very plain words to his former buddies. He thinks veteran demands have become a racket and that the bonus lobby in Washington is a scandal. He calls upon Legion members to renounce unjust demands. There is no lack of sympathy for comrades disabled in the World War, and the author expresses full appreciation of everything that is done for their care and comfort.

This author, however, joins the rising tide of protest against the ever increasing number of pensioners on the rolls whose disabilities are not a consequence of service in war. He places the blame for bonus agitation on Congress and on "the executive and legislative steam rollers of the Legion and kindred societies."

"A part of the American Legion," says Mr. Burlingame, "has got us into the mire. The whole of the Legion must pull us out." The author not only condemns the growing demands of those who suffered no war injuries, but also abuses which he describes as "the "officer racket," and the "widows and orphans racket." He approves the program of redistribution of appropriations for veterans proposed by the National Economy League, which would save annually $450,000,000 and yet provide all necessary help.

NECESSITY AS TEACHER.

It is astounding that two serious droughts and a major depression were necessary to bring home to many Americans certain plain truths about economical living. Everywhere and in all walks of life family budgets have been cut, often with a net gain in real contentment. Many have discovered that a cabin in the mountains or a cottage by the sea may be found as enjoyable as a trip to Europe.

Two years ago when the prolonged dry spell in south-central States brought a shortage even of foodstuffs for great numbers of farmers, Red Cross agents performed a labor of love throughout the distressed area. Not only was direct help advanced, but of permanent importance was the distribution of seeds and instructions given for the planting and care of gardens. It was remarkable that so many farmers had paid little or no attention to the savings and comforts of kitchen gardens.

The next year the northwest suffered a similar calamity from major crop failures, and there the same help was extended in making gardens, which largely supplied fundamental needs. Not only were green vegetables provided, but proper instruction enabled housewives to lay up canned supplies for months. Innumerable households were benefited. It was surprising to find so many farms where the possibilities of the garden were so little appreciated.

The planting of gardens has not been confined to rural districts. Many city and village residents have found room to plant vegetables. Community movements have helped to provide plots for thousands to cultivate. Gardens have helped amazingly to tide over hard times.

The chairman of the United States Steel Corporation explained the other day the relief measures that have been put into effect by his company during the last two years. In addition to the provisions for spreading employment, credit extensions and various kinds of welfare work, the importance of the garden was not overlooked. Every one of the 230,000 employes who expressed the desire to raise his own vegetables was provided with a garden plot. In all 73,000 have taken advantage of the offer. They are cultivating more than 12,000 acres of land, and have raised products worth nearly $2,000,000.

This corporation has provided skilled instructors in the gardens and also canning and cooking instructors who have gone into the homes of the steel-mill communities to help housewives in matters of daily economy and conservation of foodstuffs. Amid all the trials and hard lessons of the depression some things have been learned by both rich and poor that will be of lasting value in their lives, even when prosperity returns.

THE DETECTION CLUB

From the Commonweal.

In any fair list of the problems which currently beset Western civilization, the growth of the detective story can not be omitted. The most unstrained, the least statistical, eye can see the difference that has come over the bookstore window and the lending library in the last two years, can discern that the proportions of subjects treated have altered so strangely that, instead of an outlay of biography and fiction salted by an occasional mystery thriller, there is an effect, at least—as in the case of the sea—of nothing but salt. In referring to this growth as a problem, let us hasten to say it is not these proportions we deprecate, but rather the quality of what goes to compose them. It is a healthier appetite, by far, to seek good, clean murder than certain types of debunking or back-stairs biography, or of realistic or sophisticated fiction. But with the increase of practitioners, the craft has certainly suffered. Too many airy fancies depending on death-rays and real ghosts are offered us instead of honestly planned crimes; and, much worse, too many stencilled detectives, each a threadbare copy of the other, and none of them capable of doing any real detecting.

It is with a thrill of pleasure, therefore, that we get wind of an organization whose purpose it is to rebuke these errances, and bring back the detective story to the field of real contrivance, fair play and hard work where it belongs. The club announces the three cardinal rules from which a good story never departs; the detective must not merely add to the atmosphere, but must do the work; the devices must not go outside the facts accepted by science; and the clews must be given the reader as fast as they come to the detective. As is meet, Mr. Chesterton, the father of one of the two great giants of modern detective fiction, is a member. The father of the other, unhappily, is dead. Would that he could return as he planned to do, poor soul! Here is a work that really needs him much more than the Society of Psychical Research.

DEAD SEA IS ALIVE.

The Dead Sea is not so dead after all. It is now yielding chemicals and fertilizers, according to the London News. Metaled motor roads, a new railway line, a smart up-to-date manufacturing plant and diving suits especially weighted to sink the wearers into the heavily salted water are all conspiring to bring this sea of biblical fame into the snotlight of the twentieth century. Potassium chloride, promine and common and magnesium salts are among the products which the operating company will seek and exploit. The plant now employs about 300 workmen, who live in concrete houses specially constructed to offset the terrific heat of this semitropical depression lying 1,300 feet below sea level. They are equipped with electricity, ice-making facilities and a community kitchen, and are having no labor troubles.

The Compass Made by Man May Go Wrong, but the Pole Star Never Fails

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN the earth cooled and became a suitable habitation for warm-blooded animals, man appeared to inherit it.

Man was a part of some eternal plan—a necessary unit in some scheme of development. His destiny was to grow, as all things in nature do, and to improve himself generation after generation until he attained ultimate perfection.

Obviously his first duty was to reproduce himself, else the scheme would fail. The first command he received, according to the Bible story, was to be fruitful and multiply.

But that duty was too important to be entrusted to man's willingness to obey. It was safeguarded by means of an instinctive urge—an urge so compelling that reason itself was unable to stand against it.

Here, then, was a grave danger. An urge so powerful and so completely selfish might result in endless turmoil and strife and thus defeat the purpose for which it was given.

But man was given a second urge to control and modify the first. The second was an urge to do right—to do the thing that is just, reasonable, expedient, fair and wise.

This second urge, you will say, was a product of reason. But it was an instinctive urge that prompted man to reason, just as the capacity inherent in an acorn prompts it to become an oak.

Man's instinctive urges are the reins that guide him and keep him true to the divine plan when reason fails.

He is driven by an urge to fight, for it is necessary to preserve himself from enemies that would destroy him. But again an urge necessary to perpetuate his species is held in check by the urge to do right, and he fights willingly only to defend himself or serve the cause of justice.

He feels an urge to please a Supreme Being, and thus obtains his greatest incentive to avoid the evils that would destroy him.

He feels an urge to roam, and thus prevents the inbreeding that would weaken his race.

He feels an urge to win renown, to gain, to adventure, to escape danger, to learn, to surpass his fellows. And every urge contributes to his welfare and his advancement.

You need not be afraid of your urges. They are more trustworthy than reason. Held in check by the urge to do right, they keep you in harmony with the plan of the universe.

Gov. Roosevelt at Seagirt.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Governor Roosevelt has never been more direct and effective in utterance than he was in addressing the impressive gathering at Seagirt on Saturday. Governor Moore and Mayor Hague provided a tremendous audience and the Democratic candidate responded with a speech that struck a popular chord.

By confining himself to the subject of prohibition the governor was able to polish off the Republicans to the taste of New Jersey. Without any help from him, the Democratic convention carved a wonderfully potent weapon in its straightforward repeal plank. It is by far the strongest vote-getting implement devised for Eastern soil, and Governor Roosevelt made good use of it.

Votes for Theodore.

Commercial Bulletin.

Theodore Roosevelt was a Republican and the present candidate for the Presidency is a Democrat. Some people even suggested that the political honors that have come to him are due in part to the popularity and prestige won by another man with the same surname. Next November there will perhaps be voters in the North as well as in the South still voting, as they suppose, for Theodore Roosevelt.

Never Forgotten.

Boston Transcript.

It is said the Democrats will ask the "forgotten man" for funds, which goes to show that he is never forgotten when somebody passes the hat.

There can't be too much confidence in either camp if the Republicans are claiming Maine and Garner keeps claiming Texas.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Big Row.

Boston Globe.

Garner Plays Ball.

Springfield Republican.

If Mr. Garner had to write a long letter of acceptance for publication, he has made a very fair job of it from his party's standpoint. One of his partisan merits is that he plays ball with his captain—that is, he does not take pains to say wherein he differs from Gov. Roosevelt. At party headquarters the letter must be viewed as an encouraging evidence of harmony between the head and the tail of the ticket.

The Bonus Danger.

New York Times.

It is no longer possible to doubt that the national convention of the American Legion will overwhelmingly demand the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus. One State after another has been declaring for it.

Here we have a rising public danger with which no time should be lost in dealing. President Hoover's stand is already known and will not be changed. If he is reelected the demand for payment of the bonus at once will be rejected. Gov. Roosevelt must be conscious of the equal obligation resting upon him to do something to stay this mounting peril to our national finances and out national morale.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Business Improves Because of Prospect of "Speedy Dismissal" of Hoover and Prohibition," Says Idahoan.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The reason why the Democratic repeal plank will act as a referendum on prohibition is that it is becoming pretty well understood that the Republicans won't lift their little finger to do anything about prohibition. If elected, they will let things muddle along as at present. Hoover's acceptance speech makes that as clear as day.

There has been an improvement in business of late. Why? The country already breathes a sigh of relief at the prospect of the speedy dismissal of Hoover and prohibition. The breeze of that sigh of relief is filling the sails of industry.

Sylvan Theater Programs Delightful, but Marred by Noisy and Restless Persons.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As a visitor this summer to your enchanting city I have availed myself of the opportunity to be entertained by the unusual programs that have been given at the Sylvan Theater. Each time the program has been one of merit, deserving the respectful attention of all who spread themselves on the green grass of the spacious theater. But each time there have been present people who evidently came only to annoy others. Not capable of enjoying the programs themselves, they proceeded to talk, giggle, squirm, move around, laugh and be nuisances generally. The night "Pinafore" was sung I moved three times, trying to find an appreciative group, but I didn't succeed.

In the wild hills of my native Kentucky I would expect rowdyism and could condone it to an extent, but here in cultured Washington I hardly expected to find so many rude people in a refined setting.

Soft Drink Sellers Butt in at Crucial Moment in Ball Games, Causing Fans Acute Distress.

The only legitimate noises at a ball game are the cheers and razz and sometimes the groans of the cash customers. I wish you would publish this letter as the protest of a loyal fan against an intolerable baseball nuisance.

Appreciation of Army, Navy and Marine Bands — Musicians Owe Them a Debt.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I want to enter my protest against the protests of those who object to the Marine Band playing on the occasion of the notification of President Hoover of his nomination. The musicians of this city owe an incalculable debt to the Army, Navy and Marine bands. They furnish more real music and do more to cultivate the taste for the best in music than any other single influence in Washington. There are few other programs of such uniform excellence. Every lover of music and every professional musician should recognize our debt to these fine organizations. If we can not pay our debts the least we can do is to acknowledge them.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

SUNRISE.

Upon a restless bed I tossed, fullfretted by the thought of care,
And since sweet sleep refused to come, I rose to breathe the morning air.
I threw the window curtain up and though I looked with weary eyes
Upon the anxious-hearted world, I saw the golden sun arise.

Out of their nests the song birds came to sing the joy of life on earth.
Few men were yet awake to groan and grumble o'er their petty woes,
And I could find no sign of care or sorrow as the sun arose.

I watched the summer day begin, and thought, "'Tis strange 'till men awake
No sign disturbs the peace of dawn; all other creatures seem to take
A rapturous delight from life, despite the ills which they must bear.
Then should not man be just as brave as is that songbird singing there?"

(Associated Press.)

Representative LaGuardia, of New York, has written to all members of the House asking how they would vote at the coming short session of Congress on modification of the Volstead laws and repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The letter asks specifically if the members would vote for measures to accomplish these changes if the forthcoming election indicates the next House will be preponderantly wet. LaGuardia's letter assured his colleagues he would treat their replies as confidential if they desired.

SNOWSTORMS COVER PARTS OF 4 STATES

Vacationists Are Marooned in Utah as Heavy White Coat Hides Rockies.

Denver, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—One of the earliest snows in years whitened the higher reaches of the Rocky Mountains today in four States—Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana. Normal weather prevailed in the lower altitudes.

A foot and a half of snow blanketed some sections of the Wasatch Mountains in Utah. A party of Salt Lake vacationists was snowbound at Mirror Lake, southeast of Salt Lake, and had to await the clearing of snow from roads before attempting a return home.

A general snowstorm in northwestern Colorado laid a 1-inch covering in Hot Sulphur Springs, Mount Harris and Steamboat Springs. The storm in that section lasted four hours, but much of the snow melted shortly after it touched the ground.

The Two-Gwo-Tee Pass, on the Continental Divide in Wyoming, near Lander, was covered with 2 inches of snow that fell after a heavy rain. This snow, first of the season, came a month ahead of the usual time. There were snow flurries in western Wyoming, extending from Rawlins almost into Salt Lake City. The snow over this area was accompanied by near-freezing temperatures.

In Yellowstone Park and on the mountain elevations of Montana, snow ranging from one-half inch to 1.8 inches was recorded. Yellowstone Park rangers said this was the first snow there in August since 1887.

"I'm just a traveling man," he remarked, "and don't want Robert Joseph to grow up and lead a life like his father." Heifetz was in South Africa when the boy was born, June 27. He is going to Los Angeles immediately to be "formally introduced," he said.

Baby AND THE Milkman
GO INTO CONFERENCE

Baby: I like you, Mr. Milkman. Every day you come to my house with a bottle of that nice milk that tastes so good.

Chevy Chase Dairy Milkman: Yes, it must taste very, very good, because it's made extra rich and wholesome just for you.

Baby: I think I'd like the cows that give it.

C. C. D. M.: Indeed you would. They're gentle and clean, and browse all day long in sunny clover fields. That's why their milk tastes so sweet and creamy.

C. C. D. M.: He's right. We want all you babies in Washington to have the freshest milk.

Baby: Mother says I can have as much of it as I want. She says I must always have the best. That's why she asked you to leave a quart for me every day.

CAMPAIGN ALICE IN WONDERLAND.

THE Herb was shining on the sea,
Shining with all his might;
He did his very best to make
The breakers smooth and light—
And this was hard because it was
A wild and blowy night.

The Franklin shone quite sulkily
Because he thought the Herb
Had got no business to be there
With sunshine so superb;
"It's very rude of you," he said,
"The darkness thus to curb."

The Herb was wet as wet could be,
The Charlie he was not;
You could not see the party's plan—
They were so far apart;
The voters sighed and shook their heads
For they were very hot.

The Herbert and the Akerson
Were walking close at hand;
They wept like anything to see
The Curtis on the sand;
"If he were only cleared away,"
They said, "it would be grand."

"If seven Binghams took their mops
And swept here for a year,
Do you supose" the Hoover said,
"That they could get it clear?"
"I doubt it," said the Akerson,
And shed a bitter tear.

"Oh, voters, come and walk with us,"
The Hoover did beseech;
"A pleasant walk, a pleasant talk,
Along the sandy beach;
It's wetter than it seems to be—
Come try it, I beseech."

The eldest voter looked at him,
But never a word he said;
The eldest voter winked his eye
And shook his heavy head—
Meaning to say that he did choose
To wait a while instead.

The Hoover and the Akerson
Walked on a mile or so,
And then they made a little speech
Upon the radio;
And all the little voters stood
And listened in a row.

"The time has come," the Hoover said,
"To talk of many things—
Of reconstruction boards, of loans,
And economic swings—
And why the market now is up
And whether stocks have wings."

"But wait a bit," the voters cried,
"Before we have our chat;
For all of us are pretty broke
And some of us are flat."
"No hurry," said the Akerson—
They thanked him much for that.

"A little faith," the Hoover said,
"Is what we chiefly need;
Some confidence and patience, too,
Are very good, indeed;
The turn is just around the bend'
Should be the voter's creed."

"Hold on!" the Roosevelt did cry,
"The fellow lacks a plan!
Beware the views that he concocts
Along the Rapidan!
I think you'd rather hear a talk
On 'The Forgotten Man!'"

"It was so good of you to come
And you are very nice,"
The voters said, "but do not cut
For us another slice;
If you were clearer we'd not have
To listen to you twice."

"I weep for you," the Franklin said,
"My sympathies are with
The folks who hear a campaign talk
And do not get the pith;
You act to me as if you had
Been talking to Al Smith."

"Oh voters," said both candidates,
"Our talks you can't surpass;
Would you mind stating which of us
You think possesses class?"—
They answered not, because, you see,
They all were dead of gas.

Mate of Late Aerial Queen Will Wed Again

St. Louis, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Alfredo Codona, husband of the late Lillian Leitzel, aerial queen of the circus who was fatally injured during a performance in Copenhagen a year and a half ago, has announced he will marry again—and, as before, his bride will be a circus performer.

Codona, himself a trapeze artist of the sawdust ring, has made known his engagement to Vera Bruce, a somersaulting performer in his troupe, and who was a protege of Miss Leitzel. The wedding, Codona announced, would be at the end of the present circus season.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A SHADOW-BY-SHADOW description of the eclipse of the sun, as viewed by observers in the path of totality, has been arranged by the National Broadcasting Co. networks and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The N. B. C. plans call for a broadcast from a special observation tower with telescope constructed on the roof of the Hotel Randall in North Conway. From this point Charles O'Connor, announcer, will interview Allen Broms, scientific lecturer, and both will communicate by short-wave with George Hicks, another announcer, and John Wells, pilot of the autogyro, who will describe the event from 10,000 feet overhead (WRC, 3:15 p. m.)

A two-way short-wave set will be installed in the autogyro and in the observation tower, and the conversations will be broadcast. Hicks, with Wells, will take off in the autogyro from the Glen House airport and will remain at an altitude of approximately 10,000 feet during the period of totality. The arrangements for the broadcast from the autogyro were made through the facilities of the American Radio Relay League, national amateur radio society.

The WJZ network (WBAL, Baltimore) will broadcast the observations of Dr. A. S. Eve, dean of the faculty of graduate studies and research, McGill University, who will be stationed at a point near Magog, Quebec. An other party will be on the roof of McGill University, while Mary Proctor, daughter of the British astronomer and herself an authority on the subject, will describe the event from an airplane.

THREE distinct phases of the solar eclipse will be described by James Stokley, of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, from Conway, over a coast-to-coast Columbia network.

The beginning of the phenomenon, when the moon first begins to pass between the earth and the sun, will be broadcast from 2:15 to 2:30 p. m. The second description will be broadcast from 3:20 to 3:35 p. m., during which time the eclipse will reach and pass totality. The third broadcast will be made from 4:15 to 4:30 p. m., as the eclipse approaches its final stages.

HOW the American broadcasting industry spends more than $75,000,000 annually to maintain its services to the public, including more than $20,000,000 for talent, will be discussed in Bill Schudt's "Going to Press" period on WMAL by Martin Codel, editor of Broadcasting Magazine and Washington newspaper syndicate writer. Codel will take the audience behind the scenes in the broadcasting industry in a talk on "This Business of Broadcasting."

How the total eclipse of the sun appears to Robert Shippee and Lieut. George R. Johnson, aerial explorers, as they fly 23,000 feet above the earth in the path of totality will be described for listeners to the Mobiloil Concert (WRC, 8:30 o'clock) tonight.

TITO GUIZAR, youthful Mexican tenor, will be heard in a recital of Spanish love songs during the broadcast over WMAL at 6:15 o'clock. Tito will open with a bolero, "Paginas de mi Vida" (Pages of My Life), to be followed by "I' Pesadore di Perls" (The Pearl Fisher); "Moon," an American melody; "Como que te Vas" As if You Were Going) and, finally, the Cuban rumba, "Mama, yo quiero un Novio" (Mamma, I want to be in love).

NEW AIR SPEED KING REACHES CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Jimmie Haizlip, new speed king of the national air races, tore in from New York at a 238-mile-on-hour gait today and plunged into predictions and plans for more and more speed.

Haizlip, his shirt wringing wet after his flight from New York, where he landed yesterday with a new transcontinental record of ten hours, nineteen minutes, mopped his brow and said the Atlantic and Pacific may possibly be brought within eight hours of each other next year.

"In the high speed trophy race Labor Day, I expect the winning speed to be near 260 miles," he said.

He will be one of the contestants, but said that first several minor adjustments would have to be made on his transnation speedster, including a different setting of the propeller, before he would try the four-way dash over a three-kilometer course.

Greeted by Mrs. Haizlip.

Mrs. Mae Haizlip, a noted pilot in her own right, was first on the field when her husband's powerful low wing monoplane roared to a landing. She greeted him with a kiss and then ducked under a wing of the plane when photographers closed in.

Congratulating Haizlip were Senator Hiram Bingham and Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam.

Aside from Haizlip's arrival, the Army was the center of attention at the races while the high-speed kings were grooming their mounts for annual assault to come later upon world marks.

Only one flier took to the air for the qualifying round for the Labor Day trophy race. He was Ben O. Howard, Chicago and Kansas City air-all pilot, who wheeled his little home-made monoplane out of its hangar and after a few warming-up circuits, whizzed two times each way over the 3-kilometer course for an average of 204.088 miles an hour.

His speed was good enough to qualify for the Thompson international free-for-all, but short of the world mark of 278.48 miles an hour which is expected to be broken this year.

Doolittle Grooms Craft.

Maj. James H. Doolittle, whose 1931 transcontinental record was broken yesterday by neighbor "Jim" Haizlip, did a "test hop" in his barrel-shaped red and white monoplane, but did not negotiate the 3-kilometer course.

Haizlip and Roscoe Turner, of Hollywood, Calif., both members of the team of James Wedell, of New Orleans, planned to try their mounts on the course later in the week.

Turner, who also beat Doolittle's time in the transcontinental dash yesterday but failed to equal Haizlip's speed, arrived from New York a few minutes after Haizlip.

Sixty-one planes of the United States Army First Pursuit group from Selfridge Field, Mich., gave the crowd a thrill with its maneuvers. The Seventeenth Pursuit Squadron led off with a simulated ground strafing attack on the business section of Cleveland. At the field the Twenty-seventh and Ninety-fourth Squadrons, with four bombers from Langley Field, Va., joined in the demonstration.

Chester Wins Mystery Derby.

Art Chester, of Joliet, Ill., brought his monoplane in ahead of ten other starters in the first division of a "mystery derby" in which the stops were unknown to the pilots until after they took off.

Stops were made at Willoughby, Ashtabula, Conneaut, Youngstown, East Liverpool, New Philadelphia, Canton and Akron, all in Ohio.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

TAKE IT FROM THE SCREEN STARS—DON'T WORRY!

A DELIGHTFUL physician, with whom it was my pleasure to study some years ago, once exclaimed: "Study health and hygiene, yes! but be a beauty crusader! It is easier to do a good deed for humanity, and particularly for women by appealing to their sense of the beautiful than simply by warning them to safeguard their health."

No doubt that theory is sound. It is also true that the majority of women play "follow the leader" so far as the screen stars are concerned. Which is as it should be, for the silver sheet leaders have to live sane, healthy, beautiful lives, otherwise they crack under the strain of work and worry.

I hope that every woman reading this column will follow the wise advice of every health and beauty authority in the world, for all agree on one thing, that worry is the worst enemy of them all.

I asked Claudette Colbert what beauty message she would like to give readers—something encouraging and inspirational—and she said simply, "Keep worry and discontent from your minds, for it will some day show in your face."

And charming Bette Davis, about whom I have already written in detail, said, "In addition to the more usual warnings about getting plenty of sleep, eating carefully, eliminating too many rich foods and starches from the diet, and putting in lots of vegetables, all I can say is, 'Dont worry!'"

There's nothing as bad as worry for destroying beauty. It gives you lines, a sour expression, whether you are conscious of letting it show in your face or not. If your face already shows signs of this, try relaxing completely several times a day for ten minutes at a time, gently smoothing the face in an upward and outward motion with the fingertips, using a cold cream. That will work wonders to soothe both your face and your feelings and take away the tenseness that draws up your skin and makes it grow old.

Learn the Value of Relaxation.

Every one of the screen stars has had to learn the value of relaxation. Many of them wisely sleep all worry away. If any readers feel that fate has smiled upon these luminaries and that they have nothing to worry about, let me hasten to assure you that they really are thoroughly human, that their day has its ups and downs, that they have their emotions, their grievances, and fortune often frowns, even on Hollywood. It is always a case of the "survival of the fittest" there, and the ones who win are those who do not worry and do not let every little detail get under their skin and etch wrinkles there; they know "how to take it" and how to let go!

My list of health rules is a good list of beauty rules, too. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it—and be guided by it.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

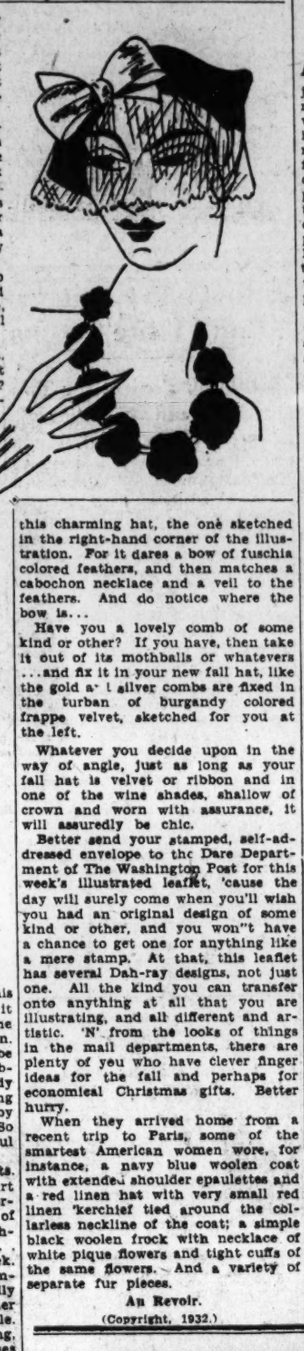
Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A bicorne line is evident in this winter hat with a bow knot of fuschia feathers which are matched by the veil, while the hat, in wine colored taupe is matched by the cabochon necklace. Below is a draped turban of frappe velvet in burgandy, with two dull gold and silver combs for ornaments placed at either side. (Selected on Fifth avenue.)



NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Well, if any one asks me what is new in fall hats, well...they'd just better not. Because that's what shuts fashun crickets up in the nut house...an' no l.m.ks are appreciated from the side lines.

Will a hat be worn over the eyebrows? Yes. Will a hat be worn on the side? Yes. About the only place a hat won't be worn is on the back of the head, that is, for the moment. But who can tell when a famous elegante or a cinema star or even your humble truly will decide to perch a hat on her cerebellum ,and thereby set a style?

Meanwhile, if you are the type, tip tilt your hat over your eyebrows and be modish. If you aren't this type, tip tilt it over on ear, and you will be every bit as stylish.

And consider ruby red, in hats. Lives there a female who has not secretly yearned to wear a red hat? Awaiting only the stamp of mode authenticity for the indulgence of this secret passion. Well, a red hat, if it be ruby red, is yours for fall, with the undispute.. sanction of Dame Fashion.

Of velvet there is little more to be said...that velvet is the leading fabric for fall hats, I think you already know. And that velvet is flattering and elegant, and dearly loved by Miladi, I think you know ,too. So velvet while ye may, and be grateful to the mode for allowing you to.

And then a word about ribbon hats. Ribbon hats have never been as smart as this season. Little turbans, adorable berets, tight fitting cloches, all of ribbon, and all modish. And, sh-h-h-h-h, awfully easy to make . . . watch for more about th' next week.

Then as to trimming, if the trimming is well in the front, actually resting almost on the bridge of her nose, it is the latest...er, rinkle. Agnes sponsors this type of trimming, and I have sketched for you an Agnes model that has several style points, all its favor...one, the color, which is wine, and another, the material, which is taupe velvet. Still more has this charming hat, the one sketched in the right-hand corner of the illustration. For it dares a bow of fuschia colored feathers, and then matches a cabochon necklace and a veil to the feathers. And do notice where the bow is...

Have you a lovely comb of some kind or other? If you have, then take it out of its mothballs or whatevers ...and fix it in your new fall hat, like the gold a- l silver combs are fixed in the turban of burgandy colored frappe velvet, sketched for you at the left.

Whatever you decide upon in the way of angle, just as long as your fall hat is velvet or ribbon and in one of the wine shades, shallow of crown and worn with assurance, it will assuredly be chic.

Better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, 'cause the day will surely come when you'll wish you had an original design of some kind or other, and you won"t have a chance to get one for anything like a mere stamp. At that, this leaflet has several Dah-ray designs, not just one. All the kind you can transfer onto anything at all that you are illustrating, and all different and artistic. 'N' from the looks of things in the mail departments, there are plenty of you who have clever finger ideas for the fall and perhaps for economical Christmas gifts. Better hurry.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PYORRHEA.

A CORRESPONDENT wants an article on pyorrhea.

This is a very important subject, and it would be written about more often if there were more advances to discuss. It is far the most important dental subject and yet it receives a limited amount of study from research workers and practicing dentists—a trivial amount as compared with tooth decay. Of the teeth that are lost, a few are drawn because of decay, while, in comparison, pyorrhea causes the loss of hundreds. Even as a cause of arthritis, rheumatism, heart disease and neuritis, tooth decay is unimportant in comparison with pyorrhea.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums, the tissues that line the bony tooth sockets in the jaw, and, in its later stages, of the bony structure itself. As a rule, the first symptom the patient notices is the loosening of the tooth, though the key to the pyorrhea prevention problem is for people to recognize the slight redness and swelling of the gums which precedes by years looseness of the teeth. A still later symptom is oozing of pus up the side of the tooth from the tooth socket. Somewhere along the way between the slight redness and puffiness of the early stage and the oozing pus of the late stage the sufferer may notice that the gums are shrinking away from the teeth, and that the bony ridges that hold the teeth are being absorbed.

If anything is to be accomplished, a person should recognize early that pyorrhea has him, and will demand his teeth as a tribute unless he changes something and that without procrastination. Usually, the treatment of pyorrhea is not begun until the teeth are loose, and, maybe, pus is oozing. The effort then made is to clean the teeth and to anchor those that are loose that they may be retained as long as possible. In some cases this line of treatment does more harm than good. Teeth can be anchored with some success. Loose teeth can be retained for years. But in such advanced cases there is always considerable infection of the sockets and gums, and the chances are that we pay for keeping these very loose teeth with arthritis, rheumatism, neuritis and heart disease. Probably we would be better off if the loose teeth were sacrificed without delay and the attention concentrated on the gum areas in which pyorrhea was just beginning.

Our discontent with the research men is that they have not told us enough about the cause of that early stage—redness, looseness and softness of the gums, what causes it and what is to be done about it. So far as we can judge, it is caused by something constitutional. We get a similar appearance of the gums in scurvy. That results from prolonged use of a diet that is deficient in fruits and vegetables especially. It can be prevented by the continued use of a proper diet. It resembles the appearance of the gums in certain metallic poisonings, as, for instance, that due to calomel and other forms of mercury. In lead poisoning we have evidence that metals are prone to deposit in the gums.

It seems probable that mouth cleanliness will go further in preventing pyorrhea than it will in preventing tooth decay.

AIR-COOLED DINING ROOM.

L. A. writes: A group of eight of us went to lunch in an air-conditioned dining room in Chicago on July 21, after a morning conference on the twenty-first floor of a Loop building. There was not an artificial cooling device in the office. The temperature in the dining room was 64 degrees F. It was very pleasant. We had cold food and iced drinks. About 1:30 p. m. we left the dining room and walked three blocks back to the office. Within this short distance five of the eight men felt dizzy and nauseated. One was attacked with abdominal cramps and vomiting. I felt "light headed" and very apprehensive. The reaction was more psychic than physical. Four of the men went into a store and sat down for a while. The clerk said several people had been in in the last few days around noon with the same symptoms. The whole afternoon was lost from work. We all went home, mainly due to fear of the unknown. We did not know what would happen next. The temperature on the street was 102 degrees. The difference between the dining room and the street temperature was 38 degrees. Adaptation to the dining room temperature—that is, from the hot street to the cool air—was a pleasant sensation. The reverse action was decidely unpleasant, and, for people with impaired heart and circulation, it could have been serious.

REPLY.

We have had more than one similar complaint. It is possible to get too much of a good thing On a hot day the air in a conditioned room should be about 10 to 15 degrees below that of the outside. When it is cooled to a fixed temperature, some 30 degrees below that of the outside, some of the occupants of the room will suffer consequences.

Churches' Council Hits Social Order

New York, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America today made a sweeping attack on the present social order. The attack, denouncing the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few was contained in the council's annual Labor Sunday message.

"Religious prophets have always denounced the gross inequality between the incomes on the one hand of those who toil in factory, mine, farm and office and of those, on the other hand, who by inheritance, or privilege of ownership, or speculative investment derive an income not earned by actual service," the message said. "Inequality is a peril to the rich because it tempts them to a narrowing of their sympathies and a false scale of values."

Culbertson on Bridge

DON'T BE GREEDY.

"WHEN I was a boy in London, England," writes Mr. John W. Jacobson, of Toronto, Ontario, "it used to be said that there were approximately 20,000 children walking on the streets of that great city barefooted because their fathers would not lead trumps."

Whist has long since given way to Bridge to Auction and Auction to Contract, but human nature remains unchanged. None of us like to admit jeopardizing a sure game for a few overtricks, but there are few that have not been guilty when everything seemed to point to the safety of such a course. Perhaps in view of this general failing, the South player in the hand below is more deserving of sympathy than censure at the tragic outcome of the hand, which was played recently at the new Embassy Bridge Club in Toronto.

	♠ 7 5 ♡ K ◇ A J 10 5 ♣ Q J 10 8 7 2
♠ Q ♡ J 10 9 7 6 5 3 ◇ 8 7 4 2 ♣ 9	W N E S	♠ 8 6 2 ♡ 2 ◇ Q 9 6 3 ♣ A K 6 5 4
	♠ A K J 10 9 4 3 ♡ A Q 8 4 ◇ K ♣ 3

The final contract was four spades, played by South, and when the heart Knave was opened and the Dummy spread, South remarked:

"Too bad, partner; we didn't bid enough."

The heart King held and South proceeded to make, as he thought, all the tricks by playing a low diamond to the King with the object of ruffing the losing heart and discarding his only club on Dummy's Ace of Diamonds. Unfortunately for the consummation of this brilliant plan, East overruffed the second heart and laid down the Ace of clubs, on which West played the 9. A low club followed, ruffed by South with the spade 10 and overruffed by West with the lone Queen. Another heart was led by West, which gave East his second ruff.

"Oh, damn."

Today's Pointer.

In Contract Bridge, the first object of the Declarer should be to assure the fulfillment of the contract. Extra tricks, which carry with them a bonus of 50 points, are desirable when they can be obtained without risk, but are entirely valueless if, in order to make them, a chance of losing the hand is taken.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of the Washington Post, inclose a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF AUGUST 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:20 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:15 p. m., and from 7:20 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., and from 11:15 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Energizing influences are forecast for August 31, which may create both feelings of discontent and a desire to "get after" things. Caution required in business affairs, and a very careful reading and interpretation of legal papers before signing. Social affairs cause gossip.

The child born on this August 31 will be strongly afflicted with the wonderlust, which in latter life may be turned into the wanderlust. It will not be easily put off with simply "no" and "yes," but will demand details. It will have a slightly peppery temper and vivid emotions. Its imagination will be very active.

You do not rely, if born on August 31, on the power of so-called luck. You believe that the phrase made by a champion golf player after defeat, "It is always the man who plays the better golf who has the luck," applies to most things. Your rewards in life will be those of industry and merit. You do not want, and will not get, many things for nothing. Character, in your case, is the maker of your destiny. Your credit is good in more ways than one, and you will be a man or woman who enjoys the feeling of being trusted.

You drive down the fairways of life with care to avoid the misfortune of a bad lie. You do not get rattled by mishaps, and seldom get over-confident. You are not abnormally brilliant, but you are "sharp" where other people are in different or blind, and you do not swallow defeat easily. The frivolities of life do not strongly appeal to you—you are too staid to be playful. You never meddle in other people's business and few attempt to meddle in yours more than once. About your own affairs you are rather secretive, and there are many who wish that you would open up your heart a little more freely.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

If you have always looked on olives primarily as a sort of appetizer, particularly handy for picnics because they can be eaten from the fingers, but possibly a doubtful food for the younger children, it is time to revise your ideas, and give olives, both ripe and green, a place in your menus as a food of real value.

Both ripe and green olives contain abundant quantities of vitamin A, according to the Bureau of Home Economics, after completing a series of laboratory tests on several kinds of olives. Vitamin A is particularly important to our nutritive well-being, for it protects the body against a number of troublesome bacterial infections. It also stimulates growth and is necessary for well-being at all ages. Without a regular supply of vitamin A a person loses vitality and may develop infections in the eyes, sinuses, ears, glands of the mouth and throat, and in some instances in the kidneys and bladder. Foods having a yellow or green color are generally rich sources of this vitamin. About seven medium-sized olives will supply as much vitamin A as an eighth of a cup of whole milk or as a serving of the bleached lettuce leaves that usually appear in a salad.

There was a time when a careful mother snatched an olive away from a child who was experimenting with its taste. Nowadays she knows that there is nothing about olives to hurt children and much to benefit them. If the old saying "olives are an acquired taste" has any truth, by all means let them acquire the taste early. A little ingenuity in planning menus will result in many new ways of using both ripe and green olives. They are always good in sandwiches, especially when combined with cream or cottage cheese, with or without nuts. They add much to the three-decker club sandwiches of toast, lettuce, tomatoes, bacon and other meats. They give zest to almost any salad, and can be worked into various sauces and scalloped dishes.

Additional savings are made possible by the use of your small kitchen appliances when plugged into the outlet provided for that purpose on your Electric Range. This gives you the advantage of operating them at the 2c Cooking Rate.

2¢ (1 CENT) (1 CENT) Electricity for Cooking

ECONOMICAL

It costs very little to cook with Electricity. A survey of our many present Electric Range users shows that the average family pays less than $3 per month for current.

Too, when you cook with Electricity there is no flame to consume part of the food you are cooking. You cook only with heat and therefore food shrinkage is much less. You save a substantial amount on your food purchases.

If you value your time you may also add further savings because of the many more leisure moments which Electric Cookery makes possible. It saves time because pots and pans never need scouring; walls and curtains do not become soiled from soot or smoke and require very little cleaning; entire meals cook themselves even while you are away from home.

In this time of restricted household budgets, thrifty homemakers are solving their problems by installing modern, fast-cooking, economical Electric Ranges. Your electrical dealer will gladly give you further details and arrange convenient purchase terms.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

CAMPAIGN ALICE IN WONDERLAND.

THE Herb was shining on the sea,
Shining with all his might;
He did his very best to make
The breakers smooth and light—
And this was hard because it was
A wild and blowy night.

The Franklin shone quite sulkily
Because he thought the Herb
Had got no business to be there
With sunshine so superb;
"It's very rude of you," he said,
"The darkness thus to curb."

The Herb was wet as wet could be,
The Charlie he was not;
You could not see the party's plan—
They were so far apart;
The voters sighed and shook their heads
For they were very hot.

The Herbert and the Akerson
Were walking close at hand;
They wept like anything to see
The Curtis on the sand;
"If he were only cleared away,"
They said, "it would be grand."

"If seven Binghams took their mops
And swept here for a year,
Do you supose" the Hoover said,
"That they could get it clear?"
"I doubt it," said the Akerson,
And shed a bitter tear.

"Oh, voters, come and walk with us,"
The Hoover did beseech;
"A pleasant walk, a pleasant talk,
Along the sandy beach;
It's wetter than it seems to be—
Come try it, I beseech."

The eldest voter looked at him,
But never a word he said;
The eldest voter winked his eye
And shook his heavy head—
Meaning to say that he did choose
To wait a while instead.

The Hoover and the Akerson
Walked on a mile or so,
And then they made a little speech
Upon the radio;
And all the little voters stood
And listened in a row.

"The time has come," the Hoover said,
"To talk of many things—
Of reconstruction boards, of loans,
And economic swings—
And why the market now is up
And whether stocks have wings."

"But wait a bit," the voters cried,
"Before we have our chat;
For all of us are pretty broke
And some of us are flat."
"No hurry," said the Akerson—
They thanked him much for that.

"A little faith," the Hoover said,
"Is what we chiefly need;
Some confidence and patience, too,
Are very good, indeed;
The turn is just around the bend'
Should be the voter's creed."

"Hold on!" the Roosevelt did cry,
"The fellow lacks a plan!
Beware the views that he concocts
Along the Rapidan!
On 'The Forgotten Man!'"

"It was so good of you to come
And you are very nice,"
The voters said, "but do not cut
For us another slice;
If you were clearer we'd not have
To listen to you twice."

"I weep for you," the Franklin said,
"My sympathies are with
The folks who hear a campaign talk
And do not get the pith;
You act to me as if you had
Been talking to Al Smith."

"Oh voters," said both candidates,
"Our talks you can't surpass;
Would you mind stating which of us
You think possesses class?"—
They answered not, because, you see,
They all were dead of gas.

HELPING AL SMITH.

Mate of Late Aerial Queen Will Wed Again

St. Louis, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Alfredo Codona, husband of the late Lillian Leitzel, aerial queen of the circus who was fatally injured during a performance in Copenhagen a year and a half ago, has announced he will marry again—and, as before, his bride will be a circus performer.

Codona, himself a trapeze artist of the sawdust ring, has made known his engagement to Vera Bruce, a somersaulting performer in his troupe, and who was a protege of Miss Leitzel. The wedding, Codona announced, would be at the end of the present circus season.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A SHADOW-BY-SHADOW description of the eclipse of the sun, as viewed by observers in the path of totality, has been arranged by the National Broadcasting Co. networks and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The N. B. C. plans call for a broadcast from a special observation tower with telescope constructed on the roof of the Hotel Randall in North Conway. From this point Charles O'Connor, announcer, will interview Allen Broms, scientific lecturer, and both will communicate by short-wave with George Hicks, another announcer, and John Wells, pilot of the autogyro, who will describe the event from 10,000 feet overhead (WRC, 3:15 p. m.)

A two-way short-wave set will be installed in the autogyro and in the observation tower, and the conversations will be broadcast. Hicks, with Wells, will take off in the autogyro from the Glen House airport and will remain at an altitude of approximately 10,000 feet during the period of totality. The arrangements for the broadcast from the autogyro were made through the facilities of the American Radio Relay League, national amateur radio society.

The WJZ network (WBAL, Baltimore) will broadcast the observations of Dr. A. S. Eve, dean of the faculty of graduate studies and research, McGill University, who will be stationed at a point near Magog, Quebec. An other party will be on the roof of McGill University, while Mary Proctor, daughter of the British astronomer and herself an authority on the subject, will describe the event from an airplane.

THREE distinct phases of the solar eclipse will be described by James Stokley, of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, from Conway, over a coast-to-coast Columbia network.

The beginning of the phenomenon, when the moon first begins to pass between the earth and the sun, will be broadcast from 2:15 to 2:30 p. m. The second description will be broadcast from 3:20 to 3:35 p. m., during which time the eclipse will reach and pass totality. The third broadcast will be made from 4:15 to 4:30 p. m., as the eclipse approaches its final stages.

HOW the American broadcasting industry spends more than $75,000,000 annually to maintain its services to the public, including more than $20,000,000 for talent, will be discussed in Bill Schudt's "Going to Press" period on WMAL by Martin Codel, editor of Broadcasting Magazine and Washington newspaper syndictate writer. Codel will take the audience behind the scenes in the broadcasting industry in a talk on "This Business of Broadcasting."

How the total eclipse of the sun appears to Robert Shippee and Lieut. George R. Johnson, aerial explorers, as they fly 23,000 feet above the earth in the path of totality will be described for listeners to the Mobiloil Concert (WRC, 8:30 o'clock) tonight.

TITO GUIZAR, youthful Mexican tenor, will be heard in a recital of Spanish love songs during the broadcast over WMAL at 6:15 o'clock. Tito will open with a bolero, "Paginas de mi Vida" (Pages of My Life), to be followed by "I' Pesadore di Perls" (The Pearl Fisher); "Moon," an American melody; "Como que te Vas" As if You Were Going) and, finally, the Cuban rumba, "Mama, yo quiero un Novio" (Mamma, I want to be in love).

NEW AIR SPEED KING REACHES CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Jimmie Haizlip, new speed king of the national air races, tore in from New York at a 238-mile-on-hour gait today and plunged into predictions and plans for more and more speed.

Haizlip, his shirt wringing wet after his flight from New York, where he landed yesterday with a new transcontinental record of ten hours, nineteen minutes, mopped his brow and said the Atlantic and Pacific may possibly be brought within eight hours of each other next year.

"In the high speed trophy race Labor Day, I expect the winning speed to be near 260 miles," he said.

He will be one of the contestants, but said that first several minor adjustments would have to be made on his transnation speedster, including a different setting of the propeller, before he would try the four-way dash over a three-kilometer course.

Greeted by Mrs. Haizlip.

Mrs. Mae Haizlip, a noted pilot in her own right, was first on the field when her husband's powerful low wing monoplane roared to a landing. She greeted him with a kiss and then ducked under a wing of the plane when photographers closed in.

Congratulating Haizlip were Senator Hiram Bingham and Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam.

Aside from Haizlip's arrival, the Army was the center of attention at the races while the high-speed kings were grooming their mounts for annual assault to come later upon world marks.

Only one flier took to the air for the qualifying round for the Labor Day trophy race. He was Ben O. Howard, Chicago and Kansas City airmail pilot, who wheeled his little home-made monoplane out of its hangar and after a few warming-up circuits, whizzed two times each way over the 3-kilometer course for an average of 204.068 miles an hour.

His speed was good enough to qualify for the Thompson international free-for-all, but short of the world mark of 278.48 miles an hour which is expected to be broken this year.

Doolittle Grooms Craft.

Maj. James H. Doolittle, whose 1931 transcontinental record was broken yesterday by neighbor "Jim" Haizlip, did a "test hop" in his barrel-shaped red and white monoplane, but did not negotiate the 3-kilometer course.

Haizlip and Roscoe Turner, of Hollywood, Calif., both members of the team of James Wedell, of New Orleans, planned to try their mounts on the course later in the week.

Turner, who also beat Doolittle's time in the transcontinental dash yesterday but failed to equal Haizlip's speed, arrived from New York a few minutes after Haizlip.

Sixty-one planes of the United States Army First Pursuit group from Selfridge Field, Mich., gave the crowd a thrill with its maneuvers. The Seventeenth Pursuit Squadron led off with a simulated ground strafing attack on the business section of Cleveland. At the field the Twenty-seventh and Ninety-fourth Squadrons, with four bombers from Langley Field, Va., joined in the demonstration.

Chester Wins Mystery Derby.

Art Chester, of Joliet, Ill., brought his monoplane in ahead of ten other starters in the first division of a "mystery derby" in which the stakes were unknown to the pilots until after they took off.

Stops were made at Willoughby, Ashtabula, Conneaut, Youngstown, East Liverpool, New Philadelphia, Canton and Akron, all in Ohio.

By ELSIE PIERCE

TAKE IT FROM THE SCREEN STARS—DON'T WORRY!

A DELIGHTFUL physician, with whom it was my pleasure to study some years ago, once exclaimed: "Study health and hygiene, yes! but be a beauty crusader! It is easier to do a good deed for humanity, and particularly for women by appealing to their sense of the beautiful than simply by warning them to safeguard their health."

No doubt that theory is sound. It is also true that the majority of women play "follow the leader" so far as the screen stars are concerned. Which is as it should be, for the silver sheet leaders have to live sane, healthy, beautiful lives, otherwise they crack under the strain of work and worry.

I hope that every woman reading this column will follow the wise advice of every health and beauty authority in the world, for all agree on one thing, that worry is the worst enemy of them all.

I asked Claudette Colbert what beauty message she would like to give readers—something encouraging and inspirational—and she said simply, "Keep worry and discontent from your minds, for it will some day show in your face."

And charming Bette Davis, about whom I have already written in detail, said, "In addition to the more usual warnings about getting plenty of sleep, eating carefully, eliminating too many rich foods and starches from the diet, and putting in lots of vegetables, all I can say is, 'Dont worry!'"

There's nothing as bad as worry for destroying beauty. It gives you lines, a sour expression, whether you are conscious of letting it show in your face or not. If your face already shows signs of this, try relaxing completely several times a day for ten minutes at a time, gently smoothing the face in an upward and outward motion with the fingertips, using a cold cream. That will work wonders to soothe both your face and your feelings and take away the tenseness that draws up your skin and makes it grow old.

Learn the Value of Relaxation.

Every one of the screen stars has had to learn the value of relaxation. Many of them wisely sleep all worry away. If any readers feel that fate has smiled upon these luminaries and that they have nothing to worry about, let me hasten to assure you that they really are thoroughly human, that their day has its ups and downs, that they have their emotions, their grievances, and fortune often frowns, even on Hollywood. It is always a case of the "survival of the fittest" there, and the ones who win are those who do not worry and do not let every little detail get under their skin and etch wrinkles there; they know "how to take it" and how to let go!

My list of health rules is a good list of beauty rules, too. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it—and be guided by it.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

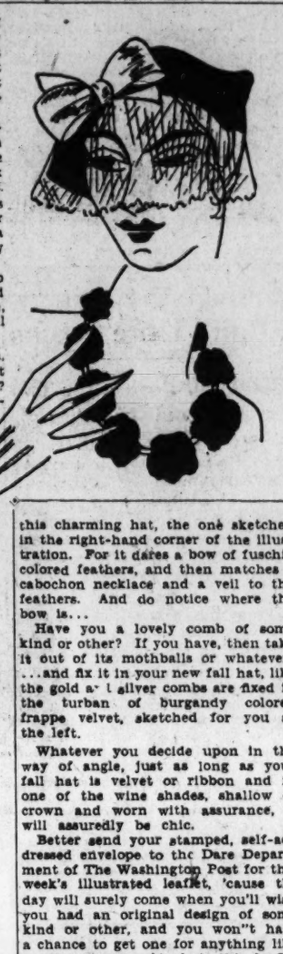
Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A bicorne line is evident in this winter hat with a bow knot of fuschia feathers which are matched by the veil, while the hat, in wine colored taupe is matched by the cabochon necklace. Below is a draped turban of frappe velvet in burgandy, with two dull gold and silver combs for ornaments placed at either side. (Selected on Fifth avenue.)



NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Well, if any one asks me what is new in fall hats, well...they'd just better not. Because that's what shuts fashun crickets up in the nut house...an' no 'em 'ks are appreciated from the side lines.

Will a hat be worn over the eyebrows? Yes. Will a hat be worn on the side? Yes. About the only place a hat won't be worn is on the back of the head, that is, for the moment. But who can tell when a famous elegante or a cinema star or even your humble truly will decide to perch a hat on her cerebellum ,and thereby set a style?

Meanwhile, if you are the type, tip tilt your hat over your eyebrows and be modish. If you aren't this type, tip tilt it over on ear, and you will be every bit as stylish.

And consider ruby red, in hats. Lives there a female who has not secretly yearned to wear a red hat? Awaiting only the stamp of mode authenticity for the indulgence of this secret passion. Well, a red hat, if it be ruby red, is yours for fall, with the undispute.. sanction of Dame Fashion.

Of velvet there is little more to be said...that velvet is the leading fabric for fall hats, I think you already know. And that velvet is flattering and elegant, and dearly loved by Miladi, I think you know ,too. So velvet while ye may, and be grateful to the mode for allowing you to.

And then a word about ribbon hats. Ribbon hats have never been as smart as this season. Little turbans, adorable berets, tight fitting cloches, all of ribbon, and all modish. And, sh-h-h-h-h, awfully easy to make . . . watch for more about th' next week.

Then as to trimming, if the trimming is well in the front, actually resting almost on the bridge of her nose, it is the latest...er, rinkle. Agnes sponsors this type of trimming, and I have sketched for you an Agnes model that has several style points, all its favor...one, the color, which is wine, and another, the material, which is taupe velvet. Still more has this charming hat, the one sketched in the right-hand corner of the illustration. For it dares a bow of fuschia colored feathers, and then matches a cabochon necklace and a veil to the feathers. And do notice where the bow is...

Have you a lovely comb of some kind or other? If you have, then take it out of its mothballs or whatevers ...and fix it in your new fall hat, like the gold a'. silver combs are fixed in the turban of burgandy colored frappe velvet, sketched for you at the left.

Whatever you decide upon in the way of angle, just as long as your fall hat is velvet or ribbon and in one of the wine shades, shallow of crown and worn with assurance, it will assuredly be chic.

Better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, 'cause the day will surely come when you'll wish you had an original design of some kind or other, and you won"t have a chance to get one for anything like a mere stamp. At that, this leaflet has several Dah-ray designs, not just one. All the kind you can transfer onto anything at all that you are illustrating, and all different and artistic. 'N' from the looks of things in the mail departments, there are plenty of you who have clever finger ideas for the fall and perhaps for economical Christmas gifts. Better hurry.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PYORRHEA.

A CORRESPONDENT wants an article on pyorrhea.

This is a very important subject, and it would be written about more often if there were more advances to discuss. It is far the most important dental subject and yet it receives a limited amount of study from research workers and practicing dentists—a trivial amount as compared with tooth decay. Of the teeth that are lost, a few are drawn because of decay, while, in comparison, pyorrhea causes the loss of hundreds. Even as a cause of arthritis, rheumatism, heart disease and neuritis, tooth decay is unimportant in comparison with pyorrhea.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums, the tissues that line the bony tooth sockets in the jaw, and, in its later stages, of the bony structure itself. As a rule, the first symptom the patient notces is the loosening of the tooth, though the key to the pyorrhea prevention problem is for people to recognize the slight redness and swelling of the gums which precedes by years looseness of the teeth. A still later symptom is oozing of pus up the side of the tooth from the tooth socket. Somewhere along the way between the slight redness and puffiness of the early stage and the oozing pus of the late stage the sufferer may notice that the gums are shrinking away from the teeth, and that the bony ridges that hold the teeth are being absorbed.

If anything is to be accomplished, a person should recognize early that pyorrhea has him, and will demand his teeth as a tribute unless he changes something and that without procrastination. Usually, the treatment of pyorrhea is not begun until the teeth are loose, and, maybe, pus is oozing. The effort then made is to clean the teeth and to anchor those that are loose that they may be retained as long as possible. In some cases this line of treatment does more harm than good. Teeth can be anchored with some success. Loose teeth can be retained for years. But in such advanced cases there is always considerable infection of the sockets and gums, and the chances are that we pay for keeping these very loose teeth with arthritis, rheumatism, neuritis and heart disease. Probably we would be better off if the loose teeth were sacrificed without delay and the attention concentrated on the gum areas in which pyorrhea was just beginning.

Our discontent with the research men is that they have not told us enough about the cause of that early stage—redness, looseness and softness of the gums, what causes it and what is to be done about it. So far as we can judge, it is caused by something constitutional. We get a similar appearance of the gums in scurvy. That results from prolonged use of a diet that is deficient in fruits and vegetables especially. It can be prevented by the continued use of a proper diet. It resembles the appearance of the gums in certain metallic poisonings, as, for instance, that due to calomel and other forms of mercury. In lead poisoning we have evidence that metals are prone to deposit in the gums.

It seems probable that mouth cleanliness will go further in preventing pyorrhea than it will in preventing tooth decay.

AIR-COOLED DINING ROOM.

L. A. writes: A group of eight of us went to lunch in an air-conditioned dining room in Chicago on July 21, after a morning conference on the twenty-first floor of a Loop building. There was not an artificial cooling device in the office. The temperature in the dining room was 64 degrees F. It was very pleasant. We had cold food and iced drinks. About 1:30 p. m. we left the dining room and walked three blocks back to the office. Within this short distance five of the eight men felt dizzy and nauseated. One was attacked with abdominal cramps and vomiting. I felt "light headed" and very apprehensive. The reaction was more psychic than physical. Four of the men went into a store and sat down for a while.. The clerk said several people had been in in the last few days around noon with the same symptoms. The whole afternoon was lost from work. We all went home, mainly due to fear of the unknown. We did not know what would happen next. The temperature on the street was 102 degrees. The difference between the dining room and the street temperature was 38 degrees. Adaptation to the dining room temperature—that is, from the hot street to the cool air—was a pleasant sensation. The reverse action was decidely unpleasant, and, for people with impaired heart and circulation, it could have been serious.

REPLY.

We have had more than one similar complaint. It is possible to get too much of a good thing On a hot day the air in a conditioned room should be about 10 to 15 degrees below that of the outside. When it is cooled to a fixed temperature, some 30 degrees below that of the outside, some of the occupants of the room will suffer consequences.

Churches' Council Hits Social Order

New York, Aug. 30 (U.P.).—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America today made a sweeping attack on the present social order. The attack, denouncing the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few was contained in the council's annual Labor Sunday message.

"Religious prophets have always denounced the gross inequality between the incomes on the one hand of those who toil in factory, mine, farm and office and of those, on the other hand, who by inheritance, or privilege of ownership, or speculative investment derive an income not earned by actual service," the message said. "Inequality is a peril to the rich because it tempts them to a narrowing of their sympathies and a false scale of values."

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

DON'T BE GREEDY.

"WHEN I was a boy in London, England," writes Mr. John W. Jacobson, of Toronto, Ontario, "it used to be said that there were approximately 20,000 children walking on the streets of that great city barefooted because their fathers would not lead trumps."

Whist has long since given way to Bridge, Bridge to Auction and Auction to Contract, but human nature remains unchanged. None of us like to admit jeopardizing a sure game for a few overtricks, but there are few that have not been guilty when everything seemed to point to the safety of such a course. Perhaps in view of this general failing, the South player in the hand below is more deserving of sympathy than censure at the tragic outcome of the hand, which was played recently at the new Embassy Bridge Club in Toronto.

	♠ 7 5 ♡ K ◇ A J 10 5 ♣ Q J 10 8 7 2
♠ Q 9 6 ♡ J 10 9 7 6 5 3 ◇ 8 7 4 2 ♣ 9	W E S	♠ 8 6 2 ♡ 2 ◇ Q 9 6 3 ♣ A K 6 5 4
	♠ A K J 10 9 4 3 ♡ A Q 8 4 ◇ K ♣ 3

The final contract was four spades, played by South, and when the heart Knave was opened and the Dummy spread, South remarked:

"Too bad, partner; we didn't bid enough."

The heart King held and South proceeded to make, as he thought, all the tricks by playing a low diamond to the King with the object of ruffing the losing heart and discarding his only club on Dummy's Ace of Diamonds. Unfortunately for the consummation of this brilliant plan, East overruffed the second heart and laid down the Ace of clubs, on which West played the 9. A low club followed, ruffed by South with the spade 10 and overruffed by West with the lone Queen. Another heart was led by West, which gave East his second ruff.

Today's Pointer.

In Contract Bridge, the first object of the Declarer should be to assure the fulfillment of the contract. Extra tricks, which carry with them a bonus of 50 points, are desirable when they can be obtained without risk, but are entirely valueless if, in order to make them, a chance of losing the hand is taken.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of the Washington Post, inclose a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF AUGUST 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:20 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:15 p. m., and from 7:20 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., and from 11:15 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Energizing influences are forecast for August 31, which may create both feelings of discontent and a desire to "get after" things. Caution required in business affairs, and a very careful reading and interpretation of legal papers before signing. Social affairs cause gossip.

The child born on this August 31 will be strongly afflicted with the wonderlust, which in latter life may be turned into the wanderlust. It will not be easily put off with simply "no" and "yes," but will demand details. It will have a slightly peppery temper and vivid emotions. Its imagination will be very active.

You do not rely, if born on August 31, on the power of so-called luck. You believe that the phrase made by a champion golf player after defeat, "It is always the man who plays the better golf who has the luck," applies to most things. Your rewards in life will be those of industry and merit. You do not want, and will not get, many things for nothing.. Character, in your case, is the maker of your destiny. Your credit is good in more ways than one, and you will be a man or woman who enjoys the feeling of being trusted.

You drive down the fairways of life with care to avoid the misfortune of a bad lie. You do not get rattled by mishaps, and seldom get over-confident. You are not abnormally brilliant, but you are "sharp" where other people are in different or blind, and you do not swallow defeat easily. The frivolities of life do not strongly appeal to you—you are too staid to be playful. You never meddle in other people's business and few attempt to meddle in yours more than once. About your own affairs you are rather secretive, and there are many who wish that you would open up your heart a little more freely.

Successful people born on August 31:

William Willis, lawyer.

Edward G. Janeway, physician.

Joseph A. Blake, surgeon.

Elizabeth Stuart (Phelps) Ward, author.

Mary Putnam Jacobs, physician.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

If you have always looked on olives primarily as a sort of appetizer, particularly handy for picnics because they can be eaten from the fingers, but possibly a doubtful food for the younger children, it is time to revise your ideas, and give olives, both ripe and green, a place in your menus as a food of real value.

Both ripe and green olives contain abundant quantities of vitamin A, according to the Bureau of Home Economics, after completing a series of laboratory tests on several kinds of olives. Vitamin A is particularly important to our nutritive well-being, for it protects the body against a number of troublesome bacterial infections. It also stimulates growth and is necessary for well-being at all ages. Without a regular supply of vitamin A a person loses vitality and may develop infections in the eyes, sinuses, ears, glands of the mouth and throat, and in some instances in the kidneys and bladder. Foods having a yellow or green color are generally rich sources of this vitamin. About seven medium-sized olives will supply as much vitamin A as an eighth of a cup of whole milk or as a serving of the bleached lettuce leaves that usually appear in a salad.

There was a time when a careful mother snatched an olive away from a child who was experimenting with its taste. Nowadays she knows that there is nothing about olives to hurt children and much to benefit them. If the old saying "olives are an acquired taste" has any truth, by all means let them acquire the taste early. A little ingenuity in planning menus will result in many new ways of using both ripe and green olives. They are always good in sandwiches, especially when combined with cream or cottage cheese, with or without nuts. They add much to the three-decker club sandwiches of toast, lettuce, tomatoes, bacon and other meats. They give zest to almost any salad, and can be worked into various sauces and scalloped dishes.

COUNCILMEN TAKE OFFICE TOMORROW

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The recently elected members of city council will be inducted into office at noon tomorrow, when they will meet with the three members of the so-called old council whose terms of office hold over. New members are Marshall L. King, First Ward; Judge Louis C. Barley, Second Ward; Michael T. Dwyer, Third Ward; Nicholas J. Lawler, Fourth Ward; Henry O'Bannon Cooper, Fifth Ward, and Emmett C. Davison, Sixth Ward. The members holding over from the former council are Mayor Edmund F. Ticer, Arthur Herbert and George E. Garrett.

Announcement was made yesterday that E. A. Sweeley, superintendent of the Fruit Growers Express, has written a letter to the members of the city council asking when that body is going to investigate the costs of its government and when it is going to deflate.

In the letter he states the merchants of the town are taxed to the limit. Landlords are not making enough return on their property to pay taxes, and in many cases the tenant is out of a job and can not pay rent. He states that nearly every income in Alexandria has been cut, living costs have been cut with the exception of house rents, and the landlords claim the reason there is no reduction in the rental charges is the high tax rate in the city.

Another matter of intense interest in the city facing the new council is the selection of two new members of the city school board. The terms of Urban S. Lambert, chairman, and Gardner L. Boothe expire in December and the selection of their successors is being watched with interest.

Magruder Granted Writ On Tobacco Treatment

County Treasurer Thomas N. Magruder yesterday was granted an injunction in Prince Georges County Circuit Court to prevent Henry Harmel from interfering with the treatment of tobacco raised on Magruder's farm during 1931.

In his plea Magruder said that Harmel worked his farm on shares during 1931, but moved away after the tobacco crop was gathered. Mr. Magruder said he then reached an agreement with Harmel whereby the tobacco was to be "stripped" and sent to market to clear the barns for the 1932 crop, which is just coming in. In spite of this agreement, he continued, Harmel has threatened one of his men who was working on the tobacco.

Lester Reed, colored, of 612 Gibbon street, according to Alexandria police, selected a churchyard as a good hiding place for his stock of liquor, but Policeman Charles Curtis, George Welker and Boley detected him in the act of visiting his cache and arrested him. Nine half-gallons of alleged corn whisky were seized.

Reed was fined $70.50 in police court yesterday morning for violating the prohibition law.

Cemetery Banned By Commissioners

Montgomery Body Refuses Permit for Graveyard Near Potomac.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday refused to issue a permit for the establishment of a cemetery on the Kilgore and Clagett properties near Potomac.

The petition for the permit was filed by Benjamin R. Parker, who held at a public meeting that the cemetery would menace neither health nor property values. Residents of the neighborhood, however, flocked to protest meetings, and approximately 200 property holders had appeared before the county commissioners in opposition to the proposal.

Following the public hearing in May, the commissioners turned the investigation over to County Engineer Harry B. Shaw, who made an extensive survey and reported adversely. The county engineer recently completed a survey of all possible sites for burial grounds in the county and has filed his report with the county commissioners.

3,000 ATTEND START OF MARLBORO'S FAIR

Judging of Exhibits Will Take Place Today; Many Prizes Offered.

With more than 3,000 persons in attendance, the Marlboro Fair opened its five-day meet yesterday. Many of the crowd thronged the stands during the races, but the live stock pens and other exhibitions were also interest centers.

Judging will take place today, the entries not closing until last night. The judges of the thirteen booths arranged by women's clubs in the county were announced yesterday by Mrs. J. Enos Ray, president of the Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Clubs. They will be C. L. Chambers, of the Department of Agriculture Extension Service; Mrs. William J. LaVarre, of the District Federation of Clubs, and Miss Elizabeth Haney, passenger representative of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Each club arranging a booth receives $20 from the fair association, and in addition, may win prizes ranging from $20 to $70. Tobacco judging teams in the five counties of southern Maryland are eligible to compete in a tobacco judging contest, with three cups as prizes. The cash prizes given as premiums will total about $5,000.

Plan for Mount Rainier Celebration Canceled

The prospect of two festivities in Mount Rainier, Md., to celebrate the improvement of Rhode Island avenue disappeared yesterday when Councilman R. W. Moser, of the Second Ward, decided to cancel plans for his event. Earlier, both Mr. Moser and Mayor John H. Beall were reported to be arranging celebrations.

Mr. Moser said yesterday he had proposed some kind of exercises at a recent council meeting, but no action was taken on his motion. He then asked interested citizens to meet at his home to make plans. In the meantime, unknown to Mr. Moser, Mr. Beall had announced that he would appoint at the next council meeting a special committee to make arrangements. Learning of this, Mr. Moser wrote the mayor pledging his support to the official celebration.

GEN. MALONE LEADS 'DEFENSE' AT BEACH

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Pollard, Virginia Beach, Va., Aug. 30.—Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, Third Corps Area commander, entered vigorously into the battle plans of the Twenty-ninth Division here yesterday and today.

Accompanied by Gen. Anton Stephan, Col. John A. Cutchins, chief of staff, of Richmond, and Maj. R. McD. Sylvester, staff instructor, Gen. Malone visited each section of forward echelon, reviewing situation maps, receiving up-to-date progress of the enemy forcing a landing here from the sea and proceeded to put the general staff colonels "on the spot."

Col. Edwin P. Conquest, of Richmond, and Col. George Henderson, of Cumberland, Md., Twenty-ninth Division intelligence and operations officers, respectively, presented comprehensive pictures of situations to date to the corps commander. Col. Richard Bidwood, of Richmond, and Col. Kenneth M. Purdie, Virginia Military Institute professor, next reported in detail on handling of personnel and supplies in severe engagement then theoretically under way on nearby beaches.

In a cross-fire of searching questions and keen criticism, Gen. Malone drove home the paramount need for the combined power of all the resources of the division in brains, men and armaments, possible only through constant interchange of information and bold, prompt and sound decision. Sections of the rear echelon received similar treatment.

Col. P. G. Nevitt, Washington, adjutant general; Col. William W. Crump, Richmond, judge advocate; Col. Herbert L. Grymes, Baltimore, signal officer; Col. William E. Withgott, eastern Maryland division officer, and the other chiefs, reported in detail the combat operations of their services and Gen. Malone's personal comments and instructions.

In forceful review of the problem of defending the important Norfolk-Hampton Roads area, Gen. Malone this morning complimented the group on their professional work and gave the entire staff of officers, enlisted men, officers of the Twenty-ninth Signal Company, Norfolk, and Twenty-ninth Military Police Company of Washington, together with a large contingent of ranking officers from the Sixth Marine Brigade Reserve, a striking presentation of the main military requirements in preventing an enemy landing.

Driver of Death Car Cleared at Rockville

Russell H. Tracy, of 55 M street northwest, yesterday was acquitted on charges of manslaughter by Judge Charles W. Woodward in Montgomery County Police Court at Rockville, Md. The judge held that not sufficient evidence had been presented to show negligence on the part of Tracy and warrant holding him for grand jury action.

Tracy was the driver of an automobile which on August 7 ran off the Old River road near Potomac, Md., and collided with a light pole. George U. Potts, of 218 E street northeast, was fatally injured in the crash. Tracy was slightly injured.

This meeting has been called by County Chairman William L. Bragg, in order that he may meet with a special committee from both the Women's Club and the Men's Club.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ERICH VON STROHEIM, who made his first definite impression—and a most distasteful one—upon the consciousness of the American movie mind as the brutal young Hun in "The Unbeliever," one of the saner of the early pictures inspired by the Great War, has always been one of the cinema's foremost talent picker-outers!

Patricia Mallory.

It was he who first perceived the latent fires of a great dramatic actress underlying the grotesque buffoonery of ZaSu Pitts and drenched those about him in bitter tears that the public would not accept her as the screen's authentic Bernhardt. It was he, also, who launched the blonde and mysterious Miss Dupont upon a pseudo-stellar career and plucked Dale Fuller out of obscurity and sent her on her way as an established character woman.

Well, the old boy with the monocled head and neck of a wrestler is still at it!

"Von" hasn't directed a picture in six years. Not since the voice became one of the tools of the craft. The success of the one he is about to take in hand is consequently a matter of some importance to him. If it turns out to be a good picture, he doubtless will continue in the work he likes best—directing. A failure, and he will probably be found from time to time doing a brief tour of duty in one studio or another as an actor.

It is therefore worthy of some note that Von Stroheim, while shouldering a considerable responsibility himself, has placed a heavy burden upon the slender shoulders of the comparatively unknown he has chosen for the central character in his first talking film.

Patricia Mallory is a charming little ash blonde, who on October 22 will be 20 years old. She has had a dab of stage experience, but has never played a role before the cameras.

The girl in Von Stroheim's story, "Walking Down Broadway," is the pivotal character; the entire plot revolves about her. Thus it would appear that Herr Von Stroheim has a tremendous lot of confidence in the ability of Patricia Mallory. And the chances are he knows what he is about.

Patricia, of whom you may have heard as "Boots" Mallory—a nickname acquired because she couldn't say "shoes" or "slippers"—was in a vaudeville musical act when she was 15. When she was 16 she married a New York musician, and is still married to him. Her third season as a show girl on Broadway was her last. She took a test while appearing in the late Flo Ziegfeld's "Hot-Cha"—which opened here at the National, by the way—and now look at her!

Tonight at 7 the final summer festival program of the present season will be presented in the National Sylvan Theater, in the Washington Monument Grounds, when the D. C. Playground children and the U. S. Army Band will offer a program of juvenile songs and dances, featuring the folklore and pantomimes of many lands. The Army Band, in honor of the "Playgrounds Night," has arranged a special program of "Songs of Childhood" and patriotic airs for its opening concert.

The Rossdhu Castle Club will reopen tonight for its midweek "Open House" dinner and supper dance. During the few days it has been closed, Rossdhu has been refurbished and freshened for the early fall season. Donald MacDonald, 3d., manager and social director of the club, has effected a complete reorganization of the staff.

The typical gayety and hospitality of Rossdhu are at their best, so one hears, at the Wednesday "Open House" dances, when the club membership rules are waived for the evening as a special courtesy to Washington's young folks. Harold Veo and his Army and Navy Country Club Orchestra furnish music of a highly melodized type.

It is heartening to note that the bulletin announcing the plans for the third season of Lawrence River's presentation of "The Green Pastures," Marc Connelly's classic, based on Roark Bradford's Southern sketches in "Ol' Man Adam and His Chillun," includes Washington as a prospective port of call.

The season will open in Boston at the Colonial Theater next Monday night, according to word from that amiable itinerant publicist, Mr. William Fields—a sort of theater slang for "Bill"—marking the 1,027th performance of the play. And they are routing it clear through the season of 1935!

August may have come in like a lion, but it certainly is going out like a roast lamb!

Golf Course Yields Two Highway Holdup Suspects

Montgomery County police early yesterday arrested three men at Columbia Country Club. Two of the prisoners were charged with holdup at the point of a pistol and the third was held as a material witness.

Rudolph Jackson, colored, 31 years old, and Lewis Coggie, 42, colored, both of Washington, were charged with holdup. George Weaver was held as a witness. The two colored men are alleged by police to be the masked pair who held up two couples parked in nearby Montgomery County Friday night.

The pistol which caused the two couples to turn over all the money they had with them was a toy cap pistol.

Receiving a tip that two colored men were sleeping on the golf course, Corpl. Oscar T. Gaither, Policemen James S. McAuliffe and W. Frank Soper and Constable J. H. Davis, of the Bethesda substation, went there to investigate. They found Weaver asleep near the golf course in some woods and questioned him. He told the policemen that two colored men were sleeping somewhere on the course.

The policemen then started around the course and near the eighteenth hole found the two men asleep. They took them to Bethesda substation, where Jackson confessed that he and Coggie had perpetrated the holdups.

Earl C. Hill, of Bethesda, Md., and A. Goldberg, of Washington, each accompanied by his girl friend, were the victims of two masked colored men, who took $10 from Goldberg and broke the window out of Hill's car, but gained no money Friday night. Both holdups took place near the country club grounds.

The two colored men and the witness were lodged in the Rockville Jail yesterday to await the preliminary hearing of the two men.

Boy, 15, Drowned As Raft Collapses

Perishes Near Woodbridge in Pond; His Brother Swims to Shore.

Thirteen-year-old George Stermerman, of Woodbridge, Va., was drowned in Hoover Pond at the Government fish hatcheries, near Woodbridge, yesterday after a raft on which he was floating, with his brother, Henry, 15, went to pieces in the middle of the pond. The pond is just off an inlet of the Potomac River and is about 6 feet deep.

The boy's body was recovered late in the afternoon by Caldwell Slack, of Occoquan. Henry had been unable to assist his brother and barely managed to reach shore.

Surviving are Henry, William W. Stermerman, father of the drowned boy, and three sisters. The mother of the family was buried on April 12. The body of the boy is at the undertaking establishment of Hall & Davis in Occoquan.

Two Men Rob Driver And Escape in His Cab

Parker W. Smith, 28, a cab driver of 1309 K street northeast, was held up and robbed of $2.50 and a watch valued at $30, by two colored men on Sheriff road near the District line yesterday.

Smith told police he picked up the men at North Capitol and I streets northeast. He was instructed to drive to Sheriff and Cross roads northeast. As soon as they crossed the line into Maryland one of the colored men stuck a pistol into his back and told him to pull up to the curb. After he was robbed, Smith said, he was ordered out of his cab and told to march down the road. The colored bandits then disappeared in his cab.

Silver Recovered Soon After Theft

A quantity of silverware, valued at $20, stolen from the apartment of Maj. Harry D. Murray, U. S. A., 2013 New Hampshire avenue northwest, was recovered by police of the Third Precinct yesterday and a suspect was arrested a few hours after the alleged robbery.

Maj. Murray was moving to 2101 New Hampshire avenue northwest. After one load of furniture had been transported to his new home, he returned to his former apartment to pick up several articles left behind. He found the silverware missing.

Policeman E. L. Dalstrom was assigned to investigate. In the basement at 2013 New Hampshire avenue Dalstrom located the stolen goods. Fingerprints were taken. Later he arrested O'Dell Phelps, colored switchboard operator at the apartment. The policeman declared Phelps' fingerprints corresponded. He was held for investigation.

Jobless Veteran Takes Poison in Suicide Effort

Because of financial worry and his inability to get a job, Fred Hale, 38, of 534 Eleventh street southeast, last night, attempted to end his life by swallowing poison, according to police reports.

His condition was discovered by another roomer at the Eleventh street address, who summoned a Casualty ambulance. Hale was taken to the hospital and treated by Dr. W. L. Lyle. His condition was said to be serious.

According to police Hale was discharged from Walter Reed Hospital about two weeks ago, after having been there about six months. His wife is said to be living in Winchester, Va.

FIRE CHIEF'S CASE MAY GO TO COURT

Mandamus Action Considered to Force Reinstatement of Sullivan.

Mandamus proceedings to compel the reinstatement of Thomas W. Sullivan as fire chief of the Cabin John Park Volunteer Fire Department will be instituted in Montgomery County Circuit Court if the board of directors of the department refuses to act on the appeal of the chief from a decision which barred his counsel from the trial board hearing at which he was deposed.

The law firm of Peter & Simpson at Rockville, counsel for Sullivan, yesterday forwarded a letter to the fire department board informing the members of that body of the contemplated step. Counsel stated that inasmuch as the board of directors had not acted upon the appeal prior to the trial of Sullivan, at which he was not present, the defendant does not consider himself obliged to make any answer to the trial board action.

Department rules allow five days following receipt of notice of action of the trial board for an appeal to the board of directors from the decision of the trial board. The five-day period in Sullivan's case expired yesterday without the filing of an appeal by him.

Sullivan was tried on nine charges of infractions of the fire department regulations, chiefly concerning care of equipment. The trial was held August 22 at the firehouse. Sullivan the week prior had refused to appear unless he could have his counsel with him. The trial board refused to permit his counsel or any other person not a member of the department to attend the hearing.

Informed of this decision, counsel for the chief appealed to the board for reversal of the trial board decision and permission to be represented by counsel.

The board of directors has not replied, counsel said, and, mandamus proceedings will be instituted as soon as a reasonable time has elapsed for an answer.

Suburban Sanitary Bond Issue Looms

$300,000 Project for Two Maryland Counties Is Considered.

An issue of $300,000 in bonds by the Suburban Sanitary Commission to finance additional water and sewer lines loomed yesterday as the bond market continued to improve. The commission has ordered a tabulation of all such requests on file in its office.

From this tabulation the most necessary work will be chosen, and a schedule of the contemplated construction will be sent to the Public Service Commission when approval of the bond issue is requested. There are a number of urgent requests on file in the sanitary commission's office, asking for work in both Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties.

The bonds will not be issued unless the bond market continues to improve, T. Howard Duckett, chairman of the commission, said yesterday. He pointed out, however, that the recent issue of State bonds was sold well over par and that municipal tax-exempt bonds are finding a ready market.

DUTRA WINS U. S. PRO GOLF MEDAL AS CHOICES FAIL

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

WHEN a fellow celebrates his debut as an American League pitcher by winning four games in two weeks without a defeat, it is high time to look into the wherefore of such a performance as Bill McAfee's.

McAfee has been a pleasing addition to the Washington Club ever since he was rescued from the minor leagues by Clark Griffith, who jerked him from the road to Baltimore, where he was to be sent by the Boston Braves as part payment for First Baseman Baxter Jordan. The Nats claimed him on waivers and had priority right over the Orioles.

McAfee was not long in receiving his American League test. The Nats' shortage of pitchers presented him with immediate opportunity to try his skull, and how well he has succeeded is attested by his four victories against no defeats. True it is that he started only two of the games and that two of his wins were in relief roles, but they can't take them away from him on that account.

His Fast Ball Disappears.

Griffith signed McAfee on the strength of his reputation as a fast ball pitcher, only to discover that McAfee has everything but a fast ball. Moe Berg and Roy Spencer, who have been handling his shoots behind the plate have stopped calling for the fast one except as a change of pace.

But what McAfee lacks in speed he possesses in control, curves and gray matter. It has been his ability to put the ball where it will do him the most good that has earned him the praise of the Nats' catchers. The mystery of the disappearance of his fast ball has been happily forgotten in the light of his other assets.

McAfee himself is not concerned over the disappearance of the speed that caused the Braves to hold him as a likely prospect for two seasons. He throws it down the alley occasionally, but in the main relies on his clever control of his hooks.

Nats Have Won 12 of 15.

The destination of the Washington ball club appears to be third place at this stage of the race, with Cleveland 2½ games in the rear and the Athletics ensconced in a 5½-game lead in second place, but the fact remains that the Nats are setting a fast pace, which, if continued, will seriously jeopardize the A's runner-up berth.

Twelve of their last fifteen games have been won by the Nats, a better showing over the last two weeks than the Athletics can boast. The second-place hopes of Washington, though, will hang definitely on the four games remaining with the Athletics, but the Nats must hang on to within striking distance until September 24 when a three-game series starts.

PAUL DEAN IN NO-HIT GAME.

Kansas City, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Paul Dean, brother of "Dizzy" Dean, of the St. Louis Cardinals, turned back Kansas City without a hit or run as Columbus won an American Association game here tonight, 3 to 0.

Bluege Drives in 5 Runs As Nats Triumph, 11-7, in Slugfest With St. Louis

Blaeholder Pounded for 5-Run Lead in First 2 Innings.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WITH Ossie Bluege showing the way with two doubles and a single, which propelled home five runs, the Nationals yesterday evened the series count at 9-all with the St. Louis Browns by winning, 11 to 7. The triumph, coupled with a Cleveland loss to the Red Sox, enabled the home folks to increase their third-place margin in the race to two and one-half games. Bill McAfee, Nat hurling rookie, was credited with his fourth triumph despite the fact that he had to call on Lloyd Brown to help him complete his mound assignment.

Although the natives were always in front, hopping out to a five-run lead in the first two stanzas, the Browns kept on plugging and would not admit defeat until the last out was turned in. Had any of their three pitchers—George Blaeholder, Carl Fischer or Chad Kimsey—been able to check the Nats, it would have been quite a ball game, for the visitors showed quite a batting punch.

Nats Off to Five-Run Lead.

Rice's opening single and Bluege's double gave the Nats an early start, and a hit batsman. Rice's double, Bluege's long fly, a walk and singles by Manush, Kuhel and West netted four more in the second. McAfee singled with two dead in the third, Rice walked, and then Bluege came through with a second two-bagger to clear the bases. This made the count 7 to 1, for two singles and a pass had netted an allen marker in the upper half of round 3.

The Browns made their first real threat in the fifth when Scharein's one-shot, Levey's sacrifice, a wild throw by Bluege, Garms' double and a walk accounted for one run and filled bases. Campbell, however, lofted to short right and Fischer, on third, fell a double-play victim while he was trying to make up his mind whether or not to try to score after the catch.

When Goslin, who was robbed of three other hits during the game, poled a homer over the right-field wall opening the sixth and Ferrell followed with a single, Brown went to McAfee's relief. He finished this round easily enough but it was fortunate that the Nats scored thrice in their half, for the Browns retaliated with a four-run splurge in the seventh. Five hits, a pass and an error did this damage, but it must be admitted that three of these bingles were of the scratchiest infield variety.

When this round ended the Browns were through, for they did not get another safety off Brown. Meanwhile, Kimsey had entered the game in the seventh and Brown's triple and Bluege's single had netted another run.

Fifteen hits were credited the Nats, with Maple being the only member of the cast not getting any. Running second to Bluege were Rice, Cronin, Kuhel and West, with two each. Ferrell cracked out three safeties to take high-gun honors for the visitors.

Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas, who has been out of the baseball wars since August 13 with a sore arm, will test his wing under fire this afternoon in the finale of the series with the Browns. Either Irving (Bump) Hadley or the veteran, Sam Gray, will oppose him on the hill.

GIANTS GIVE CUBS 11TH IN ROW

Hoyt's Wildness and Critz's Error Lose 4-3 Game in 9th.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The New York Giants made the Cubs a gift of their eleventh straight victory today and enabled them to set a season's record for consecutive triumphs. The score was 4 to 3.

With the score tied in the ninth, Waite Hoyt hit Herman with a pitched ball and then passed English and Cuyler. Critz fumbled Stephenson's grounder long enough to allow Herman to score the winning run, but saved himself an error by throwing to first to catch Stephenson.

Peck Suspends Ferrell For Insubordination Act

Boston, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Wesley Ferrell, who in each of his first four years in the majors had won 20 or more games for Cleveland, today was suspended for ten days by Manager Roger Peckinpaugh charged with insubordination.

The suspension will cost Ferrell, the highest paid player on the Cleveland team, about $1,500 in salary.

Peckinpaugh's ire was aroused when his pitching ace objected to leaving the box in the first inning of today's game with Boston after being waved out. Ferrell had been touched for three hits and yielded a walk but when Peckinpaugh ordered him aside, he balked and kicked up dust.

One On and Score Tied in Seventh When Blow Beats Tigers, 6-4.

Philadelphia, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Jimmy Foxx's forty-eighth home run of the season broke up a tie today, gave the Athletics a 6-to-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers, and provided Lefty Grove with his twenty-first win of the year. The score was tied at 3 to 3 in the seventh inning when Foxx's wallop sent Cochrane in ahead of him.

JEERS GREET WRESTLING PROGRAM

By BOB CONSIDINE.

ONE thousand of those strange followers of sport known as rassling fans assembled at Bolling Field last night, armed to the teeth with booes and jeers and catcalls all ready for Frank Speer, former Georgia Tech football player, and when the highly unpopular wrestler failed to put in an appearance approximately 995 of the fans promptly presented the Bronx cocktails to the management.

Disappointed as it was by the twist of fate which made it impossible to throw beer bottles at Speer, the crowd nevertheless broke into a smattering of applause when Matchmaker Bert Bertolini announced that those fans who felt they had been robbed of a chance to hurl bottles in peace could have their stubs redeemed at the next Tuesday night show. It was the first time on record here that a matchmaker has done anything about a substitution, and it did much to relieve an otherwise sad situation.

Ivan Zirkoff Proves Docile Substitute.

Ivan Zirkoff was the substitute chosen to take Speer's place. He proved quite docile and was forthright spread out on the air field's bug-incrusted mat by Glenn Munn in six minutes with a figure 4 scissors.

The preliminaries were good. Mike Romano, elderly Chicago Italian, won one of the few matches of his career by tossing Ivan Vakturoff in 22 minutes with a series of serious backdrops. It was grand burlesque, with both boys doing a lot of friendly nose busting—and then revealing open hands to the gum-attacking Referee Swann.

Big Vanka Zelesniak and bigger Jack McArthur labored out a 30-minute draw to start the show. Then Zirkoff, making his first appearance of the evening, jangled down Benny Ginsberg to the mat in 23 minutes.

Mike Mazurki, former Manhattan University gridder, and one of the finest specimens of virility in the business, beat Babe Craddock in a better than usual semifinal. Mazurki used an airplane spin to make mud pies out of Craddock near the end.

Gehrig's 2 Homers Beat Chicago, 6-5

Thirtieth and Thirty-first Clouts for Circuit Net 5 Runs, Win for Allen.

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Lou Gehrig came to the aid of an aspiring young teammate, John Thomas Allen, today and batted the Yankees into a 6-to-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Gehrig walloped his thirtieth and thirty-first home runs of the season to knock in five of the Yankee tallies. As a result of his swatting, Allen marked up his fifteenth victory of the season, his ninth in succession and his fifth over the pale hose. He has lost only two games.

5,000 GREET RACES AT MARLBORO AS LONG SHOTS SCORE

Homework's Rush Wins Feature

Comes From Rear to Beat Hogarty and Hagerstown.

Kai Finn, First-Time Starter, Pays $64 in Second Race.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

HORSE racing was given a rousing welcome down in Prince Georges County yesterday when some 5,000 turned out to aid in the opening of the five-day meeting of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Fair Association at the historic Marlboro track. Both favorite players and the moonshooters had their innings.

The outstanding race of the day—The Mount Vernon—went to Homework, a gelded son of Broomstick, which failed to impress with his importance at Cumberland and hence paid a liberal $12 mutuel after the crowd had backed Hagerstown into favoritism and made Hogarty a hot second choice. Hogarty was forced to take the dust of the winner by five lengths while Hagerstown was beaten a half length for the place money.

Hagerstown-Baboo Run Like Team.

Hagerstown leaped to the front at the barrier rise accompanied by Baboo and the pair ran as a team until the final turn for home. Here Homework and Hogarty came around on the outside and the former drew away steadily in the stretch with Jockey Carlisle looking back over his shoulder.

Those who stayed to see the seventh race witnessed the best competition of the afternoon and saw a personal triumph for one Whitey Mithell, an exercise boy. He bought the veteran gelding Blue Fish a few months ago for $25 and the ancient horse responded to his training by taking the $400 purse. Jockey Acqardy brought the old horse up on the outside to take the race in the final leape. Blue Fish rewarded with a $42 mutuel.

The largest price of the day was paid by Kai Finn, a 4-year-old first-time starter. This one broke on top and toured the course like a scared rabbit, paying off with $64.40 for the usual deuce ticket.

Lady Tournament, a first-time starter, owned by Mrs. Elmer Trueman, made good after being backed to even money, winning from Aella in a stretch drive. The latter set a swift pace, but could not match the finish of the Tournament II filly.

Favorites also accounted for the third and sixth purses. Grand Acre, the property of G. L. Goodacre, of Washington, withstood a drive by Single A to take the third, while Kaffa outclassed her field to defeat High Socks and a half-dozen others in the net.

Hospital Discharges

Bergman, C. U. Coach

Arthur J. "Dutch" Bergman, head coach of Catholic University, was released from the United States Naval Hospital yesterday, after convalescing from the effects of an appendicitis operation.

Knight and Tow Fight In Feature at Laurel

Dixie's light heavyweight boxing championship, Joe Knight, Maxie Rosenbloom's conqueror, has been booked to meet Bob Tow in ten rounds at Twin City Arena in Laurel next Wednesday night.

Auto Trade Golfers Are Topped by Bailey

J. Henry Bailey annexed low net honors with a 48 in the annual golf tournament held yesterday at Columbia Country Club by the Washington Automotive Trade Association. Twenty-four members participated.

Foursome prize winners were Dwight Burnham, W. J Dillard, Joseph R. Trew, E. S. Grapes, Frank G. Stewart and Patsy Klein.

MONUMENT NET PLAY.

The team of Ritzenberg and Yap reached the semifinals of the Monument Courts tennis doubles tournament yesterday, beating a girls combination of Sara Moore and Bobsy Totten in two close set, 6—4, 6—3. Yesterday's results:

Second round—Pear and Fine defeated Temple and Verges, 6—1, 7—5; Yap and Ritzenberg defeated Avery and Graef, 6—2, 6—2; Thompkins and Hermann defeated Miller and Philpitt, 7—5, 6—2; Brown and Dreschler defeated Lamar and Whiteman, 2—6, 6—2, 6—2.

Third round—Yap and Ritzenberg defeated Moore and Totten, 6—4, 6—3.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

The Bradley connections sent Asbestos Boiler Maker today, but Joe has one that cost him 5 bucks last Saturday and it's in the same race, so Asbestos steps aside in favor of his boss. The bank rolls are: Asbestos, $26.23; Joe, $174.25. Asbestos lost 47 cents yesterday when Old Depot ran third, and Joe sank $10 on Chestnut Tree, an also ran.

COTTON SELLS DOWN IN REALIZING DRIVES

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—An early decline of approximately $3 per bale in cotton here today under heavy general realizing of liquidation was followed by a very sharp rally, but after selling up from 8.82 to 9.23 for December, on covering and trade buying, the market weakened again under renewed liquidation and Southern selling.

December closed at 8.81, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 41 to 53 points.

Many stop-loss orders were uncovered, but offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying, which was supposed to include some mill buying around or below the 9 cent level for March. This was sufficient to steady the market and prices rallied quite sharply during the middle of the day, with October selling up to 9.08 and March to 9.42 or 36 to 55 points above the low levels of the morning.

The violent fluctuations were attributed largely to technical adjustments following recent extensive advances, and the attention of traders was practically monopolized by these operations.

Liverpool cables reported general liquidation and Indian selling in that market and said Manchester was disorganized with the turnover unimportant. Exports today, 11,631, making 413,319 so far this season.

Mexico to Form Bank For Mortgage Handling

Mexico City, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The federal government shortly will organize a mortgage and public works bank with foundation and capital of 26,000,000 pesos (less than $12,000,000).

The institution will seek to regulate mortgage loans and interest, correct abuses resulting largely from private negotiations, and finance necessary public works, the treasury department announced.

BOND MARKET SAGS IN QUIETER TRADING

Average Loss Three-Tenths in Dealing Volume of $10,797,000.

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—The bond market again stumbled into lower territory today. Trading was rather dull and most of the maximum losses, which were confined principally to the speculative categories, ranged between 1 and 2 points.

The activity was only a trifle more pronounced than that of yesterday. Sales totaled $10,797,000, par value, and the average for 60 corporate loans duplicated the previous decline of three-tenths of a point.

The largest turnover was in bonds of the Frisco, Chicago & North Western and Nickel Plate Railways. Nickel Plate 6s, due in October, were heavily traded for a gain of 4½ points and three of the Frisco loans were up from ¼ to 1½ points.

The principal carrier recessions were in some obligations of Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern and Texas & Pacific. The utilities and industrials generally dipped in fractions.

Bonds of U. S. Rubber, Goodrich and Goodyear firmed. Packing company issues drooped, as did those of the amusement corporations.

Argentine government loans rallied from 1 to 3½ points and the Columbians were up from 1 to 4. German and Japanese bonds were slightly irregular and the Norwegians were heavy. The United States Government list was quiet and steady.

England Plans to Convert $530,149,420 of War Bonds

London, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Encouraged by the success of the 5 per cent war loan conversion to a lower rate, the British government will announce tonight a scheme to convert treasury bonds totaling £153,222,376 in a similar manner.

The financing will involve the 4½ per cent treasuries series 1932-34, and the 4½ war loans series 1925 to 1945. The total is equivalent currently to $530,149,420.

CURB PROFIT YIELD IN SELLING ATTACKS

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Although metal and mining issues showed pronounced strength, the curb market turned somewhat heavy in the late trading today, as active selling came into some of the recent bull favorites.

Trading continued at an active pace, although the turnover of approximately 700,000 shares was some 140,000 less than yesterday's big volume, which had been the biggest for 1932 to date.

The metal and mining group was helped by firmer prices for copper and lead. Wider gains appeared in the more thinly traded issues. Bunker Hill and Sullivan traded as high as 32½, up 7½ points, and Consolidated Mining sold at 70, up 12½.

Electric Bond & Share was actively sold, declining to 38¼, and closing at 40, off 3⅜ net, and off 8 points from its recent top. American Gas and Electric and Columbia Gas preferred lost about a point.

Successive Stock Rallies Defeated by Loss at Close

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Tuesday	Monday
Number of advances	311	403
Number of declines	343	261
Stocks unchanged	149	145
Total issues traded	803	809

Stocks.

Bonds.

The market stumbled three-tenths of a point lower. Trading was dull. Sales totaled $10,797,000.

Curb.

Dealing turned heavy under selling pressure, and gains were trimmed. Trading volume declined to 700,000 shares.

Wheat.

Reaction of stocks and profit taking slashed wheat, corn and oats to lower prices. Buying support for corn failed to prevent losses.

Cotton.

New York, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Suggestive bullish efforts to push the stock market forward, in the face of reactionary commodities, were abandoned in the final dealings today, and the list slid off rather substantially.

The close was irregular, with a number of the earlier strong spots among the rubbers, coppers, motors and accessories and miscellaneous rails, showing substantial gains. Declines were in the majority, however, particularly among the so-called pivotal shares.

The price average of 90 representative issues lost 1 point, its sharpest setback in almost a fortnight. Trading was only moderately active, however, with a turnover of 3,300,751 shares.

Rubber stocks and several of the coppers reached new highs for the year. Goodyear rose to 29¾, and closed at 27⅞, up 4⅞ net. Firestone rose about 2½ points, then lost more than half its rise. In the coppers, both Anaconda and Kennicott rose more than a point to new tops for 1932, but lost part of their gains in the final dealings. Chrysler was a firm spot in the motors, up more than a point, to 17¾, but it closed at 16, up only a minor fraction. American Woolen issues were also strong, along with the wool market.

Buying of some of the motors and motor accessories, was evidently based on reports that some manufacturers have noted a little improvement in sales in August, after the extremely slim business of July.

There was a late flare up in some of the Eastern Railroad stocks, perhaps based on possible developments at tomorrow's meeting of executives to discuss the four-party merger plan, although nothing definite was generally expected.

American Can and American Telephone turned heavy, each closing 2¾ points lower. Beatrice Creamery lost as much, on reduction of the dividend, and Air Reduction lost 2. Case dropped 3 points, and issues off about one point included U. S. Steel, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Eastman, Consolidated Gas and Santa Fe. General Motors was off fractionally.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—The proposed treasury conversion plan caused another advance in silk-edged securities on the eve of the announcement. Firmer rubber prices attracted speculative interest in these shares. German bonds were good, while profit-taking shaded irregular closing sections and caused an ANTIMONY—5.50@5.62.

Paris—Following other markets, prices on the Bourse sustained their rapid advances of the past few days. The market closed steady.

Berlin—Prices on the Boerse turned downward after yesterday's rally, although Hindenburg's approval of the Von Papen plan was regarded as a good omen toward stability for some time to come. The closing was slightly easier.

WHEAT VALUES SINK UNDER PROFIT SALES

Corn and Oats Also Drop, Despite Buying Aid for Former.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Grains weakened today in sympathy with reactionary tendencies displayed by cotton and stocks, wheat suffered the most, running into profit taking which made price recoveries difficult, although buying support on setbacks was fairly good. Strength at Liverpool and Winnipeg, influenced by unfavorable Canadian weather, was generally disregarded here.

Corn was in good demand, with trade of the broadest volume reported for months. Commission houses were on both sides of the market with liberal orders. Oats were relieved of hedging pressure and in demand. Provisions eased with grains, hogs and cotton.

Wheat closed weak at almost the day's bottom figures, 1 to 1¾ cents below yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ¾ down; oats, ⅛ to ½ off, and provisions, 5 to 10 cents lower.

Liverpool and Winnipeg were stronger because of rains in western Canada, too late to help the crop and threatened possible damage to unthreshed grain.

FAMED PROS UNABLE TO QUALIFY

play-off at one hole, which saw ten thunder down the fairway after two places and two of the longest shots in the parade, Abe Espinosa, of Chicago, and Al Collins, of Kansas City, winning with birdie threes.

Johnny Farrell, another former national open king; Mike Turnesa, Willie Klein, Mortie Dutra and the two Mackneys, Dave and Clarence, also were numbered in the victims their scores booming from the play-off figure of 153 and upward.

Dutra's irons carried him to victory along with the devastating wind today. On his morning tour he was so accurate with his approaches that he putted for birdies on almost every green of the 6,686-yard layout, winding up with a par-clipping 71 that placed him only 2 shots behind the fast flying trick shot artist, Joe Kirkwood, who bounced in with rounds of 34—35 for a 69.

Dutra's Second Round 69 Puts Him Over.

As Kirkwood, Ralph Stonehouse, of Indianapolis, and John Golden, of Noroton, Conn., who crashed in with a pair of 70s on the morning round, fell before the elements in the afternoon, Dutra stormed over the course with a 33—36—69 that sent him over on his afternoon trip.

He played the wind perfectly, bagged four birdies and went one shot over par on only the sixteenth, where he was off line and derricked his approach over the green and into a trap. The husky Pacific Coast star, whose big war clubs already have won the Metropolitan and North Shore opens as well as coming close to triumphs in the National and Western opens, might easily have collected a 65 instead of 69. Four of his putts rimmed the cup or stuck stubbornly to the lip of the cup.

Because of the players involved the play-off stampede was the biggest attraction of a stormy day. Collins was the first to make the grade, canning an uphill putt of 22 feet for a birdie 3. Cooper, Burke and Armour sent their first putts up close enough for easy par 4s only to have Espinosa roll one in from 8 feet to beat them.

The struggle for the title enters the match play stage tomorrow with an elimination program of one 36-hole match daily through th final Sunday.

Schaaf Favorite Over Baer Tonight

Chicago, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, of Boston, and Max Baer, of Livermore, Calif., a pair of top-ranking heavyweights, will meet in a ten-round bout at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The Boys have met before—about two years ago in New York—with Schaaf hauling down the decision, and tomorrow night's tussle will give Baer a chance to even things up. He says he will do it, probably by a knock-out, but the wagering, what little there was, was on Schaaf at around 6 to 5.

They are well matched for size, Baer being a half-inch taller and each scaling in the neighborhood of 209 pounds. Both are body punchers.

Baltimore Police Nine At Alexandria Today

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 30.—Local baseball fans will be treated to a snappy game Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Baltimore Police Team, undefeated in 18 starts, invades this city for a game with the Alexandria Coppers.

Sergt. George Everly, coach of the locals, is busy making plans for this tussel which will be played at Baggett's stadium. A large crowd is expected.

"Doc" Dreifus, star southpaw, is the mound selection for the local coppers.

SANDLOT DUST

SANDLOT football players, in whose ranks a quantity of football injuries fall each season, are urged to attend the final two classes of the Playground Department's free football school, being conducted at Tech High Stadium today at 5 o'clock and Friday at the same time.

In charge of the school are Orrel Mitchell, coach of Gonzaga High and a former stellar quarter back; Mush Dubofsky, captain of last year's Georgetown University Team and recently signed to play with the New York Giants professional grid team, and Jim "Tubba" Farrell, former Holy Cross center and captain.

The Apex Insects defeated West Washington yesterday, 4 to 2, with Bill McCormick and Bob Johnson in the role of stars.

D. C. Government Pin League Is Organized

The District Government Bowling League was formed last night with fourteen teams in the running, four more than last year. Added to the 1931 line-up were Health Department, No. 2, Surveyer's Office, City Refuse and Public Utilities Commission. Officers of the league are Carlysle Peterson, Frank Xanten and Charles Bernhardt. Play starts September 12 at Arcadia.

D. C. Coach May Land St. John's Grid Berth

Belief that a local man will succeed Pauly Byrne as coach at St. John's this coming year gained momentum yesterday as the names of several well-known figures on the outskirts of the local coaching profession were mentioned among the eligibles.

Another shift in the athletic program at St. John's yesterday saw the appointment of Brother James, last year's faculty athletic adviser, to La Salle College, in Philadelphia. Both athletic posts are expected to be filled this week.

Dubofsky Off Soon To Join New York Pros

"Mush" Dubofsky, captain of last year's Georgetown University football team, and prominently mentioned among the best linemen of the East for 1931, will go to Magnetic Springs, Ohio, late this week to report for service with the New York Giants, crack professional football team.

Dubofsky, whose work with the playground department this year has reduced his bulk from 230 to 215, is in good shape. Another ace of the 1931 Hilltop team, Leroy Bordeau, battering back field man, will join the staff of the Youngstown pros this season, reporting September 12.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

It was Cher Ami, famous homing pigeon of the World War, that saved the Lost Battalion by carrying a message through enemy lines when all other lines of communication were hopelessly broken. The Americans, surrounded by the enemy in the Argonne Forest, maintained their defense for four days and five nights, but without communication with Allied forces annihilation seemed inevitable.

Runners sent out by the Americans were shot down, telephone lines had been cut and the only hope of getting a message through was by pigeon. Cher Ami carried the word through, and though one leg was shot away, the hero bird reached headquarters with the message that resulted in the rescue of the Lost Battalion.

Although it is easy to tell the difference by touch between coolness and warmth, extreme heat and cold produce similar sensations on the skin. The touch of solidified mercury (-40 degrees C) can not be distinguished from that of an extremely hot iron.

DAVID W. SULLIVAN RECAPTURED HERE

David W. Sullivan, 45, of New York, former Washington resident, who has eluded police and Federal authorities since October 29, 1930, when he allegedly jumped bond after being indicted in New York for conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud, was arrested here yesterday afternoon and turned over to postal authorities.

A hearing will be held at 10 a. m. today before Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, when a decision will be made as to whether Sullivan is to be sent to New York to answer the charges.

Sullivan and Walter Easterday and Nicky Arnstein were sentenced to two years in Leavenworth Penitentiary in 1924, following conviction of using the mails to defraud.

Upon their release from the penitentiary, Sullivan and Easterday went to New York. In 1930, they were indicted for use of the mails in a scheme to defraud and for conspiracy in the operation of a brokerage office under the name of Sloane, Logan & Co., which was located at 1775 Broadway, in New York.

Sullivan was arrested yesterday by Detective Sergts. J. E. Kenny and Frank Alligood at Twelfth street and New York avenue northwest, after they had followed him and another man for several blocks in their respective machines.

William T. Lawrence, 47, who gave his address as 434 K street northwest, was arrested with Sullivan and held for investigation.

Three Men and Woman Held in Safe Robberies

Three men and a girl were arrested by Fourth Precinct police yesterday and held for investigation in connection with a score of safe crackings reported in the Southeast section during the past two months.

Those being held are William Estes Bedell, 35, of 1507 M street northwest; Lillian M. Taylor, 22, same address; William F. Cush, 33, of 338 Adams street northeast, and Richard E. Hampton, 45, of 1527 Rhode Island avenue northwest.

Indeterminate Term Given for Joy Riding

The first indeterminate sentence ever imposed here under the new law was given yesterday in the District Supreme Court when Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue ordered Frank C. Bowler to serve from 1 to 3 years for joy riding.

Bowler was on probation for a similar charge last year and on that his probation was revoked and he was given a straight three-year sentence. The sentences will run concurrently.

Steel Columns Placed For New Postal Edifice

Steel columns which will form the skeleton of the new Postoffice Department Building on Pennsylvania avenue, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets northwest, were swung into place yesterday. Soon the staccato clatter of riveting will be heard as the framework of the seven-story structure is bolted into place.

At the same time steel for the adjoining Interstate Commerce Commission Building arrived on the site and it was thought that the work of erecting would be begun soon.

NEW PAROLE BOARD MEMBERS CHOSEN

The District's first parole board was named yesterday by the District Commissioners after considerable study and conferences under authority of the act of July 15 last. The board consists of Isaac Gans, appointed for seven years; Dr. Loren B. T. Johnson, for five years, and Dr. Emmett J. Scott, for three years.

The act provides that District Supreme Court justices in sentencing convicted felons, must specify maximum and minimum terms, the latter not to exceed one-fifth of the former. The parole board, or board of indeterminte sentence and parole as it is technically called, will have authority to parole any prisoner at the conclusion of his minimum term if his conduct warrants.

Under the former system any applications for parole from District penal institutions went before the Federal parole board, which had all Federal penal institutions under its jurisdiction, and sentences for conviction of felony were usually definite as to the length of term.

All appointments hereafter will be for seven years each. The present appointees are men distinguished in civic life. The members serve without financial compensation.

Mr. Gans, formerly head of Saks & Co., is a native of Baltimore, but has lived in Washington for more than 50 years. He has been interested particularly in the Boy Scout movement and has been active in trade and civic organizations.

Dr. Johnson is a psychiatrist, specializing in children's ills, and is a graduate of Georgetown School of Medicine. During the war he served at Walter Reed Hospital.

Dr. Scott is secretary-treasurer of Howard University and for many years was secretary to Booker T. Washington. During the war he was special assistant to the Secretary of War to offer advice on matters affecting colored soldiers. At one time he was secretary of Tuskegee Institute.

Contracts Awarded On 2 High Schools

Old Business and New Roosevelt Buildings Work Involved.

Contracts for remodeling old Business High School, to be used by colored students, and for construction of approach work at the new Roosevelt High School were awarded yesterday by the District Commissioners. George E. Wyne, of Washington, was authorized to repair the Business High School on a low estimate of $78,500, and the Arthur L. Smith Co., of Washington, was given the Roosevelt work on a bid of $38,151. The Business project was provided for in the current appropriations bill.

Seven sewer contracts were also awarded as follows: William A. Pat, replacement sewers at New Jersey avenue and F street, $2,171.43; J. B. McCrary Co., replacement sewer between L and I streets, $4,872.41; James Parreco & Son, combined sewer system at First and East Capitol streets, $1,908.77, and stormwater sewer at South Dokota avenue and Quincy street northeast, $8,806.96; Roy D. Schlegel, stormwater sewers at Michigan avenue and Fourteenth street northeast, $9,149.33, and at Constitution avenue and North Mall drive, $4,331.74; John Hastie, replacement sewer at New Jersey avenue and Q street, $3,140.

Three Held for Jury In Rum-Truck Seizure

Three Baltimoreans yesterday were ordered held for grand jury action in connection with a police search of a truck camouflaged to appear to be a highway department repair truck and alleged finding of 360 half-gallon jars of liquor.

The three were Anthony J. Tambrino, driver of the truck, and Raphael Marcontoni and Giuseppi Ranish, who according to police, were driving an alleged "convoy car." Tambrino was held for $1,500 bond on a charge of transportation and the two others were held for $1,000 bond on the same charge.

Two Escaped Prisoners Sought.

A local police lookout was sent yesterday for two prisoners who escaped from the Maryland Penal Farm in Hagerstown, Md. They were described as young, medium height and weight, and one with a tattoo of a heart on his left forearm.

Intruder Held Though Alibi Is Interesting

This was the answer given Mrs. E. E. Yaggie late yesterday when she surprised a young man in the living room of her apartment at 815 Eighteenth street northwest.

His quick response, however, failed to save Julius Levine, 27 years old, of 2804 Fourteenth street northwest, from being arrested by Third Precinct police and held for investigation.

Mrs. Yaggie was alone in the kitchen of her apartment, she declared, when a slight noise in an adjoining room attracted her attention. Investigating, Mrs. Yagge said she found Levine searching a pocketbook lying on a table. She charged he had taken 50 cents from more than $17 in her purse. Levine said later his act was prompted by the desire to aid his starving wife and children, according to police.

FINAL SYLVAN FETE TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

More Than 100 Children Will Present Folk Dances and Pantomimes.

The last of a series of ten summer festival programs, spnosored by the Community Center Department, the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks and the National Capital Civic Fund, will be presented tonight at the Sylvan Theater on the Monument Grounds. More than 100 children of the District playgrounds will take part.

Under direction of Miss Sibyl Baker, playground director, the children will present a number of folk dances and pantomimes. The United States Army Band, conducted by Capt. William J. Stannard, will assist.

Drills and sketches developed during the summer at various playgrounds throughout the city will be given. Miss Maude Parker, in charge of girls' activities, will aid in the production.

Appropriate costumes for the occasion will be worn by the children. A special program of music, directed by the children themselves, is a feature of the entertainment.

All costumes and decorations will be products of the District playground staff, and in many cases designed by individual children representing various communities.

It was announced that in case of rain the program will be held the following night.

Fatal Crash Cause Was Heart Attack

Autopsy Discloses Reason S. Evans' Hodge's Auto Ran Into Pole.

S. Evans Hodge, 49, a civil engineer, who lived at the Westchester Apartments, 4000 Cathedral avenue, was the victim of a heart attack just before the automobile he was operating crashed into a telephone pole Monday night, killing him and injuring his wife and two house guests, it was disclosed at an autopsy yesterday.

Unable to determine the cause of the collision, as the car was not traveling at an excessive rate of speed, the coroner's office and police ordered the investigation. Mrs. Hodge, who suffered minor injuries in the accident, which occurred in the 3800 block of Cathedral avenue, was under a doctor's care yesterday due to shock.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moir, of Burlington, Iowa, suffered minor injuries. Those injured were taken to Georgetown Hospital.

Boy, 13, Struck by Auto Alighting From Another

Alighting from an automobile near Pennsylvania and Minnesota avenues southeast, Joseph Young, 13 years old, of 402 O street northeast, was struck by another yesterday afternoon and taken to Casualty Hospital with a possible fracture of the skull.

Police said the machine which struck the boy was operated by T. Emmitt Thomas, of Bethesda, Md. Thomas, driving the machine of Mrs. Lillian White, also of Bethesda, took Joseph to the hospital. His condition is said to be serious.

WHARF LABORER'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by the coroner's jury in an investigation of the fatal injury to Harry Ward, 48, of 714 Thirteenth street southeast, who was almost instantly killed Monday afternoon when a huge boiler slipped from its moorings and crushed him against a work bench while he was working at the wharf at Eleventh and O streets southeast.

Ward was an employe of the Washington Gas Light Co. and was in charge of a group of laborers who were moving the boiler. Fellow employes testified that the accident was unavoidable.

An inquest will be held at 11:30 a. m., today in the death of Clayton Ethridge, 58, of 1600 A street southeast, who was fatally injured Monday morning when he was dislodged from a platform where he was working at the navy yard, by a ratchet when a cogwheel on a machine slipped.

His head struck a cast-iron plate and he suffered a fractured skull. He was taken to Providence Hospital, where he died.

Mansfield Promotion Approval Is Due Soon

The long awaited promotion of Lieut. Richard Mansfield, of the Detective Bureau, will be approved by President Hoover in the next few days, it is expected. The promotion of six other policemen and of Lieut. Mansfield was recommended to the President by the District Personnel Board at the request of Inspector E. W. Brown, acting police chief, several days ago.

Lieut. Mansfield will be promoted to captain to succeed Michael Raedy, former commander of the Ninth Precinct, who was retired July 1. The names of the other policemen slated for advancement were not revealed. Four will be made sergeants and two lieutenants.

BUFFET AND ALLEGED GAMING HOUSE SHUT

Raiding squads descended on two downtown establishments yesterday and confiscated a quantity of alleged beer and arrested three men at one establishment and found a gaming house with its operators, apparently tipped off, at the second address.

A police squad led by Lieut. George M. Little, was accompanied by District chemists in the foray against Hammel's Buffet, at 416 Tenth street northwest. Samples of the 70 gallons of alleged beer, which police said was found on the premises were tested for their alcoholic content, while police dismantled the furnishings of the restaurant.

Crowds gathered on the streets around the premises to watch the raiders empty the store of its beverages. Diners who were seated or standing around when the squad entered were allowed to finish their repasts.

A squad led by Detective Sergt. Howard Ogle raided an alleged gaming house on the second floor of 1344 New York avenue northwest, where they found signs of a hasty exit by its tenants. Gaming tables, blackboards and other equipment used to receive and post the returns from race tracks were found and confiscated.

Barren of occupants, the only arrest police made was that of a well-known gambler who was seen among the crowd which had gathered in front of the place. He was booked for investigation and released after questioning. Capt. William Holmes, of the First Precinct, obtained the warrant for the raid.

Six Men Are Arraigned In Killing of Policeman

Six of the men accused in the slaying of Park Policeman Milo J. Kennedy were arraigned in District Supreme Court yesterday on charges of first degree murder. Each entered a plea of not guilty. Three others also named in a murder indictment are fugitives and Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue issued bench warrants for their arrest. All are colored.

Those arraigned were Joseph J. Jackson, Irvin Murray, Ralph E. Holmes, Louie R Murray, Harry M. Duvall and Leroy Robinson. The fugitives are Stanley F. Cark, William Wood and Alphonso Henson. Kennedy was fatally beaten in Logan Circle when he was attacked by a group of colored men after he had arrested two of their number. The indictment in the case is the longest ever returned in a capital offense here.

MAKING READY FOR ANNUAL FETE

TELEPHONE HEARING IS VIRTUALLY ENDED

Adjourned to Next Wednesday, With Only Arguments Remaining.

The prolonged telephone rate hearing was virtually concluded late yesterday. All evidence, with possibly one exception, has been presented and cross-examination concluded. With only the arguments remaining, the hearing was adjourned until Wednesday of next week at 9:30 a. m.

Just prior to adjournment counsel for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. and William A. Roberts, commission counsel, became embroiled in an argument as to the admissability of certain evidence offered by William F. Sloan, Chicago expert, relative to the "going concern" value of the telephone company.

After considerable debate and over objections of George P. Hoover, telephone company counsel, the commission ruled out the methods of computation used by the utility expert in estimating the "going concern" value of $4,000,000, but admitted the figure and the qualifications of the witness.

Despite repeated request from the telephone company counsel, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, declined to amplify his ruling or to justify it. Mr. Roberts advised him that courts are not required to give reasons for their decisions. The telephone company was given permission, however, to present additional evidence on this phase of its reproduction cost providing it does not duplicate previous testimony.

Earlier, Mr. Roberts offered as the commission's final exhibit a statistical table showing an estimate of $2,278,000 as the telephone company's net profits for the year ending June 30 next, as against $1,891,325 for the period ended June 30 last.

The former figure is only $183,000 in excess of the estimate of the telephone company. Its significance, however, and its relation to any possible rate reduction obviously depends upon what the commission will accept as a fair value of the company's properties.

While the arguments have not been heard, it is believed that the commission intends to order some sort of rate reduction, though almost certainly not more than 8 or 10 per cent. The telephone company officials, while refusing to forecast their action after such a decision, have certainly not given any indication that they will accept any appreciable rate cut without resorting to an appeal to the District Supreme Court.

Each side will be given an hour and a half for argument. People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech will consume part of the time allotted to the commission.

Craigie Is Willing To Forgo Salary

Volunteers Are to Resume Teaching of Military Science Without Pay.

Lieut. Col. Wallace M. Craigie, U. S. A., retired, who was relieved of duties as professor of military science and tactics in the District public schools under the War Department appropriations act, has volunteered to resume his task without remuneration.

This was revealed yesterday by Dr. Stephen E. Kramer, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of cadet affairs, who said Col. Craigie was willing to remain in the schools, drawing the salary which he already gets as a retired officer. This plan will be put before the Board of Education next month.

Formerly Col. Craigie received the pay of a lieutenant colonel on active duty. Retired service men now are not permitted to be paid active duty pay because supplemental funds were not appropriated. Col. Craigie's willingness to continue was actuated by his intense interest in the high school cadet corps.

Zoo Receives Rare Reptile Specimens

So grotesque as to appear the creations of some weird and fanciful world were specimens of two varieties of animals—the existence of which was hitherto unknown—which were brought to the National Zoological Park yesterday by Prof. R. E. Dunn, of Haverford College, Pa., on his return from an expedition to Panama.

There are 20 specimens of tiny frogs which can be compared in description only to beetles. They appear like great large orange and black spotted insects, which crawl instead of hop. Slightly less weird are three spike-tailed iguanas. They look like minature dinosaurs.

Dr. Dunn also brought back two rare snakes. One is the green "frog eating snake" and the other is the Panama blow snake which when angry or frightened is able to swell up its throat presenting a frightful appearance.

1932 Relief Total Up 100 Per Cent

Money spent for relief in Washington by both public and private agencies during June was 100 per cent more than in the same month of 1931 but was 11 per cent less than in May, according to reports received by the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department.

District expenditures for outright and wage relief in June totaled $64,703 and in May $72,595. Last year in June $32,339 was spent.

The reports show that relief expenditures in 126 cities in the United States were 91 per cent greater during June of this year than June of last year, and only 1 per cent below the total for May of this year.

Reports from 991 agencies in the 126 cities of 50,000 or larger population placed total relief expenditures for June at $22,960,285, as compared with $12,030,581 in June of last year.

Police Confess Mistake On 'Stolen State Papers'

An apparent misunderstanding by police as to the importance of papers which were stolen from the automobile of Dr. Herbert Feis, economic adviser of the State Department, yesterday, led them to broadcast nationally the loss of valuable State Department documents.

The furore caused by the police broadcast made necessary a statement by State Department officials that the stolen papers were of no documentary moment. Police Department officials apologized for the error.
